GREATNESS IS IN EXPANSION

Roosevelt Defends the Government's Policy in the Pacific.

SEES 'FRISCO SIGHTS

The President Is Tendered a Hearty Reception in the Golden Gate City.

RECIPIENT OF SOUVENIR

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

San Francisco, May 13.—At the Mechanics' Pavilion President Roosevelt tonight made the most important speech he has delivered since he left St. Louis. His subject, "Expansion and Trade Development and Protection of the Country's Newly Acquired Possessions in the Pacific," together with the advocacy of a greater navy, was one that made his discourse of particular interest to the Californians, and he aroused his auditors to a high pitch of enthusiasm. It was a mighty gathering that listened to the president. The doors of the pavilion were thrown open to the public at an early hour, and thousands of citizens thronged the building long before the time scheduled for the arrival of the presidential party.

M. H. DeYoung, president of the citizens reception committee, opened the meeting, and Mayor Schmitz formally introduced the president to the people of San Francisco. It was some minutes before the cheering subsided and the president was able to make himself heard. He said:

"Before I saw the Pacific slope I was an expansionist, and after having seen it, I fail to understand how any man confident of his country's greatness and glad that his country should challenge with proud confidence our mighty future, can be anything but an expansionist. In the century that is opening, the commerce and the progress of the Pacific will be factors of incalculable moment in the history of the world.

FIRST-CLASS POWER NEEDED.

"Now, in our day, the greatest of all the oceans, of all the seas, and the last to be used on a large scale by civilized men, bids fair to become in its turn the first in point of importance. Our mighty republic has stretched across the Pacific and now in California, Oregon and Washington, in Alaska and Hawaii and the Philippines, holds an extent of coast line which makes it of necessity a power of the first class on the Pacific. The extension in the area of our domain has been immense, the extension in the area of our influence even greater.

"America's geographical position on the Pacific is such as to insure our peaceful domination of its waters in the future, if only we grasp with sufficient resolution the advantages of this position. We are taking long strides in this direction; witness the cables we are laying and the great steamship lines we are starting, steamship lines some of whose vessels are larger than any freight carrier the world has yet seen.

"We have taken the first steps toward digging an isthmian canal, to be under our own control, a canal which will make our Atlantic and Pacific coast lines, to all intent and purpose, continuous and will add immensely, alike to our commercial and our military and naval strength. The inevitable march of events gave us the control of the Philippines at a time so opportune that it may without irreverence be held providential.

"Unless we show ourselves weak, unless we show ourselves degenerate sons of the sires from whose loins we sprang, we must go on with the work that we have

COACH STRUCK BY STREET CAR

Mrs. James Wood of Pittsburgh Is Thrown Violently to Ground.

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

She Is Later Removed to Mrs. T. R. Hostetter's New York Residence.

REPORTED RESTING EASY

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau, Herald Building, Herald Square, NEW YORK, May 13.

Struck by an Amsterdam avenue street car this afternoon, the four-in-hand coach of Broker James A. Marshall was almost completely overturned and the coachman and one of the passengers, Mrs. James Wood of Pittsburgh, were thrown violently to the ground, being badly injured, while the other occupants of the coach, Mrs. T. R. Hostetter, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall and R. Lawrence, real estate dealer of New York, were shaken up and slightly bruised.

Mrs. Wood's condition was such that she and the coachman were immediately taken to the J. Hood Wright hospital. The injured woman was later removed to the residence of Mrs. Theodore R. Hostetter, No. 5 East Seventy-third street, this city, where tonight she is resting quietly. Mrs. Hostetter's home is at No. 1020 Western avenue, Allegheny, and she also has a summer residence called the Raccoon Farm, Vanport, Beaver county, Pa.

Although no bones were broken, it is believed that Mrs. Wood sustained internal injuries. She is under the care of several physicians and all callers are denied.

Mrs. Hostetter was jostled about in the seat and was bruised by coming in contact with the arm rests. The injuries of the others, with the exception of the coachman, John Witherton, are of little consequence.

The coaching party was on its way to Van Cortlandt park, having left the residence of Mr. Marshall, No. 80 West End avenue, early in the afternoon. A short time after swinging into Amsterdam avenue, near One Hundred and Eighty-first street, the horses were let out a little. Mr. Marshall was on the box with Mrs. Wood beside him. Just as the coach passed One Hundred and Eighty-first street an approaching car struck the side of the vehicle. The lumbering coach swerved diagonally across the tracks with a terrific jerk, which tossed Mrs. Wood and the coachman, who was on the rear seat, to the curb. Mr. Marshall, fortunately managed to hold the reins and soon checked the leaders and brought the two wheelers to their haunches.

Mr. Smith rapidly alighted and ran to the assistance of Mrs. Wood. A number of passengers of the car, however, had already reached her. It was believed for a while that she was dead, but the application of water revived the prostrate woman. The coachman, although injured very much, never lost consciousness and was able to walk from the hospital tonight.

The Wright hospital is near by and Mrs. Wood was taken there. She would have remained at the hospital but it was her desire to return to the home of Mrs. Hostetter, where she is a guest.

The accident was caused on account of the inability of the motorman of the car to check it in time. Mr. Marshall said tonight:

"No, we did not run into the car. It ran into us. That is quite another thing. The coach was not hurt very much and the horses escaped almost entirely. They

BLOODY AX FOUND NEAR THEIR HOME

Revives Interest in Borden Tragedy for Which Girl Was Accused.

POLICE TAKE IT UP

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

Fall River, Mass., May 13.—A blood-stained ax of old make, wrapped in cloth and found near the residence of the late Andrew G. Borden and his wife, for whose murder Lizzie Borden, a daughter, was found not guilty, has revived memory of the tragedy of August 4, 1892. A poor woman named Millen, living near the Borden's residence, decided to level an ash heap that had been accumulating for years in her back yard. When the pile had been razed there was found an ax, with unmistakable stains of blood upon both the blade and handle.

The woman took the ax in the house, cleaned it a little and told a neighbor about it. Next day a prominent citizen bought the ax from her. He paid her $1 for it, despite the fact that when new it was worth but half that sum.

Then the police came and closely questioned her. Her story was carefully taken down, and now the police are at work quietly. District Attorney Swift, a former partner of Lawyer Jennings, counsel for Lizzie Borden at the famous trial, said tonight that he would not discuss the matter beyond the statement that Lizzie Borden would never be tried for the murder of her stepmother, but Attorney General Parker had not been consulted, and he never lies down. Lizzie Borden, it will be recalled, was only tried for the murder of her father.

PASSES NEW YORK BY ON WEDDING JOURNEY

Reginald Vanderbilt Sails from Boston to Escape Clutches of Jerome.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

BOSTON, May 13.—Mr. and Mrs. Reginald C. Vanderbilt registered this evening at the Hotel Somerset. They left Newport this forenoon in Mr. Vanderbilt's racing car. They will sail on the Dominion Liner New England at noon tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Vanderbilt's quarters on the New England will cost them $1,000 for the trip. They have been assigned to the quarters of the first, second, third, fourth and fifth officers on the saloon deck forward, which have been thoroughly renovated and redecorated for the trip.

It is not often that a member of the Vanderbilt family comes to Boston to go to Europe on an eight-day boat, but Reginald Vanderbilt is said to be keeping out of the way of District Attorney Jerome's subpoena service.

For some time now it has been said that Jerome has wanted Vanderbilt to tell what he knows about Canfield's gambling house in New York. Mr. Vanderbilt has kept out of the way of Jerome and his subpoena service, and will continue to do so until Canfield's case is settled in the New York courts.

HEARING POSTPONED.

Action Regarding Seventh Street Bridge Will Await Decision on Sixth Street.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 13.—(Special.)—At the request of parties interested, Secretary Root of the war department has instructed Capt. Sibert of Pittsburgh to postpone the hearing on the question of raising the Seventh street bridge until the case of the Sixth street bridge has been decided. It is believed by many that the war department will decide against the raising of the Sixth street structure, and in that event hearings on those bridges that cross the Allegheny above it would be unnecessary.

SIEGE IS DECLARED AND TROOPS CONTROL VALPARAISO MOBS

Twelve Dead and Thirty Wounded Are in Hospitals of City.

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]
(Copyright, 1903, by New York Herald Co.)

Valparaiso, May 13.—A state of siege has been declared. No groups of persons are allowed to gather in the streets, and as a result the rioting today was only sporadic and quickly quelled.

The number of shops looted is not so large as at first reported. There were at the hospital this morning 12 dead and 30 wounded. The total number of dead is placed at 20.

Numerous reinforcements arrived yesterday from Santiago and Limache. Detachments of infantry and cavalry are now patrolling the streets, and it is believed the mob will not make any further riotous demonstrations. The shops are still shut and bread, milk and meat have been very scarce today.

El Heraldo is the only paper issued today. It severely criticises the authorities, whom it holds responsible for the outrages. All foreigners here are safe.

The property damage is great. Several buildings were burned and the Esplanade was destroyed.

The Brazilian cruiser Barroso, with the members of the Brazilian commission on board, has arrived at Talcahuano, en route to Valparaiso. Owing to the critical condition of affairs existing at Valparaiso, it is thought the festival that was to be given to the commissioners will be much abridged.

SAYS OHIO WILL NOT ENDORSE ROOSEVELT FOR 1904 CAMPAIGN

Pike County Man Declares Buckeye Republicans Prefer Hanna or Fairbanks.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

Washington, D. C., May 13.—State Senator Patterson of Pike county, Ohio, a close friend and lieutenant of Senator Hanna, is in Washington.

"The Ohio Republican state convention will not indorse President Roosevelt as a candidate," he said emphatically. "A resolution will naturally be adopted indorsing the Republican national administration, which now happens to be Mr. Roosevelt's, but nothing will be said about his candidacy for 1904. I don't believe any resolutions indorsing him will be presented or adopted, if presented.

"Out in Ohio, Senator Hanna or even Senator Fairbanks looks more like the probable presidential candidate for next year than does President Roosevelt. The Ohio Republicans certainly do not intend to be stamped for any boom that may eventually be a dead one."

Elmer Dover, Senator Hanna's private secretary, arrived in Washington today. He does not believe the coming Republican state convention will indorse the candidacy of President Roosevelt.

"Such action would be against all precedent," he said. "In the first place, this whole matter will be something for the state convention of next year to settle. The state convention of this year cannot bind the next with resolutions of this kind. It would be as irregular as if the convention of this summer were to try and name the four delegates-at-large for the national convention, to be selected by its successor next year."

ANOTHER CONSUMPTION CURE IS ANNOUNCED.

BERLIN, May 13.—The announcement made today by the Berlin Medical society of a new remedy for consumption, called "Sanosin," has attracted much attention. Dr. Danelius of Somerfield, read a paper on the cure before the society. He showed that a number of patients, mostly workingmen, had been cured of consumption. The remedy was discovered by Dr. Robert Schneider.

TICKETS SOLD ON BIG SCALE BY A CLERK

Railroad Secret Service Men Unfold Clever Scalping Scheme.

EMPLOYE INVOLVED

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau, Harrisburg, Pa., May 13.

Charged with ticket scalping, selling railroad passes and receiving stolen goods, Harry Katz, a well-known clerk for a large Harrisburg clothing firm, was arrested today by Pennsylvania railroad secret service men, who claim to have uncovered a clever scheme for securing and selling partially used railroad tickets.

Warrants have also been issued for the arrest of Abel Cohen, a Harrisburg pawnbroker, from whom Katz claims to have secured the tickets. A Northern Central railroad conductor and others are said to have been implicated in the scheme, and it is expected they will also be arrested.

D. Miles Rigor of Philadelphia, chief of the Pennsylvania railroad secret service bureau, and A. C. Sedgwick, an attache of the bureau, have been working on the case for months. This illegal sale of tickets is alleged to have been carried on upon a very large scale.

Through passengers from Washington to Harrisburg, it is alleged, would present their tickets to the conductor between Washington and Baltimore and the conductor would punch them. On the second collection of tickets, however, the conductor, it is alleged, merely punched a piece of cardboard which he held in his hand in lieu of the ticket, and on the third collection of tickets he is declared to have pocketed them. This left the tickets good between Baltimore and Harrisburg.

The conductor, whose identity secret service men have not yet thoroughly established, is supposed to have sold his tickets in this city. Carrying out this theory the secret service men purchased several partially used railroad tickets from Katz.

Although it is not known definitely how great is the value of the tickets which Katz is charged with selling the charges include not only the sale of a large quantity of Northern Central tickets, but also tickets on other branches of the Pennsylvania railroad and the Philadelphia & Reading railway, as well as free passes on a number of roads.

Cohen was arrested tonight and furnished $1,000 bail for trial. Katz was unable to secure bail and was sent to jail.

MILES WANTS TO KNOW.

Asks Secretary Root What Portions of His Report Were Made Public.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—Secretary Root today received a letter from Lieut. Gen. Miles asking what portion of his reports were given to the press, by whom made public and to whom furnished. The secretary called in the officers who furnished the reports and gave directions to them to prepare a statement showing what had been done.

The reply to Gen. Miles will be sent tomorrow, and will show that the adjutant general's office furnished copies of that portion of Gen. Miles' report bearing on the military conditions in the islands, together with replies of the heads of bureaus to whom the report had been referred for remarks concerning the matters under their direction.

The reply also will show that the judge advocate general furnished a complete copy of the report on cruelties and atrocities, together with a copy of the letter of the judge advocate general to the secretary of war, which told what the department had done concerning the subjects treated of in Gen. Miles' report.

It has been charged that all of Gen. Miles' report was not furnished to the press by the war department.

ONE MAN DEAD, TWO WILL DIE

Expressmen Drank Bottle of Poisoned Whiskey Sent to Woman.

JEALOUSY IS MOTIVE

Former Friend Now Living With Memphis Saloonkeeper Is Accused.

THIS IS SECOND ATTEMPT

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

Cincinnati, May 13.—One man is dead and two are dying, while two more are in a serious condition from drinking poisoned whisky found in an express package this afternoon.

J. B. Fricker is dead. He was an employe of the Adams Express Company, and while engaged in transferring packages at the depot, assisted by William Daley, Louis Burbank, William Stevens and George Heberle, one of the parcels became unwrapped and it contained a bottle of what was supposed to contain whisky. It fell and was cracked and the men each took a drink. Half an hour later all were in hospitals suffering agonies from arsenic poisoning. Ficker died soon after being taken to the ward, while it is believed by the doctors that Burbank and Daley will soon follow. The other two men are in no immediate danger, but for a time were unconscious.

The bottle was addressed to Mrs. Kate Knobbe, a woman who works in the Honing hotel, and the doctors say the contents were heavily charged with arsenic. Mrs. Nobbe's husband left her three years ago. She said tonight that she believed the package had been sent to her by a woman who lives with a saloonkeeper in Memphis. Mrs. Nobbe said that several days ago she received a package which she believes was sent by the same woman, containing a bottle of poison and an obscene message.

She alleges that the woman is jealous of her and that there has been coolness between them recently, although some time ago they were good friends and corresponded regularly. Mrs. Nobbe says the saloonkeeper at Memphis is a relative of her missing husband and that a short time ago he came here and visited her for a short time.

This, Mrs. Nobbe alleges, is the reason for the enmity of the woman, and she believes that two efforts have now been made to take her life.

ANONYMOUS LETTER GIVES RIGHT LEAD IN MURDER MYSTERY

Young Man at Medford, Mas., Suspected of Killing Miss Sturtevant.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

Medford, Mass., May 13.—The police have at last begun work on the Sturtevant case, along lines suggested at the beginning by the writer of an anonymous letter.

This letter plainly stated that the murderer was a Medford man, that Miss Sturtevant, instead of being a man-hater, as supposed, was really about to become engaged to one young man, and was well acquainted with two others. Her boon companion was a married woman inclined to flirtations.

It is known by Chief Holmes that Miss Sturtevant and this woman friend were to entertain two gentlemen at the Sturtevant home on Friday of the week when the murder occurred, it being an evening when Miss Sturtevant's parents would be absent. Letters in Chief Holmes' possession prove this, and the other woman has admitted the truth of the story.

It is also known that Miss Sturtevant had but recently dismissed an admirer in a most abrupt manner, and that he took it much to heart. This young man has not been seen for three days since Lombardi's innocence was established, and Chief Holmes is apprehensive.

Tonight he admitted that the Sturtevant family seemed to be withholding some evidence of a vital nature.

"They have been no aid. In fact, they have hindered us, but I believe we are on the right track at last," he said.

GOVERNOR TOO BUSY.

Pennypacker Had No Time to Consult With State Board of Charities.

HARRISBURG, May 13.—(Special.)—Evidently Gov. Pennypacker is not considering the state board of charities in acting on the numerous appropriation bills for private and public charities in his hands. He was too busy today going over these bills when the members of the board called at the executive department in a body to consult him on certain legislation.

It has been customary in the past for the board to confer with the executive as to the disposition of the bills of the various institutions under its direct supervision. A brief session of the board was held here today for the consideration of routine business.

WAR DEPARTMENT JEALOUS OF POWER

WASHINGTON, May 13.—Friction between the war and navy department may result from the activity of the general board, of which Admiral Dewey is president, in preparing plans for the defense of Manila, the new naval stations at Subic, Honda and Guantanamo and other naval property. According to the law, the secretary of war "is charged with all matters relating to the national defense and seacoast fortifications."

CARBOLIC ACID ENDS HER LIFE

Kept It by Her for Weeks With Expectation of Using It.

TRAGEDY IN HOTEL

John B. Walker, Formerly of Pittsburgh, Arrested but Is Soon Released.

SEEKS WIFE TO AID HIM

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau, Herald Building, Herald Square, NEW YORK, May 13.

For love of John B. Walker, who until a few years ago was an advertising agent in Pittsburgh, Mrs. Claude Guernsey of Philadelphia committed suicide early this morning at the Hotel Navarre by taking carbolic acid. Walker was arrested, and the first person to whom he appealed was his wife, whom over a year ago he deserted that he might live with Mrs. Guernsey. He was later released, as there was no proof that he was directly connected with the tragedy.

For some time suspicion was attached to Walker because there were bruises on the arm of Mrs. Guernsey. It was learned, however, that the bruises were caused by servants employed in the boarding house of Mrs. Walker, whose husband the woman had frequently visited and where there were many stormy scenes. The last visit, which took place last night just before the suicide, resulted in the forcible ejectment of Mrs. Guernsey.

Registered as John B. Walker and wife, New York, the two took apartments in the Hotel Navarre. They apparently had plenty of money, but after his arrest Walker had to go to his wife to get $50 to pay the preliminary expenses resulting from his trouble. Mrs. Walker, who is ill, freely forgave her husband. She wept when she heard that her rival was dead, and she told the police that she will take back her husband, making an effort to forget the past.

Early this morning Walker sent to the office of the Navarre for assistance, saying his wife was ill. A private detective answered the call. Dr. Gibbs and Dr. Broom were quickly summoned, and on their advice Mrs. Guernsey was sent to Roosevelt hospital, where she died two hours later.

"My home is in Pittsburgh," said Walker. "I was in business there as an advertising agent until a few years ago, when I came to New York. Since then I have traveled much. I met Mrs. Guernsey about 15 months ago in Philadelphia. I found it impossible to leave the woman, and, in fact, I did not want to at first, though I did not want to quarrel with my wife. Mrs. Guernsey was jealous, and when I suggested that I would return to my wife she would threaten to kill herself. In Pittsburgh I told her I had made up my mind to return to my wife. She then bought the acid.

"I desired to become reconciled with my wife, and she told me that when I had rid myself of Mrs. Guernsey she would forgive what I had done. Last Saturday I had a long talk with Mrs. Guernsey, telling her we had to part. She seemed to be reconciled. I left her and went home. But a few minutes after I met my wife Mrs. Guernsey arrived and there was trouble. I attempted to pacify the two women, but that was impossible. Three servants were called and they ejected Mrs. Guernsey, using more force than was necessary. That enraged me and I followed her and went with her to the hotel.

"I remained there until last night. Then I again told her that it was necessary for us to part. I went to the office, and when I returned to the room I found that she had taken the acid.

"Her maiden name was Claudia Densmore. She once lived with her sister Grace and her uncle in an apartment at Fifty-seventh street and Seventh avenue."

While in Pittsburgh last winter Mrs. Guernsey purchased the acid from the Crystal pharmacy, Market and Liberty streets, and in Philadelphia she later bought a revolver. Her intention, it is believed, was to kill both Walker and herself.

WOMEN WERE SLASHED AND BABES KILLED

Denver Man Hears of Terrible Slaughter of Jews in Russia.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

DENVER, May 13.—From a letter written by his father in a hospital at Kishinev, Russia, W. King of this city, learns that his mother, sister and brother may have been victims of the recent massacre in which hundreds of women and little children were slaughtered by the Russians. Mr. King's father was badly injured.

"I can learn nothing of your mother or sister or brother," he writes. "I fear they are among the victims. The street ran with blood. Children were dragged from their mother's arms and buried against the side of buildings. Women were caught and sliced to bits by the frenzied Christians. The cry was 'down with the Jews.' I saw a mother killed and her babe thrown against a railroad train. Women were held by men while they were mutilated. The number killed will be more than 600. Thousands of homes were burned and all the property destroyed. Dead people lay in the streets in heaps."

LAFAYETTE, IND., May 13.—Hon. Hayden, former treasurer of West Lafayette, who was recently found to be short in his accounts about $10,000, has disappeared. The police are searching for him.

AN HONEST EFFORT IS MADE TO LEARN HIS WHEREABOUTS

Genial and Able Senator's Efficient Butler Says Statesman Quay Is Not at Present at His Handsome Home.

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau, Room 10, Postal Building, WASHINGTON, D. C., May 13.

The Hon. M. S. Quay, the genial and able statesman who represents the western part of Pennsylvania in the United States senate, is believed by the writer to have gone to Philadelphia today. This statement cannot be substantiated sufficiently to make it legal, according to the new statute of Pennsylvania, but a sincere effort was made to ascertain the truth regarding it.

It is further believed by the writer that Senator Quay went to Philadelphia to confer with Senator Penrose, who so ably represents the eastern part of Pennsylvania in the United States senate, and induce him to accept the chairmanship of the Republican state committee. This statement cannot be substantiated, any more than the first one, but they are both pretty good guesses. However, guesses are no longer legal in Pennsylvania, and so the correspondent desires to show that he made a reasonable effort to get the facts before writing this dispatch.

When the writer called at Senator Quay's handsome residence in K street he was informed by the capable and efficient butler that the senator was not in; that he had intended to go out of the city this morning, and as he had not been at home since morning, he (the butler) presumed that he (the senator) had gone out of the city as intended. Where the senator intended going the butler was not at liberty to divulge, or did not know.

To secure confirmation of the butler's story, and in order that nobody might suffer mental anguish from a misstatement, the writer called up the senator's committee room at the capitol by telephone, but could get no response. After further diligent inquiry, however, it was found that Senator Quay's very competent stenographer had told a friend at the capitol, a person who is known to be quite reliable and worthy of belief, that the senator had not been at his committee room today.

All of which fits in with the statement of the butler that Senator Quay was probably out of the city.

As to the statement that Philadelphia was probably his destination, this conclusion was arrived at from the fact that that is about the only place he goes besides Florida and Beaver. And from statements that Senator Quay has previously made, and which were properly commented on before the Grady-Salus bill was signed by the capable and highly respected governor of Pennsylvania, it is believed to be his intention to attempt to induce Senator Penrose to take the state chairmanship. It is also quite likely that he will be successful in his efforts.

This is the best I can do today, but if the very efficient Philadelphia correspondent does not get him, I will try tomorrow to ascertain definitely whether Quay was in Philadelphia—and do it legally.

MERRILL CAUGHT AFTER 11 YEARS

Former Boston Millionaire, Long Since Thought Dead, Arrested in New York.

USES AN ASSUMED NAME

The Good Memory of Detective Causes Him to Pick Up Man Leaving Gotham Theater—Accused of Swindling Woman.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Herald Building, Herald Square. NEW YORK, May 13.

Moody Merrill, 11 years ago one of the most prominent men in Boston, where he was a candidate for mayor in 1890, and for two years since that time a fugitive, was arrested in this city today. He is a prisoner in the Tombs, charged with having swindled Mrs. Sarah Cohen of Boston out of $19,000.

To all of Merrill's former friends his arrest will come as a great surprise. Those who had not entirely forgotten his existence believed he was dead. Although it was largely through his efforts that the Boston street railways were reorganized and consolidated in 1896, and from the transaction he was raised a millionaire, he failed subsequently, and since he disappeared, in 1892, his memory has gradually faded, until few had more than a vague recollection of him.

Living under assumed names, he had visited various parts of the country, and recently has been making his home in New York. Were it not for a detective's faculty for remembering faces Merrill might be free still. It was several weeks ago that Detective Sergeant Woolridge of Inspector McClusky's staff was in Boston on another police case, when a woman was pointed out to him by a Boston detective.

"See that woman?" said the Boston detective to Woolridge. "You can make a lot of money if you can find her husband. That is Mrs. Moody Merrill, whose husband has been wanted here for 11 years. Some persons say he is dead, but I don't believe it. He got away with a lot of money, and we have never been able to get a trace of him."

Detective Woolridge thought no more of the matter until last Thursday evening, when he saw the same woman leave the Harlem opera house, where Joseph Jefferson was playing, with an elderly man answering in a general way to the description given him by the Boston detective of the missing Merrill. This led to the arrest.

GREATNESS IS IN EXPANSION

begun. I earnestly hope that this work will always be peaceful in character. We infinitely desire peace, and the surest way to obtain it is to show that we are not afraid of war.

JUSTICE TO WEAK NATIONS.

"We should deal in a spirit of fairness and justice with all weaker nations; we should show to the strongest that we are able to maintain our rights. Such showing cannot be made by bluster, for bluster merely invites contempt. Let us speak courteously, deal fairly and keep ourselves armed and ready. If we do these things we can count on the peace that comes only to the just man armed, to the just man who neither fears nor inflicts wrong.

"We must keep on building and maintaining a thoroughly efficient navy with plenty of the best and most formidable ships, with an ample supply of officers and with these officers and men trained in the most thorough way to the best possible performance of their duty. Only thus can we assure our position in the world at large and in particular our position on the Pacific.

"It behooves all men of lofty soul who are proud to belong to a mighty nation to see to it that we fit ourselves to take and keep a great position in the world, for our proper place is with the expanding nations and the nations that dare to be great, that accept with confidence a place of leadership in the world. All our people should take this position, but especially you of California, for much of our expansion must go through the Golden Gate, and the states of the Pacific slope must inevitably be those which would be most benefited by and take the lead in the growth of American influence along the coasts and islands of that mighty ocean, where east and west finally become one.

"My countrymen, I believe in you with all my heart, and I am proud that it has been granted me to be a citizen in a nation of such glorious opportunities and with the wisdom, the hardihood and the courage to rise to the levels of its opportunities."

RECEPTION TO PRESIDENT.

President Roosevelt arose early today and at 9 o'clock left the Palace hotel, escorted by a squadron of cavalry. The streets were lined with people who cheered as the president's carriage passed on the way to Native Sons hall, where a reception in the president's honor was held. Mayor Schmitz and Secretary Loeb were seated with the chief executive and Rear Admiral Bickford and staff came directly behind, members of the executive committee following in carriages. At the Native Sons building was assembled a vast throng, which, as the president came in sight, manifested great enthusiasm.

The hall was crowded with members of the California Society of Pioneers, the Native Sons of the Golden West, the Native Daughters and the veterans of the Mexican war. Ex-Mayor James D. Phelan delivered a brief address of welcome and introduced Henry B. Russ, president of the Society of California Pioneers, who spoke briefly, as also did Gen. Stewart, president of the Society of Veterans of the Mexican War; H. R. McNobie, president of the Native Sons of the Golden West, and Miss Eliza R. Keith, in behalf of the Native Daughters.

Mr. Phelan then presented to the president a souvenir of the occasion, the work of a native sculptor, representing a bear hunt, reproduced in gold. In accepting the gift President Roosevelt responded in a happy manner to all of the addresses of welcome which had been made. His remarks were punctuated by laughter and applause, and at the close he was escorted to his carriage by a joint committee of the assembled orders. The presidential party then proceeded to Van Ness avenue, where thousands of school children had assembled. The pupils of the many schools carried banners, beautifully worked in silk and other fine fabrics. Others were headed by drummer boys.

Every child had a flag which was waved as the president passed. An incident of the ride was the presentation to the president of a photograph by a little Chinese girl, who was lifted up so that he could shake her hands.

REVIEW OF TROOPS.

After the review of the children the president drove through the Presidio and had a glance at the buildings, the barracks of the different troops and the new fortifications, which stand at the entrance to the harbor and command the bay. He continued the drive along the new road and finally reached the golf links, on which the military review was held. Gen. MacArthur was in command. The men marched past with the tread of veterans —infantry, artillery and cavalry. Each arm of the service made a most imposing spectacle.

The president complimented Gen. MacArthur and other high officers on the excellent showing of the men and the splendid appearance of the garrison.

The presidential party was then escorted through Golden Gate park to the Cliff House, where luncheon was had with members of the executive committee, Gov. Pardee, Admiral Bickford and other invited guests. The return was through the park. The party halted at the Baker street entrance, where a large crowd was in waiting to watch the president turn his shovelful of earth for the McKinley monument.

The ceremonies were opened by Chairman A. A. Watkins, who presented to Mr. Roosevelt a souvenir shovel, made from the material of which the monument will be built. President Roosevelt said that it was appropriate that the first shovel should be turned in the presence of the old comrades of President McKinley in the time of 1861-65. He continued:

"It is not too much to say that no man since Lincoln was as widely, universally loved in this country as was President McKinley, for it was given to him not only to rise to the most exalted station, but to typify in his character and conduct those virtues which every American citizen worthy of the name liked to regard this typical American; to typify the virtues of clean and upright living in all relations, private and public, as in the most intimate family relations, in the relations of business, in the relations with his neighbors and finally in his conduct of the great affairs of state.

Many representatives of the Spanish war veterans, the Grand Army of the Republic and the pioneers were in attendance, and they were referred to in eulogistic terms by the president in his remarks.

From the park the president was taken directly to the Palace hotel, where he rested until evening.

A COACH STRUCK BY STREET CAR

were badly scared, and may not be fit to drive for some time."

Mr. Marshall is of the firm of McIntyre & Marshall, brokers, of 74 Broadway.

Motorman Lawrence Rooney, in charge of the car, seems to be to blame for the accident. According to bystanders Rooney was sending his car, an open one, along at a lively rate. By the rules of the company it is said he should have stopped at the northwest corner of One Hundred and Eighty-first street, where there is a whitewash mark, which clearly indicates the motorman's duty.

The leaders of the coach had nearly reached the tracks when it became apparent that Rooney could not bring his car to a stop in time to avoid a collision. It was also too late for Mr. Marshall to turn the leaders or to pull the wheelers up short. There was nothing to do but go on. Rooney realized this and after turning off the power and jamming his brake down hard he raised his hand wildly over his head and shouted: "Go ahead. Go ahead." Mr. Marshall applied the lash to the horses and urged them on and across the track until the coach came in contact with the car.

Mrs. Childs received a telephone message yesterday saying that while Mrs. Wood had been in the accident she was not hurt at all.

FOUND A BURGLAR.

For Once a Woman's Suspicions Were Correct, But the Thief Escaped.

A daring attempt was made about 9 o'clock last evening to burglarize the home of Alexander M. Voigt, superintendent of the Seventh street bridge, who resides in the Park View apartments, Callowhill and St. Clair streets, East End.

Mr. Voigt retired early, leaving his wife in another room reading. Shortly after 9 o'clock she heard a noise, and aroused her husband. He started to investigate and in passing through the dining room turned on the electric light and then proceeded toward the kitchen. Just as he reached the door a man emerged from the kitchen, which was in darkness, shouting, as he put up his fists, "I'll fix you."

Mr. Voigt, thinking some of the neighbors were playing a joke on him, squared off and said, "Come on."

In the meantime, Mr. Voigt, seeing the man was a stranger, followed him into the kitchen and asked him how he got in and what he wanted. The man pointed toward the door and said a burglar had broken into the building and he was looking for him. Mr. Voigt tried the door and found it locked. He remarked to the man that he had not come that way, and at the same time unlocked the door. The thief darted out and was not apprehended.

An entrance had been effected through a transom over the kitchen door, but the thief did not have an opportunity to secure any plunder.

FEAR THAT TURKS WILL MASSACRE CHRISTIANS

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

VIENNA, May 13.—The Austro-Hungarian squadron has been ordered to leave Salonica. The turret ship Wien, however, will remain there. The request of Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria for an audience with Emperor Francis Joseph has apparently been refused. Prince Ferdinand has passed through Vienna and Budapest, returning to Sofia, where he arrived today. While here he had no communication with the Austrian foreign officers.

Recent happenings in Macedonia have by no means strengthened the prince's position, and it is a question in official circles here whether the real authority at Sofia is not now lodged in the Macedonian committees.

The chief danger in the Balkans is now thought to lie in the turbulence of the Turkish population, whose fury against the Christians threatens to start a conflagration. The attitude of the Turkish government is viewed with much distrust by diplomats here. It is feared that Turkey will permit the massacre of Christians, thereby enabling the Moslems to expend their wrath.

SOFIA, May 13.—An anonymous appeal to Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria is being circulated clandestinely. It charges the prince with leading Bulgaria to the loss of its autonomy by becoming the tool of the Austro-Russian alliance, and warns him to embrace the national cause and drive the traitors from power before gries around the crown are heard.

OFFICIALS ARE KEPT BUSY.

Grievances Among Coal Miners Are Continually Arising.

The officials of the United Mine Workers are kept busy settling disputes between the men and the coal operators. President Patrick Dolan spent yesterday at Shaner on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad straightening out some difficulty. He will go to Fayette City tonight to adjust a difference between the Marine miners and the operators.

Uriah Bellingham, vice president, went yesterday morning to Castle Shannon to settle a dispute at the No. 2 mine of the Pittsburgh Terminal Railway & Coal Company. He will leave this morning for Greensburg on a similar mission and tomorrow will visit the miners at Irwin.

LABORERS ARE STILL OUT.

Contractors Refuse Their Demand and Will Secure Other Men.

The laborers' strike indicates that trouble may be expected at any time. The George A. Fuller company is determined to have the Nixon theater work done in some manner, and if the members of the Building Trades laborers refuse to do it at the price formerly paid by the company, non-union men will be brought to their places.

The strikers claimed that only four "unfair" men got inside the fences around the theater ground yesterday and they succeeded in getting two of them away. The carpenters are undecided as to whether to come out on a sympathy strike. They belong to the brotherhood, and as long as only union carpenters are employed it is at their option whether they work or not.

Road May Be Extended.

INDIANA, PA., May 13.—It is announced here on good authority that during the summer the Pennsylvania railroad will extend its line from Cherrytree, this county, by way of Flemming Summit, to Two Lick creek, to tap a coal field of 10,000 acres which its agents in Eastern Indiana county have purchased.

BARTENDER TELLS ANOTHER STORY

Declares Father Walser Said Murderer Threatened Him and Victim's Sister.

NOW UNDER HEAVY BOND

Miss Reichlin's Body to Be Exhumed Today Because of Disagreement of Physicians' Question of Finger Marks.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

LORAIN, O., May 13.—The most important move made by the authorities in the Reichlin case since the release of Rev. Ferdinand Walser was made at noon today, when Noah Spradling, the bartender who sold the gallon of whisky to Casimer Reichlin directly after the murder, was arrested and placed under bond to appear before the grand jury.

Spradling is the man who sold a gallon of whisky to Casimir Reichlin on the morning of the tragedy. In the "sweating" today he said that Rev. Walser, the day following the tragedy, said the burglar had threatened both him and Casimir with the stone before leaving the house by the window in the attic.

Walser said, to quote Spradling: "When we started to follow the man he raised the big stone above his head and told us that if we attempted to follow him he would use it on us."

On the witness stand Casimir Reichlin denied having seen the burglar. His statement conflicts on this vital point with the alleged remark of Walser to Spradling.

Casimir Reichlin, brother of the dead woman, was also in the "sweat box," but he stuck to his original story.

Father Charles Reichlin yesterday afternoon acted in pantomime the manner in which a burglar could have entered the little window in the kitchen attic and reach his sister's room without disturbing the sleeper or warning the watch dog.

As a result of the disagreement between physicians as to the condition of the body of Agatha Reichlin when it was examined after the murder the body will be exhumed tomorrow morning. Two men who should know what they are talking about are ready to swear that there were finger marks around the woman's throat, indicating that she had been choked. They are Dr. G. E. French, coroner of the county, and S. L. Koch, captain of the police department.

PRETTY ITALIAN WOMAN ELOPED WITH BORDER

Collected Between $800 and $900 Owed Her Husband and Took That Also.

Superintendent Thomas McQuaide of the detective bureau was asked last night to apprehend Mrs. Marie Graziella Veniatto and Paquale Celentino, both of Turtle Creek. It is charged that the woman collected between $800 and $900 owed her husband, Guiseppi Veniatto, and eloped with the Italian, who boarded with them. The woman claimed she had been authorized by her husband to collect the money.

The husband is an influential Italian who keeps a boarding house at Turtle Creek. He is treasurer of a number of societies and had occasion to send his wife to make collections for him, so that when she called on Monday to collect it was not thought unusual.

Mrs. Veniatto did not return home on Monday night, but her collection of the money was not known until yesterday. When she disappeared, Celentino, who was a boarder at the house, disappeared also. Veniatto, believing they had eloped, went before a justice of the peace at Turtle Creek and entered suit against Celentino and was advised to hunt for them in the Italian colony here.

Superintendent McQuaide sent out the descriptions of the eloping couple to Philadelphia and New York, as it is thought they have started for Italy. The woman is a blonde and looks like an American. She is 21 years old and has been in this country for 15 years. She has three children. Celentino is 38 years old and has a wife and two children in Italy. He had lived here two years and lived at Veniatto's for eight months.

OIL IN WATER WELL.

Carnegie Residents Think They Have Indications of a New Field.

Residents of Carnegie are excited over the discovery of oil in the water well on the lot of Thomas Brown on Main street, West Carnegie. A few days ago oil was noticed in water pumped from the well, but nothing was thought of the matter until on Monday evening Brown began to pump the water out of the well, hoping to get rid of the oil, as it spoiled the water. As the well gradually filled with water oil flowed rapidly to the surface.

The water has been pumped out almost a dozen times, but the oil still flows, and is gradually increasing, until now it is said that over a barrel a day flows into the well. The oil has been tested and found to be of a superior quality, and it is thought the field will be developed.

REFUSED A HANDSHAKE; WOMAN MAY NOT LIVE

John Miller Shoots Mrs. Minnie Guenther and She May Die.

Mrs. Minnie Guenther, 40 years old, was shot twice last night at 10:30 o'clock by John Miller, 55 years old, of Millvale, in her home in Baltimore street, Rankin. Miller formerly worked for the Westinghouse Machine Company and boarded with Mrs. Guenther. He returned last night after being away a year and sat in the house talking to Mrs. Guenther and a neighbor, Mrs. Masters.

Soon after Mrs. Masters left Miller got up to leave and extended his hand to Mrs. Guenther, but she refused to shake hands. He drew a revolver and fired point blank, inflicting a severe scalp wound. Mrs. Guenther turned and fled. Just as she reached the door another bullet struck her in the back. She staggered to the house of Mrs. Masters and Drs. R. V. Weida and W. H. Gordon were called. Her chances for recovery are slim, as the doctors were unable to reach the bullet in her back and it will probably prove fatal.

Miller escaped and was seen running in the direction of Pittsburgh. The police are looking for him, but up to a late hour he had not been caught. Mrs. Guenther can give no reason for the attack and the neighbors say that they know of no ill feeling between Miller and Mrs. Guenther.

RESTORED TO SIGHT.

After Being Blind for Three Years, McKeesport Can Now See.

After having been totally blind for almost three years Alexander Reed of McKeesport has had his sight restored, and was able to go upon the street alone yesterday for the first time. Reed is about 50 years old and the father of five children. His blindness was due to an accident by which a pipestem was driven through his right eye. The sight of the other eye was also affected, so that he became totally blind.

A short time ago an operation was performed which restored the sight of the left eye and Mr. Reed was able to guide himself about the house. Yesterday he ventured on the street alone and is expecting to resume work within a short time.

No Curfew in Turtle Creek Valley.

The children of Turtle Creek had great sport last evening asking the policemen why the whistle did not blow. The Curfew ordinance was to go into effect last night, but no whistle or bell has yet been purchased for the purpose. The children would like to hear the whistle for the novelty of the thing. The curfew ordinance seems to be a farce and many of the older people look upon the failure to carry out the ordinance as a huge joke.

Kentuckians Say Cleveland's Game Is to Help Ohio Man's Little Boom.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

PUT-IN-BAY, O., May 13.—The Kentuckians who are stopping at Middle Bass Island, and among whom are some prominent politicians, sprung this story yesterday as to Grover Cleveland's intention regarding the presidential nomination:

Cleveland will make no statement about his position until shortly before the convention. Meanwhile, in anticipation of his candidacy for the nomination, a sentiment for him will be nursed by the Democrats who are opposed to Bryan. Cleveland will then declare himself positively out of the race, and will indorse Judson Harmon of Cincinnati for the nomination.

"I can't say anything about the story at this time. Before a presidential year the friends of every man of any prominence trot him out," was Judge Harmon's statement today.

CURRY RETURNS HOME.

Elmer E. Curry of Shady avenue, who mysteriously disappeared on Monday last is expected to reach Pittsburgh this morning at about 2 o'clock. He left Philadelphia yesterday afternoon at 4:30 p. m. His wife received two telegrams from him yesterday, the first in the morning reading, "Wire me ticket, Broad street station, Pennsylvania railroad, to come home." The second was received late in the afternoon and read, "Am leaving on 4:30. Had better be met."

Mrs. Curry has been almost prostrate over the absence of her husband. She says he has never been strong and complained for a month past of severe pains in his head, and before leaving his home on Monday morning he said he was feeling very bad and she advised him not to go to the city. He said he would probably need some money and went to a drawer and took a $20 bill, which was all the money he had on his person.

The Difference Between An A. B. Chase Piano And the Other Kind

Never buy a piano until you are satisfied that it is a high grade, first-class instrument. Remember that advice whether you purchase your piano from us or somebody else. You will thank us for it when you learn more about pianos.

The A. B. Chase piano does not cost much more than the much advertised "bargain" pianos and in buying the A. B. Chase piano you may rest assured that you are getting the best piano in the market. It is a piano that cannot be improved upon in its sweetness and purity of tone, its power and lasting excellence, for it is as near perfect in those respects as the intelligence of man can make it.

There are other pianos of excellent make that we could recommend, but they do not combine all the virtues as does the A. B. Chase piano. Some are to be commended for one quality, some for another. But we praise the A. B. Chase piano because it combines the best qualities of ALL the high grade pianos that are made. We know that when you purchase an A. B. Chase piano from us you will come back some day and tell us how much you love your piano. That is a great satisfaction to us. It is still a greater satisfaction to you. Come in and hear the A. B. Chase piano player.

Children's pure silk Gloves, colors and white, 50c a pair.

Redfern "A."

A corset that is an ideal model for the slender or medium form. It gives the figure in outline more roundness and grace than the form naturally expresses. It is richly trimmed and is soft and beautiful to wear, and is boned with genuine whalebone and made of English batiste.

All in all Redfern "A" is just one of those delightful inexpensive corsets that women prize highly, $3 a pair.

Those Baseball Score Books.

Any of the boys or any of the men who are interested in baseball can secure one of these Score Books by either calling at the Athletic Department, sixth floor, or Clothing Store, fourth floor.

No book ever like it has so far been copyrighted. Just a little vest pocket affair, and each page begins with the first day of the week and closes with Saturday—the different days having the games scheduled for that day throughout the National league.

The book is yours for the asking.

PENN AND FIFTH.

CITIZENS WILL TRY TO GET IN

Expect to Enter Republican Primaries in the Country Districts.

ORGANIZATION WILL WIN

Temporary Chairmen for the Eight Conventions Selected. Mayor W. B. Hays Did Not Return from the Horse Sale.

Plans for the Republican primaries of Saturday and the legislative district convention Tuesday are complete. There will be some fighting for county committeemen in the Sixth, Seventh and Eighth districts, but the regulars will have no difficulty in winning. There is no contest for state delegates.

The temporary chairmen of Tuesday's conventions have been decided upon. The following gives the time, place and chairman of each convention: First district, 7:30 o'clock p. m., common council chamber, Allegheny, R. M. Kopp; Second district, 7:30 p. m., select council chamber, Allegheny, J. H. Henderson; Third district, 7:30 p. m., Republican headquarters, Arch Mackrell; Fourth district, 7:15 p. m., Republican headquarters, E. G. Schwartzwaelder; Fifth district, 8 p. m., common council chamber, Pittsburgh, W. J. Diehl; Sixth district, 11 a. m., common council chamber, Pittsburgh, Pier Dannals; Seventh district, 11 a. m., common council chamber, Allegheny, W. B. Kirker; Eighth district, 3 p. m., Carnegie auditorium, Braddock, R. E. Stone.

City Chairman M. G. Leslie is authority for the statement that the Citizens are endeavoring to elect Republican committeemen in parts of the Sixth, Seventh and Eighth districts. He says that the strongest effort to break into the organization is in the Eighth district. So far there has been no indication that the followers of Bigelow intend to make a fight in the city.

Mayor W. B. Hays did not return from Cleveland yesterday, where he had gone to buy a horse on the day that the technological school site ordinance was in danger. The executive is being severely criticised by many of the men who voted for him and the attempt of his administration to delay the school project has done much to injure the Citizens party. All over the city strong workers for the Citizens are returning to the Republican ranks.

There was to have been an indignation meeting of Citizens in the Second district of the Thirty-fifth ward last night, but the gathering was postponed because Alderman Walsh, the district chairman, had to go to Philadelphia yesterday. The purpose of the meeting was to protest against the way the district is being treated in the distribution of city patronage. So far one fireman has been reinstated and a sub-patrolman has been reappointed.

COMMITTEE TURNED DOWN CONTROLLER

Refused to Adopt Larkin's Suggestion to Deprive City Contractors of Interest on Work.

The ordinance repealing an ordinance approved May 20, 1892, relating to contracts on public work between contractors and the city, whereby the former were allowed interest from the time of completion of the work until it was accepted by the city, was negatively recommended by a special committee of [illegible] common council yesterday.

The repealing ordinance was an idea of Controller Larkin, who believed the taxpayers ought not to pay the interest, as they do, as it comes out of the city treasury and amounts to about $30,000 yearly. He believes the holder of property abutting on the street improved should pay the interest as well as the other cost. It has been stated, however, that unless contractors are allowed the interest they will add to their bids a sum sufficient to cover it and make the cost greater. In view of this fact the committee negatively recommended the bill.

OUSTED A CRIPPLE.

Legless Man Who Is Not a Politician Lost His Position in Allegheny.

Director Thomas B. Scandrett of the public safety department, Allegheny, yesterday discharged Harry Pinkerton, night operator of the police at Central station. His place was given to Thomas Brady of the Sixth ward, who worked hard for Wyman in the last campaign. Pinkerton, who had both legs taken off in a railroad accident several years ago, had been operator of the police bureau for nine years, and never engaged in politics.

Andrew W. Robinson, the city treasurer, yesterday appointed William P. Brown chief clerk in his office. The shake-up in the treasurer's office comes next Monday, when Mr. Robinson takes the office.

DRAWN INTO THE ROLLS AND BOTH LEGS CRUSHED

Alfred Crawford, a roll hand in the 32-inch plant mill of the Homestead steel works, was oiling the rolls yesterday, when he slipped and was being drawn into the rolls feet first. The operator discovered his position and stopped the engine. Crawford had both legs crushed and broken and amputation may be necessary.

Braddock School Board Changes.

Attorney Edward J. Small was elected president of the Braddock borough school board last evening, to succeed Thomas Addenbrook, superintendent of the construction department of the Edgar Thomson steel works, who has only recently removed from Braddock to Wilkinsburg. John S. Lowry, also a director from the First ward for many years, tendered his resignation, and it was accepted. He removed to the Second ward. Braddock. Ex-Burgess William Sherwin and Robert Ruby were chosen to fill the vacancies in the board.

Treasurer Eludes Police.

TOLEDO, O., May 13.—Ex-Deputy County Treasurer James K. Wates, whose arrest on an embezzlement charge yesterday was assured by the officers, has got only failed to give himself up, as had been expected, but has eluded the whole police and detective force of Toledo. It is believed that the shortages in Mr. Wates' accounts will run up into the thousands.

WHAT A SAMPLE BOTTLE OF SWAMP-ROOT DID.

To Prove What the Great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy, Swamp-Root, Will do for YOU, Every Reader of The Gazette May Have a Sample Bottle Sent Free by Mail.

W. F. Lohnes, a prominent business man of Springfield, Ohio, writes the following strong indorsement of the great kidney remedy, Swamp-Root, to the Editor of the Springfield, Ohio, Republic:

Springfield, Ohio, Feb. 21st, 1903.

"Having heard that you could procure a sample bottle of Swamp-Root, free by mail, I wrote to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle and it was promptly sent. I was so pleased after trying the sample bottle that I sent to the drug store and procured a supply. I have used Swamp-Root regularly for some time, and consider it unsurpassed as a remedy for torpid liver, loss of appetite and general derangement of the digestive functions. I think my trouble was due to too close confinement in my business. I can recommend it highly for all liver and kidney complaints. I am not in the habit of indorsing any medicine, but in this case I cannot speak too much praise of what Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root has done for me."

(W. F. Lohnes.)
43½ West High Street. W. F. Lohnes

The mild and extraordinary effect of the world-famous kidney and bladder remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

EDITORIAL NOTE.—If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great discovery, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

You may have a sample bottle of this great remedy, Swamp-Root, sent absolutely free by mail, also a book telling all about Swamp-Root, and containing many of the thousands upon thousands of testimonial letters received from men and women who owe their good health, in fact their very lives, to the great curative properties of Swamp-Root. In writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure to say that you read this generous offer in The Pittsburgh Daily Gazette.

If you are already convinced that Swamp-Root is what you need you can purchase the regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles at the drug stores everywhere. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Thursday, May 14, 1903.

An indication of the trouble likely to arise from any attempt by the city to go outside its limits for a pesthouse site is afforded by the injunction asked by North Fayette township people against the borough of McDonald. Townships are not allowed to send their contagious diseases into the city, and they will object strenuously to having the city send its cases out in their precincts even for treatment. This phase of the matter is wholly apart from the objection raised by physicians that the long drive in an ambulance will be highly detrimental to patients, which is the most serious of all objections.

One word misplaced in the ordinance for the purchase of the technical school site will cause a delay for amendment, but it is not vital. The ordinance may be promptly fixed and passed and the purchase can be made immediately afterward and a clear title obtained. It is the best way. The Carnegie trustees are ready to begin work the moment they are assured the city has a clear title to the land, and when they begin they will work rapidly. Pittsburgh will soon be enjoying the benefits of Mr. Carnegie's generosity and there will never be cause to regret the expenditure of public energy in forcing the situation. Possession of the school will return large profits on the investment.

There are disturbing reports of opposition in Colombia to ratification of the canal treaty. The Colombian congress is to meet June 20 when the treaty will be laid before it. Under ordinary circumstances this would be a mere formality as the government is really a dictatorship, but it would seem that the big sum of money at stake has stirred up plotting and intrigue, and the treaty might possibly be held up by the mutual jealousies of Colombian politicians, scheming to get into the game. A report was current but has been denied that President Marroquin has been succeeded by General Reyes, whose attitude toward the canal treaty has not been cordial. But while revolutionary politics may delay ratification there is small risk that the arrangement will be upset altogether. It is too lucrative to be let go, however agonizing the problem of settling the disposition of the millions which the United States will hand over.

A striking instance of the way in which developments of transportation facilities affect the movements of population is the connection now existing between Italy and Argentina. The two countries are now curiously associated in harvest work. The Italian harvest begins in May and field hands are busily employed during the summer months. When field work stops in Italy there is still plenty of time to reach Argentina for work there, as its harvest season begins in November. Steerage tickets to Buenos Ayres cost only about $10 or $12, and about 15,000 Italian farm laborers go to Argentina every year, returning to Italy in the spring in time for the opening of harvest work there. The wheat fields of Italy and Argentina thus to a large extent constitute one labor area, although in different hemispheres and divided by the Atlantic ocean. Extensive Italian settlements have been made in Argentina, but Italian emigration to that country is quite different from that which pours into this country, being mainly skilled farmers seeking land for cultivation—a class which does not come to this country at all.

At a medical congress in Washington there has been an apparently suppressed disposition to pass some severe criticisms upon Dr. Lorenz's bloodless method of orthopedic surgery. One case was reported from Philadelphia of a patient of Dr. Lorenz who, in the opinion of the attending physician, died of shock. Another doctor reported a death from meningitis, following a Lorenz operation some months after the operation. It may be remembered in this connection that death from shock is an attendant upon surgery with the knife and that tetanus and other serious disorders are frequent sequelae of such a simple surgical operation as vaccination, which is made compulsory upon those in good health. One case of meningitis, the relationship not being established, and one death from shock out of several hundred cases constitute no bar to the continuance of a practice for the relief of serious deformities. Sir William Kingston takes the better view that Dr. Lorenz has conferred a benefit upon humanity. In the matter of straightening these congenital cripples it is better to have tried and failed than never to have tried at all.

Another notable victory has been achieved for the principle of conciliation and arbitration in labor disputes. It is related that the boys at the Heinz glass factory struck without leaving a very clear understanding as to what was their grievances. The manager of the works, instead of standing on his dignity and defying the strikers to do their worst, went among them with a view to ascertaining the precise grievance and making a compromise. Incidentally he proposed to take the crowd to see the ball game on Memorial Day. He was given three cheers, and the strike was off. A small incident, some one may say, and a humorous climax. True enough. But the principle is the same in every strike. Labor troubles grow mainly from the lack of the note of human sympathy. Men grow to regard an unknown, impersonal employer as something not human. Employers get so far away from their men that they know not their human side—they are things or chattels. One touch of human understanding is worth reams of argument, and when the glass factory manager said he'd like to see the ball game with the boys they knew he was human all right, with sentiments kindred to their own. That manager should never have any trouble in the future about getting into the confidence of the boys, and the chances are he will be first to hear their grievances.

Freedom in Russia.

It is pointed out that recent decrees in Russia provide severe penalties for the offenses of abandoning the orthodox faith and for preaching against the orthodox church. These are taken to be in contravention of the czar's sometime proclamation for freedom of conscience. This is not an exact view. These decrees certainly modify or limit the imperial proclamation, but do not contradict it wholly. They do not interdict worship according to the dictates of the conscience of any individual who has never belonged to the orthodox church.

Words and phrases take on different meanings in different places. Freedom of conscience in the United States is a very broad term, consistent with the utmost measure of individual liberty. Freedom of anything in Russia is necessarily of contracted significance. The Russian has no innate conception of freedom such as we have. To him it is a relative term, not an absolute one. The czar took a decided step in advance when he proclaimed freedom of conscience according to his understanding of the phrase, and we fear such a long step that his administrators are morally incapable of keeping pace with it.

The recent massacres in Bessarabia are evidence that the most brutally intolerant instinct survives among the peasantry and has not been weeded out of the soldiery. Nothing in the inquisition in Spain was more barbaric than the outrages at Kishineff and other towns in that quarter, where even the officials appear not to have heard of the czar's proclamation. It may be they had heard and it was that which roused their vengeance. Certainly they did not understand, and they did not fear that the power of the czar would be used to enforce his proclamation. To the Russian peasant freedom of conscience means treason to the church and state.

Nevertheless the seeds of progress are being sown. While the nations stand over Turkey with bayonets fixed, demanding fair treatment for Christian subjects, they must in decency look to their own affairs. Russia is rather too powerful to be held up as Turkey is, yet its treatment of the Jews is no more civilized or creditable than Turkish massacres of the Armenians. They are precisely on a par, and it is no more than right that Russia should be reminded of the fact. Until the czar's proclamation is enforced it comes with bad grace from Russia to admonish Turkey. It is not expected that the czar or his administration can bring about genuine freedom of conscience at one plunge. That would invite revolution. But they can, at least, show their good faith in the enforcement of the proclamation in its limited meaning, as defined by the decrees, and punish or prevent the deplorable massacres growing out of religious hatred.

Pike and the President.

Senator Patterson of Pike county says the Ohio Republican convention will not indorse President Roosevelt for 1904. To him it looks more as though Senator Fairbanks or Senator Hanna would be nominated for president next year than Roosevelt. Senator Patterson is all right, and so is Pike county all right. Everybody knows about Pike county. But Senator Patterson in Washington was just talking through his hat. Senator Hanna knows more about it than Senator Patterson, and Senator Hanna is not thinking the way Senator Patterson talks.

Everybody has seen the picture stories about Uncle Pike and his wife. Well, Pike is connected with Pike county, Pennsylvania, and Pike county, Ohio. Pike county is away back, in either case, but the city chaps who think the Pike county folks are not on to the ropes are in a fair way to be shockingly surprised. It is a way with city chaps to imagine that people from "away back" are not up to snuff, though every back township mountaineer and his "gal" rub a pound of the stuff in a month. What the city chap imagines dosn't always hurt him, but he is all wrong on Pike county. "Away back" folks in Pike county have plenty of time to think. They haven't much else to do except in haying time, and so they think out a good many things economical and political before the busy city man has begun to take notice of the subject. The only drawback to Pike county thinking is that it sometimes gets so far ahead of the game that the Pike countian gets "another think" on the same subject.

We have no doubt Pike county sentiment is strongly for Uncle Mark Hanna. It would accept Senator Fairbanks—by way of general association with the idea of scales—as a good second. But the remainder of the country has not caught up with the Pike county idea. It is very much for President Roosevelt, and there is very small hope, indeed, that the busy world will have time to catch up with Pike county before the year after next. That is a whole year after the nominating conventions, and Pike county will suffer from being too soon.

The Point That Is Missed.

In another column appears an extract from the opinion of E. N. Barnes, Moseley commissioner, representing the Amalgamated Society of Engineers. In the main he agrees with other members of that commission that the American workman's lot is not ideal and the American workman not such a great fellow after all. He admits we "have a very fine educational system in America which is freely placed at the disposal of parents who may wish to give their children a good start in life," and he thinks "the patent laws are much better than ours." Finally, he says "the pay is 50 per cent higher for all-round skilled engineering mechanics, but this is partly absorbed in higher prices."

In common with his fellows, Mr. Barnes has not a high estimate of the American workman, whom he accuses of "scamping of work" and an "absence of fellow feeling," though they "more readily adapt themselves to the latest machinery and best industrial appliances." This recalls the assertion of some other members of the commission that British workmen transplanted to American soil were found to be equally as efficient as American workmen, and forces the conclusion that the generally intelligent Moseley commission was disappointed because it came to America expecting to find something monstrous which it did not find. Being a strongly union body, tinctured with the leading vices of the British trades unions, the members went home and reported the American workman to be an ordinary clod, lacking "fellow feeling" and the American employer a patron saint with virtues to be copied by the British employer. British employers have, as we know, formed the opinion that the American workman is a fine fellow after viewing him at his work.

Looked at broadly, all of this leads to the conclusion that American industrial supremacy is the result of conditions. First of all is the social system. The American mechanic of today is the captain of industry of tomorrow. The son of the American laborer of a generation ago is the governor, or president, of the present, or future. There are no fixed lines of demarkation. There is stimulus for the workman's ambition and there is no social distinction that interferes with the making of a "young partner" and a friend of the capable workman—the thing that Mr. Carnegie says made for his success and that of the young men who grew up with him. The American principle is the principle voiced by Bobbie Burns: "A man's a man for a' that and a' that."

The American practice puts a premium upon brains and ability—upon "genius," as Mr. Carnegie puts it. The English system gives the preference of position to the "son of somebody," irrespective of ability. It is this fact that stimulates the "British" workman in the American shop to outdo his American fellow, though the Moseley commissioners should understand—as they apparently did not—that at that stage the former British workman has become an American. He has dropped the British trades union idea that it is a workman's duty to oppose the introduction of labor-saving machinery, or to do the least possible amount of work for the wage received through the "fellow feeling" that such a course makes employment for more men.

On the other hand, the British employer fails to grasp the fact that his assumption of superiority to his workmen and his disinclination to promote them to the employer class reacts to make them less willing to advance his interest. The British manufacturer sees a social chasm between himself and his workmen that he cannot bridge if he would. There is no such dividing line in America, and so whatever of better results have been achieved here are referable really to the system of government and the presumption that "all men are created equal."

Economy and Protection.

There is some indication of the trend of British industrial thought in a paper read before the British Iron Trades association by Mr. Axel Sahlin on the manufacture of pig iron in America, together with suggestions on what the British manufacturers may do to hold up their end. The paper was printed in the London Iron and Steel Trades Journal. Mr. Sahlin takes a hopeful view, mainly based upon his belief that the United States Steel Corporation will desire to sustain prices, though he says that when contraction comes Britain will "feel both American and German competition keenly in the British and colonial markets, as our territory is the only one open for exploitation without protection."

Mr. Sahlin's suggestions are divided under 10 heads. The first is that British iron and steel interests should by purchase or consolidation obtain control of their own raw material from the mineral in the ground to the finished product. Second, to take advantage in coal mining of automatic machinery for cutting, transporting and washing; by-product coke ovens at works where their heat and gases, together with those of blast furnaces, may be utilized in the production of mechanical energy. Third, improvement in methods of ore handling and transportation. Fourth, removal of unprofitable works to more favorable location. Fifth, combination of coking, blast furnace and manufacturing plants for utilizing calorie as mentioned under second head. Sixth, use of automatic machinery in mills. Seventh, specialization and standardization of products. Eighth, combination with neighbors in some line of business for economical selling and to prevent unreasonable competition. Ninth, training of managers and engineers, not only by antiquated apprentice system, but in elementary and technical schools. Tenth, "the iron industry, more than any other, will feel the need of some protection, especially during the period of gradual reconstruction which is ahead of us. There seems to be a growing public opinion, at least among the industrial classes, in favor of such protection. This should be fostered by all honorable means."

In this program there is much of economic and political policy. Mr. Sahlin is probably one of the most progressive of British manufacturers, but he is representative of the awakening spirit of all of them. He proposes, in brief, to fight America and Germany with their own weapons. He would adopt the economic processes of the Germans, utilizing waste caloric and by-products to the utmost and at the same time he would adopt the economic policy of the United States, establishing a protective tariff to shut the world out of his home market. As he says "there seems to be a growing public opinion, at least among the industrial classes, in favor of such protection" in Great Britain. Free trade is an exploded theory, and while English publicists dislike to admit it, the manufacturers and artisans are agitating for a new order of things.

There is one lesson in all this for the American manufacturer. He has attained to supremacy. He has the advantage of vast undeveloped resources. He may retain all he has acquired by giving attention to the economic processes so highly developed in German practices. The caloric his coke ovens and furnaces send into the air daily would heat a vast number of steam boilers to operate his machinery.

Richard Henry Stoddard, whose death is recorded at his home in New York, was not a great man and yet he was one of the most pleasant and versatile of the old school of writers. He has employed his pen in many diverse fields of activity, and in all of them left the pleasant stamp of grateful and refreshing memory and enjoyment rather than of great genius. He has passed away full of honors and at a ripe old age.

Colombia, no less than Venezuela, illustrates the evils of unstable government. The revolutionary habit, once acquired, is hard to break, especially as its object is to get hands in the public treasury. Possibly when absolute bankruptcy is reached and the power of taxation so impaired that the rewards of revolution shrink out of sight, there may be some reform.

IN THE EYE OF FAME.

Melville W. Miller of Lafayette, Ind., the new assistant secretary of the interior, is making a record for smashing technicalities.

M. Joseph Vallot, the French scientist, whose observatory is located on Mt. Blanc, has the highest home in the world, being 14,000 feet above the sea level.

Mrs. Lionel Ross Anthony has been appointed world's fair commissioner for Colorado by Gov. Peabody. She is the only woman who is a commissioner of the St. Louis fair.

Col. R. B. Creecy, editor of the Elizabeth, N. C., Economist, has just celebrated his eighty-ninth birthday. He is the oldest journalist in active service in the United States, having been in the harness upward of 60 years.

Dr. John S. McGrew, who has long been known in Honolulu as the "father of annexation," has arrived in San Francisco, which marks his first absence from the Hawaiian islands in 27 years.

Mr. Herbert Spencer is 83 years old. He was born at Derby, his father being a schoolmaster and private tutor, and was educated by his uncle, the late Rev. Thomas Spencer, at Hinton Charterhouse, near Bath. Mr. Spencer has never sought academic degrees or other titles, and has even had occasion to repudiate them when conferred upon him.

Another Moseley Opinion.

From the Westminster Gazette.

In his preface to the annual volume descriptive of the position of the Amalgamated Society of Engineers, Mr. E. N. Barnes, the secretary, thus summarizes the results of his visit to the United States as a Mosely commissioner: "While there is much in America which it seemed to me we could copy with advantage, there is a good deal more, on the other hand, that we can very well do without. They have a very fine educational system in America which is freely placed at the disposal of parents who may wish to give their children a good start in life. The patent laws are also much better than ours, the cost of a patent being less than a tenth of the cost here, and of more value when obtained; and the Americans more readily adapt themselves to the latest machinery and best appliances in industry. But, on the other hand, there is a general scamping of work, an absence of fellow-feeling and a shoddiness about the American cities. The workshop conditions in the engineering trade are much the same as in this country as far as sanitation and provision for workshop amenities are concerned—certainly no better—and I doubt if, on the whole, so good. The pay is about 50 per cent higher for all-round skilled engineering mechanics, but this is partly absorbed in higher prices. On the whole America is by no means the industrial Arcadia which it has sometimes been pictured."

THE DEPARTURE OF YOUTH.

There are gains for all our losses,
There are balms for all our pain,
But when youth, the dream, departs,
It takes something from our hearts,
And it never comes again.

We are stronger and are better,
Under manhood's sterner reign;
Still, we feel that something sweet
Followed youth with flying feet,
And will never come again.

Something beautiful is vanished,
And we sigh for it in vain;
We behold it everywhere,
On the earth and in the air,
But it never comes again!

—Richard Henry Stoddard.

The Quiet Observer.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

Oh, would I were a boy again,
When life seemed formed of sunny years,
And all the heart then knew of pain
Was wept away in transient tears.

—Mark Lemon.

We may sometimes wish we were young again and had life to live o'er again, but it is an idle wish, and we may well be thankful that it is, for we could not enjoy ourselves better than before.

Youth, as seen by those who long since left it, is vastly different from what it appears to children. Memory lends charms which youth itself cannot see, and gives a sense of pleasure where none existed.

With memory for guide we visit and revisit the old home and neighborhood, wander over the hills and through the woods, smell the new-mown hay and gather luscious berries, and all without getting a stubbed toe, a stone bruise, or bee sting or a briar scratch, which we know would be impossible in real life.

Memory is kind to us, you see, very kind, in that it eliminates the scratches and bruises and pains and disappointments, leaving only the goodies for us to feast upon in our later days.

* * * * * *

Dear Quiet Observer—I have been ransacking my brain all day to recall those lines referred to in today's Gazette. I send what I recall—am not sure whether it is all or not.

Our old schoolhouse stood beside the old Pittsburgh and Philadelphia turnpike, where 55 years ago I spent many an hour just in the way spoken of in the poem, or whatever it might be called.

I now know of only one boy that marched with me then. Some of them marched forth in the dreadful sixties and never came back.

Latrobe, Pa. JOHN T. M'LAUGHLIN.

Yes, John, you've forgotten some of it—a whole lot of it, in fact; but others have it entire, and have sent it with their best wishes to all who desire to go back to school again and "say pieces" on Saturday afternoon, for every day was school day then.

Mrs. W. B. Penn of Bowerston, O., sends the full text of the "Young Soldiers," which she copied from the second reader which she used at school.

Oh, were you ne'er a school boy,
And did you never train,
And feel the swelling of the heart
You ne'er can feel again?
Didst never meet far down the street,
With plumes and banners gay,
While the kettle, for the kettle drum,
Played your march, march away?

It seems to me but yesterday,
Nor scarce so long ago,
Since all our school their muskets took
To charge the fearful foe.
Our muskets were of cedar wood,
With ramrod bright and new,
With bayonet forever set,
And painted barrel, too.

We charged upon a flock of geese
And put them all to flight,
Except one sturdy gander
That thought to show us fight.
But, oh! we knew a thing or two!
Our captain wheeled the van—
We routed him, we scouted him,
Nor lost a single man.

Our captain was as brave a lad
As e'er commission bore;
All brightly shone his new tin sword,
A paper cap he wore.
He led us up the steep hill side
Against the western wind,
While the cockerel plume that deck'd his head
Streamed bravely out behind.

We shouldered arms, we carried arms,
We charged the bayonet,
And woe unto the mullein stalk
That in our course we met.
At 2 o'clock the roll we called,
And till the close of day,
With fearless hearts, though tired limbs,
We fought the mimic fray,
Till the supper bell, from out the dell,
Bade us march, march away.

—McGuffey's Second Reader.

* * * * * *

And there are others—several of them—who sent us what they could recall of the verses, but their memories have failed some during the past half century or thereabouts. And yet they were all on the track good and strong, and some who realized their inability to round up the entire poem say they know where they can get it, and they are after it full tilt.

One of these wants to know in which of the school books "Mediocre Mattie" figured.

Wasn't the meddlesome girl's name Matilda? She was in the second reader, and her picture was in some of the editions, if not in all.

And there was the busy little bee done up in verse by Isaac Watts, who wrote so many good hymns and spiritual songs.

"How doth the little busy bee
Improve each shining hour,
And gather honey all the day
From every opening flower."

Why, you can sit down with a McGuffey graduate and talk by the hour about the persons and pieces that you liked best, reciting a line here and a line there, and repeating as to the way certain verses were worded.

* * * * * *

And, after all, we grew up to the fourth, and then to the fifth, which came some years later. There was a lot of good reading in this, the selections being both entertaining and instructive.

It was supposed that only the big girls and boys would be found in the fifth reader class, but it so happened that some of the smaller ones could read all around some of the bigger ones.

As the reading lessons were long sometimes, and the class large, it was rather tiresome standing, unless you happened to have a good place to stand—say, beside the one you loved best; then it made no difference if the lesson lasted for an hour or two.

Yes, indeed, the boys and girls looked at each other in these good old times, and wrote notes, and winked, and threw kisses across the school house.

And why not? They were just as human as young folks are now, if not more so, even if they were not supplied with the latest school apparatus, and dressed up in style every day.

That some of these school love affairs developed into the real thing there can be no doubt, and as far as known they turned out all right, for each knew the other perfectly, and neither had much to conceal.

After all, what could be more natural than for schoolmates to become lovers, with a love both true and lasting?

* * * * * *

Mr. Quiet Observer—What is the use in making so much fuss about kissing? All you can say won't make any difference, for people do as they please about such things.

If I am not mistaken you are from the country, and of course you know how it was there. We played kissing plays, and they were nice, too, and I never heard of any harm coming of them. Every one of us knew enough to take care of ourselves and not go around tempting or hunting for kisses.

I think the trouble with girls and boys nowadays is that they are not taught right at home. Any girl who is properly instructed by her mother is not going to make a fool of herself, for every girl who has the right sort of stuff in her wants to be considered decent and well mannered, and she will be if she knows how.

My girls don't need to ask anybody how to behave, for they knew how before they were old enough to go in society. They were taught every day, not in regular lessons, but in the way they lived, so that when they went out they knew how to act right, because they acted right at home. They don't do wrong for fear of a scolding, but because they don't want to do anything that isn't nice and proper for girls to do.

Raise your girls right and you needn't be afraid of them going wrong. And then keep them busy, for idleness brews mischief.

HAPPY MOTHER.

The President's Tour.

From the Indianapolis Journal.

A gratifying feature of President Roosevelt's present tour is that wherever he has gone he has been received by the people, regardless of political affiliations, as the chief executive of the nation. Everywhere he has been treated with the respect due the office and with a warmth of welcome indicative of his personal popularity. The president could hardly say, as Jefferson did in his inaugural address, "We are all Republicans, we are all Federalists," but Democrats have done their share in showing honor to the office and the man.

Talked of in New York

GEORGE C. JENKS.

(By Private Wire to The Gazette.)

NEW YORK, May 13.—Gen. Greene, commissioner of police, has lifted himself high in the estimation of New Yorkers by proving himself a better detective than the head of the detective bureau. It may have been only luck that enabled the commissioner to obtain the name and address of G. Rosso, the sender of the infernal machine to the Cunard pier last Saturday, but the fact remains that he did it, on his own statement. He is said to be annoyed that the detective bureau has not yet made an arrest in the case, too. Of all the commissioners of police New York has had, there has not been any since Theodore Roosevelt, now president of the United States, but in 1896 chairman of the board of police commissioners in this city, who has taken a personal part in running down crime and vice. Roosevelt used to do it con amore, and it seems as if the present commissioner is impelled by the same spirit. Gen. Greene does not talk much, but, when he does, it is straight to the purpose. Moreover, he acts promptly. In this infernal machine matter he seems to have aimed at the very root of the mystery, and, while no doubt he received information which enabled him to ferret out the man Rosso, he might have let the clue slip through his fingers had he not been of a prompt and thorough disposition. It is said that Deputy Commissioner Piper was about to throw into the waste basket, as of no account, the warning letter he received about the box of explosives. Commissioner Greene has the cautious mind of a strategist, and never neglects a clue or warning, no matter how insignificant it appears on its face. To be sure, Piper did not actually throw away the letter, but acted upon it, with the possible result that hundreds of lives were saved. Greene would not have had the slightest impulse to destroy the letter. That is the difference. Meanwhile Chief McClusky of the detective bureau must find Rosso very soon if he intends to stand well with his chief.

Cruiser Too Well Manned.

There is considerable uneasiness at the Brooklyn navy yard over the reported presence of scarlet fever on board the unarmored cruiser Columbia, now in use as a receiving ship. An ex-officer of the navy said to me this afternoon that he thought the disease would be easily crushed, but that congress was responsible for its being there at all, by packing 1,200 men into a ship supposed to accommodate only 450.

Baseball at Navy Yard.

Baseball is played all over Greater New York, just as it is all over Pittsburgh and other American cities, but there is nowhere that it has a more earnest exemplification than in the navy yard. The games there are not intended for the public edification, although the public cannot be kept away altogether. The crack team in the yard is composed of members of the second battalion of the United States marine corps. It has beaten all the semi-professional teams in Brooklyn, and is looking for others worthy of its prowess. On Saturday it will play the police reserves at the Flushing avenue station, who are supposed to be the best players on the force. The players are guarded by sentinels posted at intervals about the field, but the picket fence, some 18 feet high, is set wide enough for people outside to look through, and every good play is cheered as heartily by these "rooters" as is anything done by league nines on the Polo grounds.

Little Conductor Grows Strenuous.

A rear wheel of a junk wagon went to smash in Broadway, opposite the Imperial hotel, this afternoon. Down went the wagon across the car tracks, and in five minutes there was a line of Broadway cars as far as Herald square. A big policeman commanded the teamster to "g'wan out o' that." The teamster called to a man with him to "hurry up." The man calmly lighted his pipe and smoked reflectively. The line of cars was rapidly growing longer, and another policeman arrived, full of suggestions and official importance. The horse tried to drag the wagon, on three wheels, out of the way. The wagon was loaded with several casks of scrap lead, and would not budge. "Take them casks off," ordered a third policeman, and his order was reiterated by about 20 car conductors who had gathered about the wreck. More cars joined the line, which reached to the Knickerbocker theater by this time. The man was still smoking. Suddenly a little conductor with a thin neck seized a piece of scantling from the wagon and in a few seconds had one of the casks out of the way. His example fired everyone. The philosopher with the pipe, the teamster, the three policemen and a rabble of conductors all tackled the casks of lead. In five minutes the track was clear and the trouble over. "Some people don't seem to have no sense," growled the little conductor with the thin neck as his car bowled past the wagon.

Interest in Thaw Divorce.

The announcement that "Charlie" Thaw, as he is known along Broadway, had entered an action for divorce against his wife, Frances, caused a flutter of interest along the Rialto this afternoon. Although the son of a millionaire, young Thaw has been an actor, and Mrs. Thaw was a "Sadie girl" with Anna Held.

Angel Face Good Graft.

A wee little girl, with dark eyes and an angel face, may be seen any evening sitting at the entrance to one of the Broadway theaters as the crowds go in. The child is so pretty and babyish that dozens of people entering for an evening's pleasure feel that they must give the little one a coin. It may be only a penny or it may be as much as a half dollar. "It is a good graft," observed the cynical doorkeeper to me tonight. "She makes $2 or $3 a night sometimes, and her mother is just around the corner, ready to take charge of the money as soon as the house is seated. You cannot believe all you see in New York."

To Tell You Where You Are.

One of the improvements made in New York about which no one takes the trouble to talk, because they are becoming a matter of course, is the placing of street signs pretty generally about the city. It was common complaint that even a New Yorker could not tell where he was if he got off Broadway, because the names of the streets were never posted up. Nowadays most of the streets are marked with legible signs. Some hundreds of signs have been put up in the last few months. Perhaps people appreciate this, but they do not say so, as a rule.

Leader of Public Spirit.

In the death of William Brookfield today New York loses one of its most useful and public-spirited citizens. He only accepted one municipal office, that of commissioner of public works, but he was always a power behind the throne, whose influence was recognized as always for good. He was, for a considerable time, chairman of the Republican county committee.

A Problem for the Suckers.

From the Rochester Herald.

There are suckers all over the country who can sit down with a pencil and figure how much they have contributed to the building of the $4,000,000 stock exchange in New York.

Political Drift.

"Mr. Bryan probably has thought out his course in the immediate future," says the Springfield Republican (Ind.). "It may be even that his attacks upon Mr. Cleveland have been deliberately designed to prevent the Democratic party, in the present reaction, of which he is fully cognizant, from swinging too far toward the pole opposite the one at which he stands. It may be possible, too, that he would now welcome a Cleveland candidacy as the one most conducive to his purpose of opposing the wave of conservatism which mounts higher and higher in the democracy."

\+ \+ \+ \+

"History in this country has shown," says the Providence Journal (Rep.) "that an 'era of good feeling' is not an impossibility, and that a leader, a president, could be elected and serve his term at Washington without the aid of partisanship. President Monroe was re-elected with but a single electoral vote in opposition, and that a perfunctory one. In 1872 President Grant obtained a victory whose favorable proportions, could they be paralleled for Lord Rosebery, would doubtless prove satisfactory to him. In each of these cases the state of public feeling behind the returns was due to the death of old issues and the absence of new ones, and it cannot seem irrational to anticipate such conditions in politics hereafter."

\+ \+ \+ \+

Referring to the declaration of Democratic national committeemen concerning the Cleveland candidacy for a third term, the Chicago Record-Herald says: "In considering the weight that should attach to these objections it should be borne in mind of course that a large majority of the national committee were adherents of Mr. Bryan and were elected to the committee in the Bryan campaigns. To say that they represent the dominant sentiment of the rank and file of the party would be to invite prompt challenges in many quarters."

\+ \+ \+ \+

Digging around among the available Democratic timber, the Washington Star (Ind. Rep.) comes out with this suggestion: "The latest suggestion in connection with next year's Democratic leadership concerns itself with Judge Gray of Delaware. He is a man of high and attractive class, and his experience in public affairs has been considerable. As a senator he was not overshadowed even by the august memories of the Bayards and the Saulsburys, but made a record for himself in the upper house of congress of which for dignity and usefulness and application his friends are deservedly proud. But, in the circumstances that exist, would he make a strong presidential candidate? Could he unite the factions of the Democratic party and win at the polls?"

\+ \+ \+ \+

Mr. Bryan's pernicious activity is objected to by the Indianapolis News (Dem.) in the following terse style; "Mr. Bryan, the doubly-defeated candidate of the Democratic party, is still presuming to say who shall be the candidate of the party next year. Not only that, but he is prescribing tests for membership in the party, telling us who are and who are not Democrats, and at last he has gone so far as to denounce—and attempt to read out of the party—certain newspapers whose only offense is that they could not support him for the presidency."

\+ \+ \+ \+

"Let those who wish to become registered on the roll of faithful Democrats abjure instantly," advises the Atlanta Constitution (Dem.), "this mushroom third-term talk and combine in the great patriotic duty of bringing all wise opponents of Republicanism into a solid phalanx. Then it should be easy for the imminence of victory to produce the man of the hour—the Democrat whose record as such is unquestionable, whose loyalty to the party in any event is unimpeachable, and whose wisdom, prudence and patriotism will guarantee him to honest reform voters as the Cincinnatus of the first national emergency of the twentieth century."

\+ \+ \+ \+

Mr. Cleveland's letter to Editor Holder is not regarded as conclusive by the New York Tribune (Rep.), which says: "In a published letter to the editor of a Georgia paper who had asked him a pointed question, he wrote a few days ago: 'I can say no more than to assure you that at no time since the close of my last administration have I been desirous of carrying the Democratic banner for the fourth time in a presidential contest.' That is doubtless true, but it is not discourteous to Mr. Cleveland to say that his letter does not shut the door in the face of Mr. Holder and others who are venturing in there. He has not come forth, but at least he does not forbid a louder summons."

The Alien Invasion.

From the Philadelphia Ledger.

There can be no doubt of the duty of a nation to guard its doors. The time of unregulated sentiment has passed when it was fashionable to hold that a man had a right to claim entrance upon our soil simply because he was a man. The soil of the United States is held by its people; held, it may be, for the good of the human race, for the benefiting of all the world. We owe our duties to the other nations, but one of those duties is to achieve a worthy national character. In the working out of that character we have a perfect right to isolate ourselves if we conclude that that is best. The moment has never come when we have been willing to do that. Undoubtedly there is now a growing disposition to restrict the inflow of new citizens, though the supreme self-confidence of the nation has not yet lost faith in its ability to "assimilate all who come." It is certainly time to understand that "assimilation" is not precisely the word to describe the process that is going on—to realize that what is actually happening is the fusion of the diverse characteristics of aliens with our own, and that, while the latter may predominate in the result, they possess no magic enabling them to transmute the baser elements into their own gold.

Ping-Pong and Poker.

From the Butte Inter-Mountain.

The click of the ping-pong ball is rarely heard these days and nights, whereas only a few months ago it assailed the ear from every direction. The trouble with ping-pong as a social game is that it is not sufficiently sedentary in its habits. After all there is nothing that so completely meets requirements in a large way as the good old American game of draw poker.

A Calling Down.

From the Titusville Herald.

The Pittsburgh Times' agricultural editor rises to remark that "country fairs are about due." Better roll over, brother, and reload the pipe. Either your residence on the farm was short or city life has worked havoc with your memory. Memorial Day, Fourth of July, harvest home picnic, county fair. Better jot it down.

IT IS TO SMILE.

$42,000 A YEAR FOR BIG LEASE

Hamilton Building Secured by Eastern Firm for Term of Two Decades.

NEW STORE IS TO OPEN

One More of the Large Department Shops for This City. Record Made in Local Commercial Leases by Deal.

The Hamilton building, in Fifth avenue, has been leased for 20 years to an eastern firm for $42,000 a year. The deal, which is the largest commercial lease ever made in Pittsburgh, was closed through the office of the W. H. Skivington Company. It is more or less of a revelation to men who have been skeptical as to realty values and will result in Pittsburgh's having another big store next year.

The Hamilton building was bought by Frank McCann three months ago from Samuel Hamilton for $450,000. Shortly after Mr. McCann got title to the property negotiations were started by several firms looking to securing a long-term lease. One of these deals, which has been pending for three months, was with a New York concern, which wanted the building for a big department store. At the last moment a hitch occurred, and within three days the other firm stepped in and closed the deal.

Possession will be given April 1, 1904. The total amount of the lease, $840,000, is abundant evidence that the firm has faith in Pittsburgh's future as a commercial center. As the building is eight stories high and measures 30 by 240 feet to Virgin alley, the firm will have a total store space of 57,000 square feet. The building will be thoroughly remodeled at a cost of at least $50,000. The improvements will include a new front in Virgin alley, new elevators, electric light plant and the latest improvements in the way of store fixtures.

Figuring the total cost of the building, including the improvements, at $500,000, the rental agreed to will give Mr. McCann a gross income of over 8 per cent. It will mean for Fifth avenue another immense establishment to draw the crowds and can not fail to add to the values of real estate along that thoroughfare. More important still, this will be the first store in Virgin street with the exception of the Claflin store at the corner of Wood and Virgin, the building for which is now being erected by Henry W. Oliver. The advantage of having a frontage on both Fifth avenue and Virgin street for a big store can hardly be estimated, and with the importance that the latter street is certain to attain in a short time after it is widened it is not hard to see that prices now regarded as exorbitant for property in the "alley" will then be way below market values.

Last spring when the North American Savings Company offered for sale an issue of the bonds of the Beaver Valley Water Company and of the Washington & Canonsburg Railway Company, conservative bankers and bond buyers of Pittsburgh and the vicinity took advantage of what was regarded as an exceptional opportunity for an absolutely safe investment.

This spring the Beaver Valley Water Company has been making some extensive improvements to its plant, adding to its previous installation of modern water power machinery, laying mains through some recently opened up territory and making connections with a large number of factories now in process of erection.

To cover the cost of all this a further issue of $80,000.00 bonds of the Beaver Valley Water Company is being marketed by the North American Savings Company this week.

Similarly the Washington & Canonsburg Railway Company is extending its lines from Washington and Tylerdale towards Pittsburgh, through the fertile and populous Chartiers valley, to the towns of Houston and Canonsburg. This line is nearing completion and will be in full operation before the end of the summer.

Additional bonds for $100,000.00 are being issued by the Washington & Canonsburg Railway Company to provide for this expense and are on sale by the North American Savings Company.

Both of these companies are on a splendid financial footing, the net earnings of each being far in excess of all expenses, including interest on the bonds.

An increasing value to these bonds is assured by the dense and rapidly increasing population of the districts these two companies serve, and by the class of industries in these districts.

JUSTICE D. M. DONEHOO,
Of Washington County, Pa., Who Has Been Legislated Out of Office.

WASHINGTON, PA., May 15.—(Special.)—As a result of the consolidation of the boroughs of South Washington and North Washington, 'Squire D. M. Donehoo, who has served a longer term as justice of the peace than any other man in Washington county, has been legislated out of office. Justice Donehoo was first elected a justice of the peace in 1873 and has served continuously in the office for 30 consecutive years. He was at one time prothonotary of Washington county, and is at present one of the most prominent real estate men in the town. His first commission was signed by Gov. John F. Hartranft, while his last was indorsed by Gov. Daniel H. Hastings, in 1898. Justice Donehoo is a native of Washington county, having been born and reared in Cross Creek township, removing to Washington in 1869. During his official career he has married 279 couples and disposed of thousands of cases. He has always been a Democrat in politics, but by his personal popularity has secured the election to the office of justice of the peace as well as prothonotary of Washington county for so many years, although living in a Republican district. He is one of the best known figures in Washington.

MANY PERSONS WILL BE AT FUNERAL SERVICES

Last Rites Over the Remains of Daughter of the Wabash President.

Arrangements were practically completed yesterday afternoon for the funeral of Miss Anna L. Ramsey, daughter of President Ramsey of the Wabash railroad. N. P. Ramsey, a brother of the Wabash president, arrived in the city yesterday afternoon and took charge of the arrangements. The funeral party left New York last night and is due to reach Pittsburgh on train No. 19 of the Pennsylvania railroad this morning. The services will be held at the residence of J. W. Patterson, Baum and Graham streets, East End, at 2 p. m. today.

This morning a large party of friends of the family and of Wabash railroad officials will arrive over the Panhandle in two private cars. Among those in this party and those who have already arrived or will be here this morning are: Col. Wells H. Bledgett, third vice president; E. B. Pryor and H. W. Ashley, assistants to President Ramsey; Col. E. T. Clapp, chief clerk to the president; H. L. Maggs, general superintendent; C. S. Crane, general passenger and ticket agent; S. B. Knight, general freight agent; F. L. O'Leary, treasurer; B. C. Winston, assistant solicitor; C. B. Adams, general superintendent of transportation; George M. Burns, superintendent of the Detroit division; A. E. Robbins, superintendent of the Buffalo division; S. E. Cotter, superintendent of the eastern division; A. Roberison, superintendent of the middle division; J. S. Goodman, superintendent of the western division; R. J. Woods, fuel agent; H. B. McClellan, general eastern agent, New York; R. P. Kelly, general agent, passenger department, Buffalo; J. J. Mossman, division freight agent, Buffalo; Robert Blickensdorfer, general manager of the Wheeling & Lake Erie; H. J. Booth, general traffic manager, Wheeling & Lake Erie; E. B. Coolidge, general freight and passenger agent, Wheeling & Lake Erie; C. H. Rockwell, traffic manager, Monon, Chicago; A. H. McLeod, traffic manager, Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton, Cincinnati; Milton McRae, president of the Scripps-McRae Newspaper league, St. Louis.

DOG DELAYS CARS AND FIRE ENGINES

A stray dog caught in a dog catcher's net yesterday morning, tied up the traction cars and No. 7 engine company in Penn avenue, near Nineteenth street. After becoming entangled in the net the dog broke away from his captor and was killed by a traction car. While the dog catcher was endeavoring to recover the remnants of his net the apparatus from the engine company came along, and the drivers, thinking a mistake had been made in sounding a fire alarm instead of a police call, stopped to investigate. When the true state of affairs was discovered the firemen went to Nineteenth street and extinguished a small blaze.

Mrs. Reno's Leg Amputated.

Mrs. Mary Reno of Glassport, who has entered suit against E. F. McGowan, chief of police of the borough, charging him with breaking her leg by beating her with a mace, yesterday had the injured limb amputated at the McKeesport hospital. It is alleged the bones were so badly splintered by the blows from McGowan's mace that the leg had to be amputated to save Mrs. Reno's life.

Life-Saver Had a Warm Time.

In attempting to prevent a man from committing suicide by jumping into the Chartiers creek from the bridge at McKees Rocks, late Tuesday night, Burgess W. G. Barr of McKees Rocks alleges he was attacked by two of the man's friends and prevented from arresting him.

HOMESTEAD PREPARING A MONSTER PARADE

Fifteen Thousand Men Expected in Line at the Schwab School Dedication.

Homestead has already assumed gala day attire in preparation for the dedication of the Charles M. Schwab Manual Training school, which takes place Saturday. The event promises to be the greatest in the town's history and nothing is being left undone that will make it a success. Mr. and Mrs. Schwab will be Homestead's guests of honor, and a large number of their friends from New York are to be with them to witness the ceremonies.

A parade over the principal streets of the town is to be held at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, in which 15,000 men are expected to take part. The parade will be composed of three divisions, to include Mr. and Mrs. Schwab and friends, borough officials, invited guests, patriotic societies and organizations and steel workers from the Carnegie mills at Homestead, Braddock and Duquesne. Fully 20,000 visitors are expected and every arrangement is being made for a monster parade.

At the conclusion of the street parade the dedication of the school will take place, the exercises to be conducted on a platform erected near the main entrance in Ninth avenue. In case of rain the exercises will be held in Carnegie hall.

The program includes an opening prayer by the Rev. N. D. Hynson, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Homestead, after which the Homestead Library band of 50 pieces will render a selection. Mr. Schwab will make the presentation speech and W. S. Bullock, president of the school board, will accept the gift in behalf of the board. Prof. John A. Brashear, chancellor of the University of Western Pennsylvania, and Dr. N. T. Shaeffer, state superintendent of public instruction, will also make addresses.

J. Clyde Miller is chief marshal of the parade and nearly 200 citizens of the town are assisting in the arrangement for the dedication.

The bond department of the North American Savings Company is offering the bonds of the Beaver Valley Water Company and the Washington & Canonsburg Railway Company this week. These bonds appeal to the most conservative investors.

TO CHOOSE A PRESIDENT

Annual Election Takes Place Today and Pittsburgh Women Are Mentioned for High Office. Convention Ends Tomorrow.

The three meetings yesterday of the second day's session of the 20th annual convention of the Woman's General Missionary Society of the United Presbyterian church in the First church, Allegheny, were exceptionally well attended. The majority of those present were delegates, but there were many visitors from nearby towns, who came here to make the convention one of the most notable held since its inception.

The morning session opened at 9 o'clock. Miss Sallie E. Dickey of India presided and led the devotional exercises. After Miss Dickey made an address on "The Preparation for Work" Mrs. George M. Moore of Xenia, O., the president, took the chair. The report of the committee on credentials was received, after which the minutes of the preceeding session were read.

The report of Mrs. Mary Porter of Latrobe, the statistical secretary, was read and was encouraging. It showed that there were represented at the meeting 64 presbyteries, embracing 968 societies, whose membership, both junior and senior, numbered 28,322. Mrs. Porter also reported the contributions for the year.

REPORT OF THE TREASURER.

Miss E. J. Shaw, the treasurer, read her report, which showed disbursements greater than receipts, but the interest from various sources leaves a balance on hand at the commencement of the fiscal year. Her report was: Receipts $93,617.50, and disbursements $101,230.75. This includes the financial report of the statistical secretary, whose report differs because the financial secretary collects interest and other moneys which do not pass through the treasurer's hands.

The report of the finance committee was equally as satisfactory as that of the treasurer. Mrs. E. H. Carruthers, secretary, and Mrs. S. H. Kelso, treasurer of the magazine committee, reported much progress, the former stating that 6,081 magazines were in that union, a decided increase over the previous report. Mrs. E. M. Hill made a favorable report on the junior magazine, which was followed by Mrs. Mary C. Porter, the thank offering secretary.

The afternoon session was opened at 1 o'clock by a thank offering bearer's conference and a prayer and praise service by Miss Ella C. Kyle of Cairo, Egypt. Miss Elizabeth Caughey, the literature secretary, reported progress in her work, and shortly after 2 o'clock the delegates went into a conference on "The Functions of Literature in Missions," led by Mrs. P. C. Wilkinson of Baltimore. A number of interesting papers, including the following, were read:

INTERESTING PAPERS READ.

"Place of Literature in the Church at Home," Mrs. G. L. Dunn of Erie; "Place of Literature in the Foreign Field," Mrs. W. C. Williamson, Keokuk, Ia.; "Coordination with the Bible of Other Christian Literature in the Scheme of Missions," Mrs. W. T. McConnell, Turtle Creek; "Biography As An Inspiration to Mission Work," Mrs. Lucy Barber, Cedarville, O.; "The Educational Influence of Attractive Literature Upon the Young People," Mrs. R. A. Evans, Minden, Neb.; "Circulating Libraries of Missionary Literature With Competent Directors as to Their Use in Our Church Colleges and Seminaries," Miss Margaret McLaughrey, of Westminster college; "Circulating Library of Missionary Literature, With Competent Directors in Our Congregations," Mrs. W. M. Hopping, Uniontown, O.; "Circulating Libraries of Missionary Literature With Competent Directors in Our Sabath Schools," Miss Mary S. Wilson, Baldwin, Pa.; "Our Missionary Magazines—an Educational Agency," Mrs. H. M. Freeman, McAlevy's Fort, Pa.; "The Missionary Press," by Miss Jennie Pollock of Canonsburg; "Its Power as a Beneficent Force," by Miss Jennie M. Morrison of Sialkot, India; "Its Power as an Aid in Medical Missions," by Miss Anna Boggs Watson, M. D., of Tanta, Egypt; "A Searchlight on the Growth of Missionary Literature," by Miss Elizabeth Caughey; "Systematic Study of Missions," by Mrs. C. E. Hanna of Washburn, Ill.

REPORTS ON MISSIONS.

The remainder of the sesion was taken up with reports on home missions by Mrs. H. C. Campbell; foreign missions by Mrs. W. J. Reid and Freedmen's missions by Mrs. J. B. Hill. Miss Mame L. Giffen of St. Clairsville, O., conducted a round table conference on these reports and representatives from the field were introduced. A conference for junior work closed the afternoon session.

The evening session opened at 7 o'clock, with the First church crowded to its doors. A young ladies' conference was held, followed by a praise and thank-offering service led by Mrs. Moore, the president. After the choir had sung the anthem, "Let All Rejoice," Mrs. Moore conducted a responsive reading, which concluded with remarks by the leader. The annual thank-offering was taken.

Miss Florabel Patterson, professor of history at Monmouth college, Monmouth, Ill., made the principal address of the evening. Her topic was "The Unbaptized Arm." Her remarks were listened to with the greatest of interest. The evening session adjourned with the singing of the doxology and the benediction.

TO ELECT A PRESIDENT.

The most important business before the convention today is the election of officers and members of the women's board for the ensuing year. By precedent the president should come to Allegheny county. Among those prominently mentioned for the honor are Mrs. J. E. Lamble, Mrs. J. T. Findlay, Mrs. T. D. Mellon and Miss Sadie Walter.

Sessions will be held this morning, afternoon and evening. A session will be held tomorrow morning, and the convention will adjourn with the closing of tomorrow afternoon's session.

DIVED DOWN TO THE MAINE.

Capt. Sorcho's Investigation Precipitated the War With Spain.

Capt. Louis Sorcho, the deep sea diver, will be at the United Labor carnival at the arsenal grounds, from May 30 to June 13, under the auspices of the Building Trades council.

When, on the morning of February 15, 1898, the world was startled by the news that the Spanish had blown up the Maine in the harbor of Havana, Capt. Sorcho was exhibiting in Baltimore. He was under heavy bonds to play a two months' contract, but when he heard of the disaster he closed up his show and paid the bond. Four hours later he offered his services as a diver to the authorities at Washington. He was accepted as the most expert submarine engineer in the country, and within five days he was descending amid the tangled wreckage of the sunken battleship. He recovered body after body of the sailors, working day and night until the last had been brought to the surface. Then he turned his attention to the wreck, and it was his testimony that gave the court of inquiry its first proof that the ship had been blown up by outside agency, and not by the explosion of her magazines, as claimed by the Spaniards.

Capt. Sorcho is, without doubt, America's premier diver, and his performances are well worth seeing.

GETS SALARY OF $10,000 A YEAR

Citizens Evolve Scheme to Change Delinquent Tax Collector's Compensation.

EQUAL TO PAY OF MAYOR

Other Department Heads Receive Only Half That Amount. D. F. Crawford Chairman of Committee to Make Change.

According to Common Councilman D. F. Crawford of the Fourteenth ward, the delinquent tax collector is to be given the magnificent salary of $10,000 a year in lieu of the fat commission which that official now receives. In the last campaign W. B. Hays and the Citizens party pledged themselves to change the compensation of the delinquent tax collector and put him on a salary.

The failure to keep this promise led Councilman J. B. Wasson of the Twentieth ward to introduce a resolution in common council Monday night, the resolution directing the mayor and city solicitor to prepare an ordinance changing the collectorship to a salaried office and fixing the amount of his salary.

The administration members knew that this resolution was coming and upon the motion of D. F. Crawford the Wasson resolution was referred to a special committee, of which Mr. Crawford is chairman.

Mr. Crawford said yesterday that the special committee would have a report ready for the meeting of common council on next Monday night.

"We will abolish the fee system and give the delinquent tax collector the same salary as the mayor," he stated.

Mr. Crawford stated that the city would have to pay the clerks in the collector's office. There is bound to be one of the warmest fights in the history of councils if an attempt is made to give the collector a salary of $10,000, for that is double the salary received by any of the other department heads.

The schedule of the new charter provides that the heads of departments shall not receive more than $5,000 a year, but it is claimed that this provision is not in force since the term of the elected recorder began.

President C. S. Crawford stated yesterday that he had appointed D. F. Crawford, Joseph Zeuger and Harry A. Lamb members of the committee to act on the Wasson resolution.

DEATHS OF A WEEK.

Typhoid Fever, Pneumonia, Whooping Cough and Consumption the Leading Causes.

There were 131 deaths in the city last week, the principal causes being typhoid fever 10, pneumonia 15, whooping cough 8, consumption 14, smallpox 4, and violence 14.

During the week there were reported 94 cases of typhoid fever, 21 of scarlet fever, 11 of diphtheria and 20 of smallpox. Ten cases of typhoid fever, 4 of scarlet fever and 2 of diphtheria were reported.

STEEL SPLINTER PIERCED HIS CHEST

One of the most peculiar accidents ever brought to the attention of Mercy hospital physicians occurred yesterday afternoon at Homestead, when James Cain, 35 years old and colored, was struck in the chest by a small piece of steel, which imbedded itself near Cain's heart. Cain was assisting to erect structural steel beams at the new bank building in Eighth avenue, Homestead, when a piece of steel about an inch long fell and pierced his chest. Dr. W. S. Woods, who was called to attend Cain, feared to attempt to extract the piece of steel without the use of the X-ray, as it was firmly imbedded near Cain's heart. Cain was taken to Mercy hospital, where the steel splinter was extracted. He will recover.

PLASTERERS ACCEPT ARBITRATOR'S RULING

Decision Gives the Men an Advance of 20 Cents a Day Over Their Former Wages.

The difficulty between the plasterers and the employers was adjusted last night. The Operative Plasterers' International association at a meeting held in the Building Trades council hall, No. 225 Fourth avenue, heard the report of Arbitrator I. G. Langfitt. It had two decisions, one of which was selected.

The first decision was that the plasterers work for $4 20 a day for any person, whether a contracting plasterer or not. The other decision was to work for $4 32 a day, but to only accept work from regular contracting plasterers. After considerable discussion it was decided to accept the $4 20 a day, with the privilege of working for any person who would sign the scale.

The acceptance of the decision prevents a strike which, should the decisions have been considered too unjust, would have been declared. The plasterers went on strike April 1 and struck for five weeks. Negotiations resulted in I. G. Langfitt, a disinterested person, being chosen to settle the dispute in the scale. With the appointment of the arbitrator the plasterers went to work with the understanding that they be paid at the rate to be decided upon by the decision of the arbitrator.

The decision is a decided victory for the workmen. This organization is not affiliated with any trades, which makes the victory the more creditable to the men. When on strike none of the members went to work or left the organization, nor did the contracting plasterers attempt to bring any "unfair" men to take the place of the strikers.

Last year the plasters received $4 a day for eight hours' work. In 1901 they were paid $3 60, in 1900 they were given $3 20 and in 1899 received $2 70. Business Agent James M. Culp worked hard to have the matter compromised, and the fact of the controversy being adjusted is largely due to his efforts.

One Killed and Two Injured.

LNICOLN, NEB., May 13.—A passenger train on the Burlington collided with a freight train near Lincoln tonight. William Batten, the passenger conductor, was killed, Charles P. Brundage, the passenger engineer, was seriously, possibly fatally injured, and a brakeman also was hurt.

Engineer Killed in Wreck.

CINCINNATI, May 13.—A Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis passenger train ran into a switch engine at Ivorydale today and John Haley, engineer of the passenger, was killed. Passengers were severely jarred, but only one, a woman, was painfully injured.

WELCOMED WITH BLUE AND WHITE

Pittsburgh to Be Decorated With the Colors of the American Zionists.

TO BE HELD NEXT MONTH

Prominent Leaders of Jewish Thought Will Participate in Important Discussions—Three Hundred Delegates Expected.

American Zionists will hold their sixth annual convention in Pittsburgh from June 6 to June 9, inclusive, and the city will be decorated with the Zionists' colors. The plans of the convention committee, consisting of representatives of the six local Zionist societies, are very elaborate.

A mass meeting will be held in the Bijou theater Sunday evening, June 7, at which the Hon. Josiah Cohen will preside. Some of the best Jewish speakers in the country have been secured, among them Prof. Richard Gottheil, the Rev. H. Pereira Mendes and the Rev. Mr. Masliansky of New York, the Rev. Stephen S. Wise of Portland, Ore., and Louis Zolotkoff of Chicago. The music will be furnished by a local orchestra and a chorus of 50 voices, both male and female.

Many stores and dwellings in the two cities will be decorated with blue and white, the Zionist colors, and with large pictures of Theodore Herzl, the foremost leader of the movement. Small buttons, bearing Herzl's picture alone or combined with that of Max Nordau will be distributed to all who desire to wear them, as well as small flags of the Zionist colors. An artistic souvenir program has been prepared, containing, in addition to the program, Zionist articles, poems, illustrations, etc.

MANY DELEGATES COMING.

An unusually large delegation of Zionists, at least 300, is expected. Many are attracted by the fact that one session of the convention will be devoted almost exclusively to a discussion of the Jewish education question. This is an innovation in the business of Zionist conventions, and a thorough study is being made of the subject by some of the leading Jewish scholars in the country, who will discuss the question from every aspect before the convention. In all probability, important measures will be adopted as to ways and means of improving the modern methods of educating the Jewish youth.

Among the prominent delegates who will be present are Prof. Richard Gottheil, the Rev. H. Pereira Mendes, the Rev. Mr. Maliansky, the Rev. Stephen S. Wise, Leon Zolotkoff, Dr. S. Schaffer, William Morris, the Rev. S. W. Delnard, Lewis A. Dembitz, Dr. Marcus Jastrow, the Rev. B. Leventhal, the Rev. Isidore Myers, Moses Klein, M. Rosenbaum, Abraham Radin, B. Hovevich, B. Abel, Dr. B. L. Gordon, G. H. Mayer, I. D. Morrison, Dr. S. Nosesson, S. Margolies, Benjamin F. Levy, Dr. F. Fox, William R. Scharton, Louis Lipsky, Miss Henrietta Szold, Julius Rottenberg and Jacob de Haas.

On Friday evening, June 5, and Saturday morning, June 6, special services will be held in the synagogues. Saturday evening, June 6, a reception will be tendered the visitors at Central Turner hall, Forbes street, by the Pittsburgh Daughters of Zion.

PROGRAM OF CONVENTION

The convention proper will open in Central Turner hall Sunday evening, June 7, when Mayor William B. Hays will welcome the delegates to Pittsburgh. The morning program will include the chairman's address, letters and correspondence, report of the permanent committee on procedure, reports and resolutions from the executive council and other reports, of which printed copies will be issued previously.

The afternoon session will begin at 2 o'clock, the business to be transacted being the report of the committee on credentials, debate on reports and the report of the committee on amendment of the constitution.

In the evening the mass meeting will be held in the Bijou theater.

Monday, June 8, the first session will open at 9 a. m. and will be devoted to a discussion of the amended constitution and of resolutions. In the afternoon the education question will be taken up. The papers to be read are: "The Education of the Jewish Girl," Miss Henrietta Szold; "Talmud Torahs and Chedorim," the Rev. Dr. A. Raddin; "Hebrews and Education," Dr. Benderley; "The Rationale of Modern Judaism," Dr. Max Heller; "Pseudo-Jewish Education," Mr. L. Lipsky. Unfinished and miscellaneous business will also be considered at this session.

Monday evening a banquet will be given by the Pittsburgh Zionists at Turner hall.

Tuesday, June 9, there will be but one session, from 9 a. m. to 12 m. The program includes a discussion on adjourned motions, the nomination and election of officers and the appointment and instruction of representatives to the sixth congress. In the afternoon there will be a lawn fete at Kenwood lawn and a sightseeing tour over the city.

LAWRENCE COUNTY REPUBLICAN LEADERS.

J. G. MARTIN, Chairman Lawrence County Republican Committee.

GEORGE WEINGARTNER, Secretary Lawrence County Republican Committee.

NEW CASTLE, PA., May 13.—(Special.)—J. G. Martin of New Wilmington, just elected chairman of the Lawrence county Republican committee, is one of the best known leaders of the anti-Wallace wing of the party. He has represented the borough of New Wilmington for several years on the county committee. As chairman of the Republican county organization he will wield a predominating influence during the coming battle over the nomination for the judiciary, which will be settled at the Republican primaries next spring. There have been charges and counter-charges of illegal voting at the primaries. It being claimed that many repeaters helped to swell the total vote at the recent primaries. It is probable that the present county committee will adopt stringent rules, requiring Republicans to register before the primaries, in order to entitle them to the ballot then. The county is so strongly Republican that the nomination is almost equivalent to election, especially in a presidential year, and the friends and opponents of Judge William D. Wallace will make their great fight at the Republican primaries. Attorney George Weingartner, just elected permanent secretary of the new Republican committee, represents the younger element of the party. He is also intensely anti-Wallace. Secretary Weingartner was born in Slippery Rock township 28 years ago and has lived in this county all his life. He has been practicing law here for the past four years.

HERRICK ONLY WANTS OHIO GOVERNORSHIP

Says He Is Not Positively Candidate for Vice Presidency.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CLEVELAND, May 13.—Despite the efforts of his friends to put him upon the ticket with President Roosevelt next year, Col. Myron T. Herrick declares that he is not a candidate for the vice presidency.

Col. Herrick's attention was called tonight to a special from Washington, quoting a cabinet member as having said Mr. Roosevelt desired Col. Herrick for a running mate.

"Now, I wonder who that member of the cabinet could be," said the colonel. "If what he says is true, he has information which I do not possess. Really I have not heard of anything of the kind, though the possibility of my nomination for the vice presidency next year has been suggested to me by some of my friends. I want to say, however, that I am not a candidate for that place. I am simply running for the Republican nomination for governor of Ohio.

"The other day it was reported that some of my friends were planning to make me the vice presidential candidate of Ohio, and that, to accomplish their purpose, they would send the delegates from this state to the national convention unpledged. Thus they would be in position to demand my nomination in return for the support of Ohio for Mr. Roosevelt. That was an absurd proposal, and I never heard of it until I saw it printed in the newspapers."

DEADLOCK ON ENGINEER.

Three Candidates for Position in Gift of Glassport Councils.

A warm contest is on for the position of borough engineer in Glassport, in which three candidates have managed to deadlock council. Recently the position was left vacant by the resignation of Engineer Thomas E. White, who was elected city engineer of McKeesport at the last municipal election. Since that time John Douthitt, who was defeated by White for the McKeesport office; Harry Jones, former assistant city engineer of McKeesport, and P. S. McMullen of Glassport have entered the contest.

An effort to elect an engineer will be made tonight at a meeting of council, but it is expected that a deadlock will result.

CHURCH'S POWER NOT INCREASING

Bishop Lawrence Takes Pessimistic View of Christianity's Progress.

IN CLUTCH OF DRINK

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

BOSTON, May 13.—At the one hundred and eighteenth convention of the Episcopal church of the diocese of Massachusetts here today Bishop William Lawrence in his address said:

"So far as statistics can show, it is doubtful if the church is more than keeping pace with the population. The ministry is not apparently increasing in numbers or power. A greater proportion of the intelligent men and leaders of our communities have no active interest in the church. There is a great mass of fine character and of Christian temper outside the church. Infidelity, sincere and insincere, is all about us.

"More than that, the interest in commercial, material, social and intellectual life is gaining a stronger hold on the people. The tests of life among many are in social and financial success. Sport and amusement have made great inroads on our Sunday congregations. Below all these influences are the lower standards of taste and the grosser immoralities. The power of strong drink has its clutch upon our cities, their people and government; gambling is unsettling habits of industry; many forms of temptation are undermining the characters of hosts of youth. All these influences are potent enemies of the Christian faith."

In view of such conditions the bishop deprecated the discussion now going on in diocesan conventions of the question whether the name of the church should be changed and concluded thus:

"The truth is, my brethren, that there is one thing that we all in this church do need—bishops, clergy and laity—and that is a more personal revision of our responsibility to God and a closer abiding in His presence."

CLEVELAND, May 13.—At the annual convocation of the clergy and laity of the Episcopal diocese of Ohio here today the question of changing the church name was deadlocked. The clergy favored a change in the name, but the laity did not. No suggestion was made as to the name that should be substituted. The convocation adjourned without action in the matter.

Archbishop Kain Improved.

BALTIMORE, May 13. — Archbishop Kain, who arrived here yesterday from St. Louis and became a patient at St. Agnes' sanitarium, is reported by the resident physicians to be already much improved. He spent several hours today on the porch of the sanitarium and expressed himself as being hopeful of an early recovery. The archbishop was in a state of great despondency before his arrival here.

MAKES WILD LEAP FROM WINDOW

Girl Accuses Chicago Speculator of Threatening Her With a Revolver.

GETS IN WRONG HOUSE

Declares He Told Her He Was Taking Her to Y. M. C. A. Rest House—Young Woman Seriously Injured by Fall.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]
CHICAGO, May 13.—Miss Laura Stickler, who came to Chicago in November from Cincinnati, jumped from a third-story window of the Newport hotel, she declares, to escape from H. C. Reed of No. 165 Wood street, a board of trade speculator.

At the county hospital today Miss Stickler, lying suffering from her injuries sustained in the almost fatal leap from the window, pointed her finger at Reed and declared:

"That is the man! Charlie, you are at the bottom of all my troubles."

"You are nervous and excited; you don't know what you are talking about," was the only answer vouchsafed by Reed, who had been brought to face the girl.

Miss Stickler and Reed went to the Newport hotel last night at 9:25 o'clock and at 12:20 a. m. today Miss Stickler was found by a passer-by lying moaning in the alley. Reed had disappeared. Miss Stickler was removed to the hospital where, after regaining consciousness, she said she had been taken to the "hotel" of the Karg and Horton syndicate and had jumped from the window. She told of having dinner with Reed and going to the Newport under the belief that he was taking her to a "branch of the Y. W. C. A."

Miss Stickler lives at the Y. W. C. A. building in Michigan avenue.

"We took dinner early and reached what I thought was a branch of the Young Women's Christian association about 9:30," said Miss Stickler in her statement. "I thought the surroundings were unusual for one of our rest places that we have scattered over the city. We went to a room on the third floor. There Reed took his revolver out and threatened me. Finally, watching my chances, I opened the window from the bottom and when Reed was not watching me I jumped out.

"I know I struck something—I believe I learned afterward it was the fire escape—before I became unconscious. After that all seemed black to me."

A woman came to the station to see Reed. He addressed her as "Flo," and she said on seeing him, "Hello, convict."

She refused to give her name, but she lives at Fifty-fifth street and Normal avenue. She said Reed married her on October 26, 1902, calling himself Harold C. Mills.

On January 1 she discovered that he had been married to women in Pittsburgh, Detroit and St. Louis, and that he had served time in the Columbus, O., penitentiary in 1894-95.

When she accused him of bigamy, they quarreled and he left her. She has not seen him since till today.

THE THREE RIVERS.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]
CINCINNATI, May 13.—The stage of the river at 8 p. m. marked 10.7 feet and falling. Owing to the low stage of the water, the Keystone State will not go through to Pittsburgh on her regular trip tomorrow. She will go only to Wheeling, where passengers will be sent through to Pittsburgh by rail. Capt. John Moren was a visitor on change today. He left for Pittsburgh tonight.

LOUISVILLE—River is falling, with 2 feet 11 inches on the falls, 6 feet 1 inch in the canal and 11 feet at the foot of the locks. The Sprague and Jos. B. Williams will probably be laid up at West Louisville for some time.

EVANSVILLE—The river is falling here; stands 9 feet tonight. The Alice Brown passed up with empties.

HUNTINGTON—River 6 feet and falling.

MARIETTA—River 1 foot 5 inches and falling.

WHEELING—River 4 feet 1 inch and falling.

GALLIPOLIS—River 7 feet and falling.

PARKERSBURG—River 5 feet and falling.

OIL CITY—River 1 foot 2 inches and falling.

STEUBENVILLE—River 3 feet 4 inches and falling.

POINT PLEASANT—River 3 feet 8 inches and falling.

GREENSBORO—River 7 feet 1 inch and falling.

ATTORNEYS BARRED OUT.

Two Hearings Yesterday and One Today Before Inspectors.

The stage of water at Davis island dam at 9 o'clock last night was 3.3 feet and the river was falling.

Hearings in the cases of Oliver McKeage and Arthur McKay of the Jim Wood and John Henning and Frank Jenkins of the Tornado for alleged violations of the marine laws were held before United States Inspectors of Steam Vessels George H. Atkinson and Isaac B. Williams yesterday. The information was given by members of the Marine Engineers' Benevolent association. Lowry Barton appeared for the engineers' association and C. G. McIlvane was the attorney for the defendants. After the testimony had been heard in the case of the engineers on the Jim Wood the inspectors barred the attorneys out, as they prolonged the cases further than was necessary and a great many arguments ensued. The second case proceeded much faster and occupied about one-fourth the time of the first. The engineers on the steamer Carbon will have their hearing this morning. The defendants this morning are Francis A. Bonner and George B. Alexander. No more cases will be heard for a week, as other business requires the attention of the inspectors.

The Rose Hite was the Morgantown packet yesterday.

Harbor No. 25, Masters and Pilots, will hold a regular meeting in their rooms, No. 8 Wood street, next Saturday morning at 9:30.

Charles A. Downer, captain of the Harry No. 2, which was burned at Charleroi March 15, made statements yesterday to the local inspectors. He did not report the circumstances immediately and it was necessary to send for him. Downer said the cause of the fire was the caving in of the flame bed under the boilers. He stated that the loss was $2,500, and that the boat was destroyed except the hull. The Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, owners of the steamer, will have her rebuilt.

The Pittsburgh and Cincinnati line is being compelled to tie up on account of low water. The Virginia is tied up at Cincinnati. The Queen City did not attempt to reach here yesterday, but turned back at Wheeling, and the Keystone State will make one more trip before she will tie up at Cincinnati. Probably no more packets will arrive until a rise, except the Bessie Smith, from Parkersburg. She is smaller and much lighter than the regular packets. The upper Ohio is low and continues to fall.

The Enterprise is the last of the combine's boats to come up the river. She will probably be unable to get into the harbor.

Some rivermen expressed themselves as discouraged at the present stage of water, which they say is very low for the first of the year. They were pessimistic in speaking of the outlook for water. A June rise is confidently expected, but a long, dry summer is predicted. This will undoubtedly be the most successful season the local excursion boats have ever experienced.

Judge J. D. Shafer yesterday handed down an opinion upon a question of law raised in the case of Edward Schneider against the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke Company. The plaintiff was awarded damages for the destruction of a steamboat, subject to a question of law reserved. A crew of a boat belonging to the defendant company discovered a snag in the Allegheny river. It was then marked with buoys. Later the buoys were removed and the snag was removed by the defendant company and was dropped in deeper water. A boat owned by the plaintiff was wrecked by coming into contact with the snag, and suit followed. The court says that it is of the opinion that when the defendant company removed a snag which was marked by government officers so that navigators could avoid it, and put it into another part of the river over which boats were liable to pass at any time, and left it unmarked, such conduct was negligence. The verdict is sustained.

Family of J. B. Marcum, the Kentuckian who was assassinated. In the top row are Alfred, Nellie and Thomas Marcum, and in the lower row J. B. Marcum, Jr., Mrs. Marcum and Miss Imogene Marcum.

JUDGE REFUSES TO RELEASE JETT

Prosecution Given Until June 4 to Implicate Him in Marcum's Death.

WITNESSES ARE ABSENT

Judge Black, Who Ordered His Arrest, Is in California—Told Others He Saw Accused Fire Fatal Shot.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]
WINCHESTER, KY., May 13.—Curtis Jett might even in this short time have been a free man had the warrant on which he is being held been supported by affidavit, as is usual in such cases.

When the habeas corpus proceedings was called for hearing by Judge Benton, B. A. Crutcher, the commonwealth's attorney representing Jailor Boon, announced that the respondent Boon was not ready for trial, because of the absence of several important witnesses, all of whom were residents of Breathitt county excepting one, J. J. C. Black, who is temporarily in the state of California, but expected to return to Kentucky by June 1. The petitioner objected to a continuance of the hearing and moved that he be discharged from the custody of the jailor, and that if that could not be that the sheriff of Clark county be directed to deliver him to the authorities of Breathitt county.

The judge in overruling the motion to discharge Jett and to direct the sheriff of Clark county to deliver him to the authorities of Breathitt county, deliverey an oral opinion which declared that before the prisoner was discharged the prosecution should have an opportunity to offer some proof of his guilt, as charged in the affidavit. Therefore he adjourned the hearing to June 4, by which time Judge Black will have returned.

Attorney Crutcher, who is representing Jailor Boon in the habeas corpus proceedings, held a consultation with the Jackson witnesses and decided from the statements made by the men from Jackson that the commonwealth of Breathitt county would have a clear case against Curtis Jett when the case was finally called to trial.

When a copy of the letter alleged to have been written by Judge Black to Judge Hargis, in which he denied that he had anything to do with swearing out the warrant for the arrest of Curtis Jett, was shown to Sam Jett and Tom Cockrill, the former said that Judge Black called him up over the 'phone from Lexington on Saturday night and told him that Tom Cockrill had sworn out a warrant for the arrest of Curt Jett at the latter place, but could not get a buggy to bring it to Winchester, and for Sam Jett to swear out a warrant at Winchester and give it to the sheriff of Clark county to serve, and that Black would make affidavit, if necessary, that he saw Curtis Jett kill Marcum.

Sam Jett further said to your correspondent that the conversation he had with Judge Black was the first intimation he had that Curtis Jett killed Jim Marcum, and that it was solely on that information that he swore out the warrant for the arrest of Jett. Tom Cockrell said also today that he was approached by Judge Black in the Phoenix hotel in Lexington about 8:30 o'clock last Saturday night, and that Black told him that he and four other men were witnesses to the killing of Marcum and that he would make affidavit to that effect of Cockrell would swear out a warrant for the arrest of the man.

"When I asked Judge Black the name of the man who killed Marcum," Cockrell said, "he replied that it was Curtis Jett and that he also knew that Jett was the man that killed Jim Cockrell. Acting on the advice of Judge Black I immediately secured a warrant for the arrest of Curtis Jett and later found that I could not secure a buggy to drive to Winchester with the warrant. Judge Black then telephoned to Sam Jett at Winchester and told him the same thing he had told me, and asked Sam Jett to secure a warrant for his arrest at Winchester, which he did and placed it in the hands of Sheriff McChord."

Big Fire in Montooth Borough.

The home of James Fisher at Lincoln and Gearing avenues, Montooth borough, and that of John Wisiniski, next door, were destroyed by fire yesterday morning, while the homes of William Johnston and Joseph Wynn, adjoining, were badly damaged by the blaze. The total loss is estimated at $7,000. No. 11 engine company was called to the fire and managed to save the Johnston and Wynn houses, after laying 1,800 feet of hose. It is alleged the blaze was caused by a rubbish pile in the Fisher cellar taking fire.

Explosion Burns Girl and House.

Verna Wells, 15 years old, colored, was badly burned in a gasoline explosion which also set fire to the millinery store of Miss Amelia Trimble, at State and Mulberry alley, Greensopolis, Tuesday night. The Wells family lost all their furniture and Miss Trimble considerable stock. The loss is placed at $500. The Wells girl will recover.

MINTO CHEERED BY AMERICANS

Governor-General of Canada Given a Warm Reception in Detroit.

HE SALUTED TORN FLAG

Distinguished Visitor and His Wife Much Pleased With Ovation Tendered Them on Soil of the United States.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]
DETROIT, MICH., May 12.—For two hours this evening Lord Minto, governor-general of Canada, Lady Minto and Lady Eileen Elliott, their daughter, accompanied by Maj. Maude and Capt. Graham, the governor-general's aides-de-camp, were the guests of the city of Detroit. Thousands of people enthusiastically cheered the governor-general and his party as they drove through the streets from the ferry landing to the Russell house, where a reception was held at the close of which the distinguished visitors were tendered a luncheon.

Lord Minto and his party, who arived in Windsor this afternoon, crossed the river on Col. F. J. Hecker's yacht, the Vita. Mayor Maybury and a reception committee from Detroit met them as they stepped aboard the yacht at Windsor. The Vita landed the party at the foot of Woodward avenue, which had been roped off by the police for half a mile. Four companies of the First United States infantry, which has just returned from the Philippines, under the command of Capt. George H. Bell; seven companies of the First regiment, Michigan national guard, and two divisions of the Michigan naval reserves were lined up on Woodward avenue to act as the governor-general's escort on his drive through the downtown section of the city.

The party immediately entered carriages and, amid the cheers of thousands of American citizens, the drive was begun. Hundreds of American and British flags decorated the buildings along the route traversed by Lord Minto, who was visibly pleased by the splendid reception given him.

The line of march led to Woodward and Adams avenues and thence down Woodward avenue to the Russell house. At Grand River and Woodward avenues the military escort came to company front and stood at salute as Lord Minto drove by reviewing them. The "Fighting First" made a magnificent appearance in their khaki uniforms as Canada's governor general drove slowly by them and saluted their torn flag. The bands played "God Save the King" during the review. The officers of the First infantry were presented to Lord Minto at the Russell house after the luncheon, their business-like khaki uniforms making a striking contrast to the scarlet coats of the escort from the Twenty-first Essex Fusiliers which accompanied Lord Minto from Windsor.

It was nearly 8:30 o'clock when the Canadian visitors again drove to the ferry and boarded the Vita for the return trip to Canada. Lord Minto and Lady Minto, too, expressed themselves as very greatly pleased at the warmth of their reception, which, they said, had never been exceeded in a Canadian city.

ALL CASES ARE MILD.

Considerable Sickness and Some Contagion on Board Training Ships.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—The secretary of the navy has received the following telegram from the commandant of the Norfolk navy yard, in regard to the sickness on receiving ships there:

"Sanitary conditions today favorable. Only one new case suspected contagious disease; diphtheria. Man recently transferred from the Minneapolis."

Mild cases of other sickness are reported from the training station on Narragansett bay, the Brooklyn navy yard, the League Island navy yard, the Norfolk navy yard, and the San Francisco training station. Tents to accommodate the men who have been quartered on receiving ships have been erected at Narragansett bay, League Island and Norfolk.

The recruits from the training station at San Francisco have been transferred to the quarantine station on Angel island while their barracks are being fumigated.

JEALOUS OFFICERS OF ARMY START NEW MILITARY ORDER

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 13.—The army officers in Washington and those who are here attending the meeting of the general staff, at the Army and Navy club, perfected the organization of a branch of the "Military Order of the Carabao." Gen. Chaffee is to be the head of the organization in the United States.

The parent order was organized at Manila and is composed of officers who served in the Philippines during the fighting period. Any officer is eligible who was there previous to July 4, 1902, the date when President Roosevelt declared peace restored in the islands.

After the Chinese expedition the officers which composed it were nearly all sent to Manila and they organized the "Military Order of the Dragon," to denote Chinese service. There was some jealousy evinced by those officers who did not get an opportunity to participate in the Chinese campaign, and some of them organized the Carabao society.

cost to operate it from $55,000 to $60,000, or between two and three times any possible income from the investment of the whole endowment provided in the will. From other authoritative sources your committee has been informed it will cost from $65,000 to $70,000 to operate this hospital.

It will thus be seen that to supply the deficit caused by the absence of the income on the $250,000 endowment fund would be easy, but, to supply funds with which to operate the present hospital building will be an undertaking of great magnitude.

The present hospital can never be operated as a free institution from the income derived from the whole endowment in the will. Only by diverting that income from the expressed purpose provided in the will can a fund be created to produce an income sufficient to pay all the expenses of operation, and, before that time can possibly arrive, the present building and its furnishment will not only be out of date, but practically useless. There is no court in the land which will construe the provisions of this will to bring about such a result.

It is claimed that the words, "It is my desire that said hospital shall be under the fostering care of the Protestant Episcopal church in the diocese of Pittsburgh," confer no legal rights or powers on this convention to in any way question, control or interfere with art action or non-action of the board of trustees or directors in the management and operation of the hospital.

In brief, the corporation and its officers maintain that the legal status of the hospital is entirely separate and not under the control or direction of this convention in any way.

Your committee, therefore, recommends:

First—That this convention refuse in future to receive or publish any reports of the hospital, and

Second—That the convention and standing committee refuse in future to fill any vacancies whatever on the board.

THE MOTION WAS LOST.

A motion was made to refuse to publish any more reports of the hospital and another to refuse to point anyone to any vacancies that may occur in the boards. The Rev. G. L. Eberhardt spoke of the hospital and how it was given to the care of the diocese of Pittsburgh.

"What would Mr. Schoenberger say if were here now?" said he. "He would doubtless say 'you have not kept the promises of my will.' Such an institution as this is needed in a community like this, with all the industries we have and think of the many people who are daily maimed in them.

"This hospital should by all means be opened, as it could do good for centuries to come and we should all give it very serious thought."

Several other delegates spoke for the opening of the institution and several against it, and A. M. Imbrie, secretary of the hospital committee, said it could not possibly be opened on account of lack of funds. He said all the money left was in the hands of a corporation known as the St. Margaret's hospital, and that the convention had no power or control over these funds.

The report of the board of trustees was asked to be read, but William McConway, a member of the board, said that the reports had been read and thoroughly discussed and that it was no use to go over it all again. It was decided to read the financial report of the board. The hospital has on hand $400,000, within $44,000 of the amount provided for in Mr. Schoenberger's will. The building cost $328,684.10, or $78,684.10 more than the maximum amount provided for in the will. It is estimated that it will cost from $55,000 to $60,000 to operate the hospital, which is almost three times the income from any investment of the endowment fund.

Mr. Imbrie said the institution could be operated on $55,000 a year and he would be willing to open it with this amount, but, he said, a committee was formed at last year's convention to raise this amount by popular subscription for five years, but this committee was never again heard from.

"I have done my best and the other members have done theirs and for this we have been accused of not attending to our duty. We cannot do the impossible and anyone who thinks it can be accomplished can take my place on the board. I will hand in my resignation at any time. We can do nothing, as the will of Mr. Shoenberger says the property can never be mortgaged and we can raise money in no other way. I will furthermore say that I for one, will not open the institution and depend on Providence to keep it."

Mr. McConway said the money could not come from the diocese. At times the congregations are pinched to keep their churches open and nearly all are in debt.

When the vote was taken on the two motions pending—to stop further reading of hospital board reports and to refuse to fill any vacancies on the board—both were defeated.

Bishop Whitehead's report on the diocesean mission showed them to be in good condition. Arch Deacon L. F. Cole made a report on the work in the new towns along the Monongahela river and in the coal fields. The outlook is good, but more ministers are needed. The report of Turner W. Shacklett, treasurer of the diocese, showed an increase of $200 over last year. He was re-elected. The Rev. Dr. Rambo was elected doctor of Kenyon college and the Rev. Dr. Spaulding delegate to the missionary council to be held in Washington, D. C., next October.

HORRIBLE DETAILS OF JEWISH MASSACRE

Spikes Were Driven Through a Woman's Head—Other Cases of Bodily Mutilation.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]
ST. PETERSBURG, May 12.—Additional details of the Kishineff massacre of Jews are printed here daily. The correspondents give the number of victims thus far buried in the Jewish cemetery at 44, and say that 84 persons seriously wounded are still in a Jewish hospital.

The horrors reported scarcely bear repetition. In one instance spikes were driven through a woman's head into the floor and cases of bodily mutilation have been authenticated. About 800 to 1,000 persons were arrested, an energetic official having been sent from Odessa to deal with the situation. The apathy of the local authorities during the two days of rapine and murder appears to have been fully established.

SMALLPOX INVADES BIG SCHOOL ROOM

The families of about 50 pupils of the Second ward school, Wilkinsburg, are considerably stirred up over the discovery yesterday morning that Miss Mary Fowler of No. 1314 Coal street, Wilkinsburg, a teacher in the Second ward school, is suffering with smallpox. It is said Miss Fowler has been ill for several days past, but continued to hold classes. All the children under her care have been excused from attending school, and the whole building will be fumigated.

a stitch, a twitch, or crick in the back will strike you. The aches and pains of a bad back strikes at any time. Kidneys will go wrong, and when the kidneys fail the back generally fails, too. Backache comes to the busy man, to the mechanic, the laborer, to women, old and young; to all who have sick kidneys, and kidneys are no respecter of persons, time or place, they will get sick when you overtax them.

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS.

CURE all kidney complications. Backache pains and the early symptoms are readily relieved with a few doses. Continual use of this greastest of kidney specifics, rights all resultant conditions of deranged kidneys and bladder, such as impure blood, rheumatic pains, headaches, sleeplessness, nervous troubles, inflammatory conditions of the kidneys and bladder. Dangerous neglect of any kidney sickness leads to a score or more of serious bodily ills, that once they have a hold on the system, 'tis one long drawn out struggle to get rid of them—to get well. One remedy will do this, and it is easy for you to prove its merit.

PITTSBURGH TESTIMONY.

CAMP STREET.

"I met with an accident several years ago," he said a few days ago, "and my kidneys seemed to be affected at once. The pain was right across the small of my back, and was often so severe that when I sat down I could not rise without help. I was forced to lie on one side in bed, and the slightest movement caused me pain. I tried porous plasters without end, but had no relief. Latterly I had a great deal of trouble with my urine. It was painful and unnatural in color; in fact, my whole system was out of tune. Hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a box at Fleming's drug store and began using them. The result has been marvelous. The pain and urinary troubles have all gone, my general health is improved, and I feel like a new man all over. I can heartily recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. C. Schwer, Camp street, Pittsburgh."

SEVENTH AVENUE.

Mrs. William Armour, who has a grocery store at No. 528 Seventh avenue, suffered for several years with kidney troubles and would have been suffering yet had it not been for the work of "The Little Conqueror." "It began with a pain across the small of my back," she says, "and gradually grew worse until I was scarcely able to go about my work. A friend advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills, and I got a box at Eggers' drug store. The first few doses helped me wonderfully and before the box was finished I was completely cured. I was so rejoiced that I sent a box to my sister, who lives in Leechburg, and who has suffered a great deal from kidney trouble. She was as greatly benefited as I was, and never gets tired of talking of the wonderful merits of Doan's Kidney Pills."

WORKING HARD FOR SEMINARY

Washington, Pa., Wants Western Theological Institution to Move There.

OFFERS LAND AND CASH

Prominent Citizens Tell Why the College Town Should Have the School —Trustees of Different Minds on the Subject.

The talk of removing the Western Theological seminary from Allegheny has stirred the citizens of Washington, Pa., to efforts to have the seminary located there. Already free sites are offered and cash inducements to make the change will be offered. E. E. Acheson of Washington, a nephew of the Hon. M. W. Acheson of this city, said yesterday that the East Side Land Company, of which he is president, will donate 10 acres of land to the seminary for a site for the buildings. Verner Clark, another officer of the company, says that the citizens of Washington are enthusiastic over the proposed removal and will take up a public subscription as a further inducement to the seminary to make the change.

Mr. Clark said:

"The trustees of the seminary can have a choice of two of the most delightful sites in or about the town. There is Thornbycrafe, a beautiful plot on South Main street, and there is the old Wells farm, an ideal place for such an institution. They can have either of these. We will give them 10 acres in fee simple in either of those places."

The reasons why the seminary should be located in Washington were carefully stated by Mr. Acheson. "Washington," he says, "is the natural place for the seminary. This is an educational center. The atmosphere is stimulating to the intellectual life. Here is Washington and Jefferson college, the oldest educational institution this side of the Alleghanies. Washington and Jefferson has been and will always be the main feeder of the seminary. Several of the trustees of the seminary have their homes here. This whole community was originally settled by Presbyterians. There are four Presbyterian churches in the town. The surrounding country is solidly Presbyterian. Here is the Washington Female college, established in 1834. It has 180 students and had to turn some away this year for lack of room. This will be greatly enlarged. There are two business colleges here. One has 200 students. The other is growing rapidly. There is Trinity hall, established by W. W. Smith, cousin of Gen. Grant. It is the highest grade academy for boys in the state. Forty acres of ground, studded with ornamental trees, surround this academy.

"The town has had no license since 1867. The sentiment is dead against the saloon. The town has made the most rapid material advancement of any town in the state. It is underlaid, according to the geological survey, with the finest bed of bituminous coal in the world. Washington has an elevation of 1,000 feet, has the finest water in the country."

President J. D. Moffat of Washington and Jefferson returned from a tour of the Pacific coast, and said he had to catch up with events. He is heartily in favor of the proposed change. He said there were no legal barriers to prevent it. The present buildings of the seminary are old and shabby. The time has come for the seminary to beat an advance.

The initial move to locate the seminary at Washington was suggested by prominent Pittsburgh pastors—Dr. Richard Holmes, Dr. W. L. McEwan, Dr. H. L. McClelland and Dr. W. S. Fulton favor it. Allegheny does not want it—in fact, does not appreciate it. The land the buildings are now on is wanted by the city. They must be moved. Washington will likely be their destination.

Both the board of trustees and directors have already officially favored a change of location.

The officers of the seminary are very taciturn about the movement. D. McK. Lloyd, treasurer of the board, admitted that the matter had been considered and referred to Dr. W. J. Holland for investigation and recommendation. Dr. Holland, at the Carnegie museum, pulled down his eyebrows and in his characteristic way exclaimed: "It is all rot. There is no truth in it. I doubt if the seminary could legally move out of the city of Allegheny, to say nothing of the county. There are a lot of superserviceable people running around and talking about what only exists in their imagination."

Dr. Moffat says, however, that he has carefully examined into the title and there is absolutely no bar to removal, while Dr. Holland says that the articles of incorporation are inhibitory.

NEW STYLE STEAMBOAT PLEASES NAVAL OFFICERS

Builder Ward Finds That Opposition to the Vessel Is Fading Away.

A gentleman in this city has received a letter from Charles Ward, the builder of the new type, low-river steamboat Joseph Rumsey, and the inventor of the water tube boiler, now used in all the navies of the world. Mr. Ward says he has arrived home from New York and is anxious to know if his reply to the challenge of Messrs. Rodgers and Rees has ever been alluded to by the papers which made so much of the challenge. He also refers to statements about the Rumsey made by Capts. Moren and McFeeters, and wonders if the Sprague had been judged by its first effort what the report would have been. He says:

"I understand the government officers are much pleased, now, with the Rumsey, even the captain who did his best to turn her down." He encloses a book of clippings to show that the water tube boiler met fiercer opposition when introduced than is now shown against the new type steamboat.

Mr. Ward's correspondent has written to inform him that The Gazette has been the only paper in the city fair enough to print the challenge of Messrs. Rodgers and Rees and also the reply of Mr. Ward showing why the contest could not come off. Incidentally it is learned Mr. Ward has sent to the Marine Engineers' association here a corrected description of the Lane and Rumsey, explaining particulars and features, accompanied by an indicator card of the Lane.

VETERANS' MEMORIAL GOES TO GRAND JURY

An order was made yesterday for the submission of the petition and plans for a memorial hall to the honor of the soldiers and sailors of Allegheny county, to the March grand jury for consideration. If approved it will be the second approval by a grand jury, as required by law, before the county commissioners are empowered to purchase a site and build the memorial.

Conservative investors on the lookout for substantial securities will be glad to know of the bond offerings of the North American Savings Company, who have on sale this week $80,000.00 additional bonds of the Beaver Valley Water Company for improvements, and $100,000.00 additional bonds of the Washington & Canonsburg Railway Company for extensions.

WHEREAS—Deep in the heart of every man and woman lurks the will to own and possess a home for better, fuller enjoyment of life and its blessings; and seeing that rent-paying is a crippling, unending gulf for money, benefiting none but the landlord; and knowing, too, that fresh air, elbow room and privacy are essential to the well-being, health and moral up-building of children,

GLASSPORT STANDS OUT ALONE AND UNIQUE---THE IDEAL HOME SITE

WHEREAS—Deep in the heart of every man and woman is an aversion to solitude and a love for the outward evidences of thrift, habitation and business. KNOW, THEN, that 2,500 representative American folk inhabit 714 Glassport houses, worship in five churches, send their children to two schools, while gas, water, sewers, cemented walks, shade trees, etc., add their advantages. 2,500 other people employed at Glassport are without homes. The new addition gives the solution.

GLASSPORT IS FULL OF PROSPEROUS WORKINGMEN

WHEREAS—Six great corporate industries have invested $12,000,000 in Glassport, and so well pleased are they that $5,000,000 more are coming to keep company with the aforenamed. KNOW, TOO, that great steam and electric railways traverse Glassport, upon whose shining tracks Glassport freight and folk will pass to and fro.

GLASSPORT WILL GET BIG FINANCIAL BENEFIT BY THE WABASH R. R.

WHEREAS—Every cocoanut must have its meat. Lots in Glassport's new addition cost $100.00 upward. 5% cash payment secures one. Easy monthly payments give possession.

KING EDWARD'S SELF-ASSERTION WORRIES PARLIAMENTARY LEADERS

British Monarch's Journey to Other Lands Expected to Modify Relations.

MINISTERS ARE JEALOUS

It Was Once Supposed That the Ruler Could Not Leave His Island Kingdom Without an Act of Parliament.

By ARNOLD WHITE.
(Special Correspondence to The Gazette.)

LONDON, May 5.—A powerful group of members on both sides of the house of commons are much concerned in their minds as to what they term the unconstitutional action of the king. The foreign tour of his majesty, who is unaccompanied by a minister, is said to be modifying our relations with certain powers in many important respects. The house of commons is ignorant of what is being done. The king, of course, has no power to make treaties or to conclude agreements. Understandings, however, may be arrived at, and probably are being arrived at, which will pledge the country and determine its policy for years to come. It is not suggested that the understandings or arrangements effected by his majesty are not good arrangements, but it is clear that they are outside the sphere of ministerial responsibility. The concern of the powerful group of members to which I have referred is not in reference to any action of the king; it is directed solely against ministers who have acquiesced in the unconstitutional position in which they find themselves. To use the language of one of my informants, himself a profound student of foreign affairs, "there is not one man in the cabinet who dare stand up to the king." The interesting conclusion is that as regards certain measures of high policy we are today governed by an absolute monarch who has had the ability and the resolution to divest himself of the check prescribed by the constitution as established in the legislation that embodied the principles of the revolution of 1688. On the whole, the nation likes this self-assertion on the part of the king. They know that whether wise or otherwise his majesty has no interest to serve but the interest of the nation, and they know further that electoral contingencies have no influence upon his majesty's actions. The king's action makes for efficiency.

The position is an interesting one. The group of members referred to take exception to the action of the cabinet in permitting the king to visit the pope alone and to meet the French president with his ministers and the Italian king and his cabinet without the advice or presence of one of his own ministers. At one time it was held that the monarch could not leave these islands without an act of parliament. Later on Queen Victoria formed the habit of an annual sojourn in the South of Europe. She was always accompanied by a minister.

There is no doubt whatever that the king's visits to Lisbon, Gibraltar, Malta, Rome and Paris will strengthen his majesty's position and pro tanto will diminish the prestige of Mr. Balfour and Lord Lansdowne.

Having regard to the fact that the king has become his own minister in reference to important matters in foreign affairs, presumably with the advice of his imperial nephew, the kaiser, nothing would be more appropriate than that his majesty should visit Canada, and take the opportunity of a visit to Washington. Such action would seal the bond of amity which exists between the giant republic and the monarchy.

LARGEST BATTLESHIP IN WORLD LAUNCHED

LONDON, May 13.—The Commonwealth, the largest battleship afloat, was launched at Govan, on the Clyde, today. She is the first vessel of the British navy to have her 10-inch guns protected by an extended barbette, instead of by casemates. Her other armament consists of four 12-inch guns, four nine-inch guns and 24 small guns. The new battleship's speed is 18.5 knots per hour, and she will carry a crew of 755 men.

HEADS DISPLAYED ON THE WALLS OF TETUAN

Tribesmen Fight Their Way Into Heart of the City but Are Repulsed.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

MADRID, May 13.—A dispatch from Ceuta, Morocco, announces that the tribesmen who attacked Tetuan Monday were repulsed. They stubornly fought their way through the suburbs to the foot of the walls, but the imperial troops eventually regained their lost positions and drove off the rebels with heavy losses on both sides.

A later dispatch from Ceuta says a courier who has arrived there by sea from Tetuan states that the battle was suspended in order to allow the opposing forces to bury their dead, numbering 300. Many heads are displayed on the walls of Tetuan, which still has three days' supply of ammunition.

Advices from Tangier announce that the imperial forces have routed the rebel mountaineers near Fez, inflicting great losses on the enemy.

OBTAINED PROPERTY BY PLAYING GHOST

Court Orders Collection of Deed to Spiritualistic Medium Who Defrauded Explorer Cavendish.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, May 13.—The chancery court today ordered the cancellation of the deed by which H. S. H. Cavendish, the explorer, provided that his property should go to Mrs. Strutt, wife of Maj. C. H. Strutt, and her children, to the exclusion of the plaintiff's own wife, who was Isabel Jay, formerly leading lady of the Savoy theater.

Mr. Cavendish, in his appeal to the chancery court, charged Maj. Strutt and Mrs. Strutt with influencing him through table-turning, and claimed that Mrs. Strutt obtained the deed by pretending to be the ghost of his (the plaintiff's) mother and by representing the latter as speaking from heaven and advising him to so dispose of his property.

PENNSYLVANIAN MADE MARQUIS BY POPE

Title of Nobility Conferred on Resident of Philadelphia for Large Offerings to Church.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

ROME, May 13.—Cardinal Satolli recently applied to the pope to confer a title of nobility on Martin Malony of Philadelphia, Pa., because of his large church offerings and his efforts to further Catholicism, especially in constructing a parochial church at Trenton, N. J.

The pontiff, after receiving satisfactory information from the archbishop of Philadelphia and the bishop of Trenton, has issued a brief creating Mr. Malony a marquis.

POWERS MAY BUILD INTERNATIONAL ROAD

Negotiations to Revive Bagdad Railway Project—Objections to Germany Having Control.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

PARIS, May 13.—The Bagdad railroad project, which was recently agitated by the powers, is likely to be revived in an important new form, internationalizing a new route to India, somewhat similar to the international status of the Suez canal. It is learned that the recent negotiations on the subject were stopped because of the objection of Russia, France and Great Britain to accede to Germany's wish to have preponderating control over the route.

Overtures are now being made to remove this objectionable feature by internationalizing the route, each of the interested powers alternating in the presidency and preponderance in the directorate.

SPOKE ON LIBEL LAW.

Rev. S. Edward Young Expresses His Disapproval of the Enactment.

The Rev. S. Edward Young, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, Pittsburgh, at a mid-week meeting of the church, last night, made a speech in which he flayed the Salus-Grady libel bill, which was signed on Tuesday by Gov. Pennypacker. Mr. Young asserted that the governor had done much to win the esteem of the commonwealth, but that in signing the libel bill he has inserted an interrogation point after his good reputation. In part, he spoke as follows:

"Inasmuch as rights of free speech are still accorded a minister, it seems to me no worthier use could be made of them at this moment than to call for a campaign to wipe from the statute books of Pennsylvania the Salus-Grady libel bill, which has just become a law by gubernatorial signature. This measure will not afford the common people relief from annoying newspaper reports. Only the rich will dare undertake to sue newspapers and carry the suit all the expensive way through the courts to the court of last resort.

"Is not this a proper occasion for ministers and public-spirited citizens to begin a well-organized, relentless fight for the repeal of this unrighteous law? Candidates to the legislature should be pledged to vote for its repeal and in its stead to enact a law that will really protect the poor man from ill treatment by the public prints while not legally enthroning the public enemy in a coward's castle."

TO GRANT AN EXTENSION.

Allegheny Councils Take Action on Railway Franchises.

The corporations committee of Allegheny councils last night ordered printed the ordinances granting an extension of three years on the franchises held by the Pittsburgh Railways Company on all the streets over which the North Side and South Side, the Ridge avenue and Chartiers street, the Shady avenue and Superior avenue, and the Cedar avenue street railways companies intend to build new lines. The ordinances will be considered at the next meeting of councils and it is conceded that the extension will be granted. This means that no tracks will be laid on Ridge avenue and Chartiers street for three years at least.

President J. D. Callery of the Pittsburgh Railways Company was present at the meeting and said that the hill top lines out East street and over Spring hill are to be started soon.

VICTIM OF COCAINE TRIED HARD TO DIE

Andrew Johnson, a negro, tried to commit suicide about 3:30 p. m. yesterday at the foot of Fourteenth street, and only after a hard struggle with Officer Derlin was he overpowered and placed under arrest. He made three desperate attempts to drown himself in the Allegheny river before he was subdued. He is addicted to the cocaine habit, it is said, and the police believe him to be demented.

PITTSBURGH MAN ELECTED.

Thomas Clark Chosen for Office in Grand Court, Foresters of America.

WILMINGTON, DEL., May 13.—At this morning's session of the Grand Court of Pennsylvania, Foresters of America, 357 representatives answered to roll call with a total of 537 votes. Congratulations were received from Past Supreme Chief Ranger Thomas G. Ford of Allegheny.

The balloting for grand chief ranger and for grand financial secretary resulted in a deadlock and additional ballots will be taken tomorrow. Grand Chief Ranger Bradley withdrew from the contest for re-election. Other officers elected were:

Grand sub-chief ranger, Thomas Clark, Pittsburgh; grand recording secretary, Patrick Fitzsimmons, Scranton; grand treasurer, Frank C. S. Smyth, Philadelphia; grand senior woodward, William J. Jeffery, Philadelphia; grand junior woodward, John Turrett, Philadelphia; grand senior beadle, George P. Gregg, Philadelphia; grand junior beadle, George H. Reissner, Philadelphia; grand trustees, James Crockett, Richard Davis and C. A. Hardy, all of Philadelphia; grand auditors, T. J. Gibbons, Joseph Green and William J. Sloan, all of Philadelphia.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR ELECT OFFICERS

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., May 13.—(Special.)—The grand commandery of Knights Templars tonight elected the following officers: Grand commander, Charles Ahrens, Wheeling; deputy grand commander, George W. Cook, Grafton; grand generalissimo, S. N. Myers, Martinsburg; grand captain, Gen. W. J. Sowland, Fairmont; grand senior warden, Joseph Ruffner, Charleston; grand junior warden, W. W. White, Welch; grand treasurer, D. W. Emmons, Huntington; grand recorder, R. C. Dunnington, Fairmont; grand prelate, C. H. Maloney, Wheeling; grand standard bearer, C. H. Brown, Charleston; grand sword bearer, W. T. Rittenhouse, Parkersburg; grand warden, W. B. Baguley, Wheeling; grand captain of the guard, E. O. Bower, Sistersville.

RAINEY HOON LOST INSANE PRISONER

Sheriff Rainey Hoon of Biddle fame, and deputy sheriff of Butler county, arrived in Allegheny last evening, having in charge an insane man whom he was taking to the Dixmont asylum. Joseph McNaugher, a real estate agent on North Diamond street, is a friend of the sheriff, and the latter decided to go to his office and write a few letters before taking his charge to Dixmont. While Hoon was writing the insane man decided to take a walk and about the time the officer got through his man disappeared. The sheriff became very excited and when he notified the Allegheny police, he had forgotten his prisoner's name. Hoon decided that his man had evidently returned to Butler and he left soon after to attempt to discover his whereabouts.

OBJECTS TO ALIMONY.

Charles Harper Thaw Will Fight Its Payment While Divorce Case Is Pending.

NEW YORK, May 13.—(Special.)—Charles Harper Thaw, who is styled an actor because he held a minor part in "Liberty Bells" a few years ago, today made known his intention, through his attorneys, of being relieved of an order of the supreme court which was granted a year ago, ordering him to pay to his wife, Euphonia Jeanette Thaw, whose stage name is Frances Rush, $30 alimony during an action which he brought for a divorce.

His marriage occurred in 1901, and in his complaint he charges misconduct. She denies his accusations, and also says that she had sued him in Chicago before he brought his action here.

Mr. Thaw says when she made her application for alimony he was unable to oppose it for the reason that he was touring the country, and he now seeks to be heard, saying he can present circumstances to show that he should not be required to pay her any alimony at all.

Mrs. Thaw says her husband has neglected to pay her the alimony, and she will ask the court to compel him to show cause why he should not be punished for his failure to do so. He is said to be living at the Dakota apartment house with his mother.

PALMA RESCINDS TAXES.

Assessments Levied by Various Provinces Are Suspended by the President of Cuba.

HAVANA, May 13.—President Palma has suspended the entire list of taxes enacted by the provincial council of Puerto Principe. These include taxes on property, annuities, timber cutting, meat and a percentage on the salaries of all public officials. The president gave as a reason for his action that each of these taxes was either unjust or illegal.

President Palma also suspended the tax of 10 cents levied by the provincial authorties of Santa Clara on every pair of imported shoes, on the ground that the taxation of imports is a function of the general government.

The suspension of the Havana provincial tax on patent medicines has about expired and the druggists of Havana are preparing to renew the fight for the rescindment of the tax.

GRADUATES ANNOUNCED.

List of Johnstown High School Pupils to Receive Diplomas.

JOHNSTOWN, PA., May 13.—(Special.)—At chapel in the high school this morning Prof. William F. Long, the principal, announced the following graduates of the class of 1903: Elda Ankeny, Jessie Beem, Mary Bowman, Kathryn Boyle, Zenaida Caddy, Floy Cameron, Jessie Canan, Frank Clark, Jessie Cooper, Zengie Dawson, Lulu Drebes, Blanche Dunham, Maude Dunham, Sallie Edwards, Martha Ellenberger, Robert Gardner, Florence Cocher, Frank Horan, Bertha Harris, Lillie Harrie, Genevieve James, Vera Miller, Earl Ogle, Olive Otto, Philip Price, Roy Replogle, Horace Reighart, Lloyd Sell, Robert Shyrock, Jessie Smith and Edward Zimmerman.

DOES NOT THINK MARROQUIN IS OUT

WASHINGTON, May 13.—"I doubt very much if President Marroquin has resigned as president of the Colombian government," said Dr. Herran, the Colombian charge d'affaires, today. "I always have been promptly advised by cable of any cabinet changes, and especially when such changes affected the offices of foreign affairs. Neither the state department nor the legation has received confirmation of the reported resignation, therefore it does not seem reasonable."

LIFE'S CHARM GONE, HE TRIES SUICIDE

William Albers, 30 years old, who says his home is in Pittsburgh, is alleged to have tried to commit suicide three different times last night by throwing himself in front of a traction car in Sharpsburg. Each time he threw himself before the car the motorman was able to stop the car before it hit Albers. Albers when arrested said he wanted to kill himself because life had lost its charm for him.

Widener Sails for Europe.

NEW YORK, May 13.—On the steamer Philadelphia of the American line, which sailed today for Southampton, were P. A. B. Widener of Philadelphia, Gen. A. W. Greeley and Mrs. Langtry, the actress.

BEEF TRUSTS FIGHT.

Trying to Prevent Independent Butchers to Build Abattoir in Chicago.

NEW YORK, May 13.—(Special.)—The beef trust does not intend to give up without a struggle. Two weeks ago the legislature passed a law which will allow independent butchers to build an abattoir at Thirty-ninth street and Eleventh avenue.

A year ago the beef trust applied to the health department of this city for a permit for the First avenue plant, and it was coldly turned down. Accordingly application has just been made to the board of health to give Swift & Co. permission to build a slaughter house in the block they own between Thirty-fourth and Thirty-fifth streets, fronting on First avenue.

It is hoped either to obtain this permit, or, in the complications that may arise upon its refusal, to block further efforts of the New York Retail Butchers' Company to build their abattoir on the west side.

HELD FOR FORGERY.

Minister's Son Is Charged With Signing Father's Name to Checks.

NEW YORK, May 13.—Philip L. Germond, 23 years old, has been brought to this city from Wilkesbarre, Pa., where he was arrested yesterday, to be arraigned on a charge of passing forged checks. Police Inspector McCluskey says Germond is the son of the Rev. Dr. Philip Germond, pastor of the Chelsea Methodist Episcopal church of this city. The inspector alleges that Germond, traveling with his wife, would stop at the best hotels and tender large checks in payment for small bills, pocket the difference and quit the city. Since December last Germond is said to have passed checks at St. Louis, Denver, Fulton, Neb., Washington, D. C., and Hartford, Conn.

Germond was arraigned and held to plead to an indictment accusing him of forging the signature of his father to a check for $150 and passing it upon a drygoods firm.

MAY AVERT STRIKE ON GREAT NORTHERN

ST. PAUL, May 13.—No strike was declared on the Great Northern railway tonight, and affairs have assumed a much more encouraging aspect. Negotiations between the committee representing the men and the officials of the road, which were broken off on Tuesday, have been renewed, and the outlook tonight is for an amicable settlement.

Colored Templars Gather.

Almost 400 delegates to the twenty-first annual convention of the grand conclave of the Grand Commandery, colored Knights Templar of Pennsylvania, arrived in this city yesterday and during the afternoon paraded through the principal streets of Pittsburgh and Allegheny. The first meeting will be held this afternoon in Green's hall in Roberts street. The delegates were taken on a river excursion last night.

Cattle Stampede in Brooklyn.

NEW YORK, May 13.—(Special.)—In a stampede of cattle at Hudson avenue and York street, Brooklyn, tonight, a bull broke away from the drovers and dashed through the streets, knocking down and injuring Mrs. Donnelly, Katie McKay and Mamie Sweeney. The bull was at liberty for half an hour.

Machinists Want Nine-Hour Day.

MILWAUKEE, WIS., May 13.—The International Association of Machinists today took decisive action leading to a straight nine-hour day in place of 54 or 55 hours per week, which rule applies in many of the shops throughout the country. It was also decided unanimously to abolish the system of piece work commencing with July 1, 1904.

Woman Cut in Two.

WILLIAMSPORT, May 13.—When northbound freight No. 93, on the Northern Central railroad, stopped to take water at Trout Run, 14 miles above this city tonight, Mrs. Mary Miller of that place attempted to crawl under the cars, but the train started and she was cut in twain.

Gans Defeats Tracy.

TO AID RUSSIAN JEWS.

Mass Meeting to Be Held in Cincinnati to Protest Against Persecution.

CINCINNATI, May 13.—(Special.)—Representatives of the Jewish Socialist party of Cincinnati received a telegram today from the editor of the New York Hebrew paper, Forward, authorizing its members to collect funds for needy Jews in Russia who have suffered at the hands of the persecutors. Nichola Klein of 10 West Pearl street, has the matter in charge.

A movement is on foot in this city to hold a mass meeting to protest against the persecution of the Jews in Russia. Rabbis Grossman and Philipson of the two leading Jewish congregations of Cincinnati, today made the statement that an organized effort to bring influence to bear on the government to make some declaration is being matured.

The leaders in this movement are not confined to those of the Jewish race or faith.

LOCAL CHURCHES HEPLED.

Western Pennsylvania Christian Missionary Society in Session at Johnstown.

JOHNSTOWN, PA., May 13.—(Special.)—The semi-annual convention of the Western Pennsylvania Christian Missionary society and the Christian Women's board of missions is in session in the First Christian church here. There are almost 200 delegates in attendance.

A report of the financial secretary was read by J. A. Joyce and the president reported the standing of the treasury. The following places were helped by the board: Elwood City, Wilkinsburg, McKees Rocks, Squirrel Hill, Turtle Creek, Homestead, Indiana, Monessen, Scottdale, Greensburg and Johnstown's Second church.

DRIVERS ON STRIKE DURING A FUNERAL

TOLEDO, May 13.—During the funeral services over the remains of Mrs. Mary Kamm the drivers of hacks struck and refused to work because the hearse was driven by a non-union man. The officiating undertakers filled the strikers' places just in time to prevent a scene, as the casket containing the remains was being taken to the hearse just as the affair was straightened.

Wants Postoffice Abolished.

BALTIMORE, May 13.—William H. Jackson, Republican, member of congress from the First Maryland district, announced today that he will ask for the discontinuance of the postoffice at Quindocquin, in Somerset county, to which Andrew J. Day, a negro, was recently appointed, because it is unnecessary and because Day is not a proper person to hold such an office.

THE RECENT FIGHT IN VENEZUELA.

COMPARED WITH OTHER ATTACKS.

The twentieth century will do a great deal more for mankind by discovering new methods to kill bacteria (the disease-carrying germs which get into the blood), than by inventing new methods of warfare between human beings. In warfare, as in business, one must have pure rich, red blood to be courageous. A leading pathologist of America says: "Within the blood and body are wonderful bacteria fighting hostile invaders and foreshadowing the marvelous results that follow greater knowledge." "It is a fact," says Dr. Pierce, "that the red blood corpuscles are the soldiers within the body which protect us from the outward attack of the invisible enemy. "Our enemies are in the shape of disease-bringing bacteria, such as the germs of catarrh, consumption, grip and malaria. If the blood is in a healthy state there are five million of these little red corpuscles to each cubic millimeter of blood that are fighting all the time for the health and well being of every person. The problem of medicine to-day is to find out more about them, but all we know is that we must keep these active agents for help in the best possible condition, and one's health depends upon how well one has preserved these good forces by right living and the proper treatment in illness. Weakness, feeling of nervous exhaustion and colds are the warning signals that the blood is not in proper condition. The careless person takes risks which are dangerous, just as a general who would weaken his army by unnecessary and indecisive battles. When the time comes he would not have his proper strength either for fighting or for defense.

Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y., after years of experience in purifying the blood and putting the system in the right physical condition to defend itself from the attack of the germs of disease, discovered a medicine made entirely of roots and herbs, without the use of alcohol, that made rich red blood, and this medicine has been given to the public and can be obtained from any dealer in medicines in this country. It assists the stomach in taking from the food such elements as are necessary to feed the blood. This assimilation helps in the oxidation of the red blood corpuscles, the liver is stimulated into greater activity, and in consequence the poisons in the system are eliminated, the heart gets the right kind of blood and the person feels invigorated and stronger. As a tissue-builder it is far preferable to cod liver oil because it gives the blood and the tissues the food elements they require and maintains a person's equilibrium by enabling him to eat, retain, digest and assimilate nutritious food. It overcomes gastric irritability and symptoms of indigestion. Because of the good effects of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery upon nutrition the tissues are built up and the symptoms of catarrh, consumption, weakness or debility, such as fever, night-sweats, headaches, etc., are dispelled.

"It is with pleasure that I write to inform you that your medicines have saved the life of my wife, for which I feel very grateful," writes J. R. Sneed, of 816 Fairmont Street, Nashville, Tenn. "My wife's father and two uncles died from heart trouble, and she too seemed doomed to the same fate. This trouble had been coming on gradually. She would have smothering spells almost daily, and sometimes I would think she was dead. Our family physician gave us no hope. I had heard of your wonderful medicine and concluded, as a last resort, I would try it. The first three bottles did not seem to do her much good, but I insisted on her using it a while longer. She soon began to improve, and after taking twenty bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and the same quantity of his 'Favorite Prescription,' my wife was entirely cured. She only weighed 105 pounds when commencing with your medicines, and to-day tips the scale at 170 pounds. She is now healthy and happy, and says that she feels as one who has been snatched from the very jaws of death. Thanking you from the very depths of my heart for saving my wife, I hope that your life may yet be spared many years to relieve suffering humanity."

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, PA., May 13.—The Phillies and Pittsburghs indulged in an old-time slugging match today, the champions getting the most hits, but the home team secured one more run, it being 12 to 11 in their favor after two hours and a half of playing. Mingled with the terrific hitting were numerous errors and brilliant plays on both sides. At times the men played like amateurs when suddenly a brilliant play would remind the 1,800 spectators that they were witnessing a real professional contest.

Tommy Leach, the champion's star third-sacker, had an off day. His three wild throws all helped in defeating his team. But Hans Wagner again shone out brightly and his work at short simply teemed with brilliancy, while at the bat he showed the way for both teams, with three singles and a triple out of four times up. Wagner's one-handed stop of Beaty's hit over second, by which he completed a double play, electrified the crowd. It reminded them of the days of Lajoie, but the big Frenchman could not have faded the big Teuton on this play.

After running over to first to complete the double, but Bransfield pulled down the ball with his gloved hand and saved the play. Altogether it was one of the prettiest double plays seen on the local diamond for many a day. Wagner also made a wonderful stop of a hit from Hulswitt's bat in the eighth.

Mitchell pitched seven innings for 13 hits and Duggleby two for two hits. Doheny lasted five and a half innings and was hit safely 12 times, while but two hits were made off Vail. Roth was working behind the bat with a sore hand and gave way to Doolin in the seventh. Keister was put out of the game in the same inning for disputing with the umpire when called on third.

The Phillies got two in their half of the second, on a wild throw by Leach, two-bagger by Roth and Mitchell's single. Pittsburgh got the two back in the third. Wagner tripled and Mitchell and Smith each hit for two bases. Doheny was found for six consecutive hits in the fourth, which, with two wild throws by Leach and another by Wagner, gave the Phillies six runs.

Pittsburgh added another to their total in the fifth, after two were out. Leach singled and took second on Thomas' fumble. The little fellow stole third and scored on a wild throw by Roth. The score was tied the fourth when Beaumont led off with a double and came home on Sebring's single. Sebring took third on a wild pitch and counted on Wagner's hit.

Doheny was drawn off the slab in the sixth when three runs were scored on him on two hits, his own fumble of Keister's double. Wolverton cracked out a triple on Vail, which brought in Keister. Hulswitt walked and on Doolin's fly to Clarke, the latter threw Wolverton out at the plate.

It looked as though Pittsburgh would at least tie the score in the ninth when Ritchey opened with a two-bagger and Smith sacrificed him to third. Vail was called out on strikes. Beaumont drew a pass and it was up to Manager Clarke. He tried mighty hard, but got the ball into the air for a flyout to Barry. The score:

PIATT A PUZZLE.

Donovan's Men Could Do No Batting and Lost the Game.

BOSTON, May 13.—Piatt was a complete puzzle to St. Louis today. But for his wildness the visitors' score would have been much smaller. Boston batted out the game in the fourth and fifth innings, scoring six runs. Score:

WARNER'S LONG HIT.

It Brought Victory to the Giants Over the Reds in the Seventh Inning.

NEW YORK, May 13.—After yesterday's brilliant exhibition today's game between New York and Cincinnati was rather tame. The locals won through Warner's fine three-bagger in the seventh inning, which scored two men, and he followed them home on Taylor's out at first. Score:

CHICAGO STILL WINS.

Taylor Outpitched Schmidt and Won the Game.

BROOKLYN, May 13.—Chicago again defeated Brooklyn today, the score being 3 to 1. Lowe did not play, as his knee troubled him, and Evers covered second base for the visitors. Taylor's work in the box was better than Schmidt's and there was a scarcity of long hitting, all the runs being made during the first four innings. The score:

CAN'T FIND GROUNDS.

The Lacrosse Players Are in Very Hard Luck.

A general call is out for all the members of the Lacrosse league to meet at the corner of Forbes and Halket streets Thursday evening at 7:30. The lacross teams are having troubles of their own in securing a practice ground, and as the evenings are the only time they have for practice it is essential that this field be conveniently reached, but such a field seems almost impossible to secure before there has been no practice and the game with Toronto university had to be cancelled on that account.

INTERNATIONAL MEET WILL NOT TAKE PLACE

Yale Blames It on Harvard. Prof. Hollis States Crimson Side of the Matter.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, May 13.—The Oxford-Cambridge athletic authorities have received a cable message from the athletic authorities of Yale announcing that the proposed inter-university athletic contest in London during the month of July is declined, owing to Harvard's refusal to participate in it.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., May 13.—Prof. Ira Nollis of the Harvard Athletic committee, said today that it had never understood that the English universities were anxious for the American universities to meet them in track athletic contests. "We understood," he said, "that Oxford and Cambridge were willing to send us a challenge if we desired. We have never expressed a desire for an international meet this year, and we have not received an out and out challenge. It seems that a letter was received by some one in New York conveying the idea that Harvard, Princeton and Yale were willing, then the English universities would extend the challenge. We got the impression that they were not particularly anxious for the meet. We feel sure that the plan for an international meet, the Quest for the Blue, wholly on this side of the Atlantic, was proposed too late. We look upon these games merely from the point of view as to whether they promote athletics, and when an opportunity to hold athletic games comes so late in the term we usually reject it."

After saying that there was no feeling about the matter whatsoever, Prof. Hollis added that the Harvard committee wanted to be courteous to Yale, but he doubted if the statement that "there seemed little doubt that Harvard would join Yale," exactly represented the situation. He added that there was no need at all of any understanding between Harvard and Yale and the rest of the Quest for the Blue. Asked if the Harvard athletic committee had held any conference with the Yale officials, Prof. Hollis stated that there had been conferences between undergraduates but that these were unauthorized and not official. Prof. Hollis intimated that if an invitation for an international meet were extended for next year, Harvard might accept.

THE DUBOIS SHOOT.

Pittsburgh Trap Experts Made a Fine Showing—Fleming Was Third.

DUBOIS, PA., May 13.—(Special.)—The tournament given by the Interstate Trap Shooting association for the DuBois Rod and Gun club opened today. A large number of shooters are here and among them are several experts of national reputation, E. E. Fulford, exchampion wing shot of the world; Luther J. Squiers and "Jack" Hull included. Elmer E. Shaner, secretary of the association, is handling the affair.

Squiers was high gun today, with 181 kills out of the 190 targets shot at. Atkinson of New Castle carried off second honors, and Lew Fleming of the North Side Gun club, Pittsburgh, was third high man. Following is the individual score of the marksmen who shot through all of the 10 events: Atkinson, 176; Squier, 181; Fleming, 175; Kelsey, 156; Bessemer, 159; Hull, 169; Gulenkurg, 153; Jasson, 136; Fulford, 169; No. 96, 166; Sizer, 171; Wilson, 167; Nilrow, 154; Beer, 166; Burgoon, 164; Lever, 107; Nobles, 168; Dailey, 98; Quinn, 146; Kelly, 167; Wolfe, 136.

TWO STRONG TEAMS.

Cottage and P. A. C. Will Meet on Saturday.

At Friendship park Saturday P. A. C. will have as its opponents the Cottage club of Homestead. Both of these teams are extremely popular at these grounds, and was one of the very few to beat the home team twice in one season. This year Cottage has a stronger team than ever, and is now practically composed of college graduates, all of whom played on the baseball teams representing the various big colleges.

P. A. C. will have its regular team in line for this game. Mucker's hand has healed nicely, and he will be found behind the bat supporting Collins or Diebold, who are pitching a star game. Gaughn, who has been practically promoted to the first base position at shortstop, to which he has laid claim to being a fixture.

Barth Defeated Reinecke.

DUBOIS, PA., May 13.—(Special.)—Fred Barth of Kittanning defeated Charles Reinecke of Pittsburgh in a wrestling match at the Avenue theater tonight and he retains the middleweight championship of the world. Barth secured two straight falls in 27 and 28 minutes respectively, while Reinecke relied on "hammerlock and chancery" hold and the second by the "hammerlock chancery" hold. Reinecke is the championship middleweight wrestler of Pennsylvania.

Pitcher Pearson Coming Here.

Alex. Pearson, the old Homestead pitcher, has been released by the Toronto management, and yesterday Manager Risher of the Homestead team received a letter from him asking for a position on the Homestead team, and it is probable that he will join with the local team for the remainder of the season.

Royal Neighbors Increasing.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 13.—At today's session of the supreme camp of Royal Neighbors, reports were read showing the order to be in a satisfactory condition. The membership is 128,301, which is a marked increase. The total number of camps is 3,464. The total beneficiary membership is 71,335.

Child-Wife Killed Her Baby.

PETERSBURG, VA., May 13.—Mrs. Jasper F. Gwaltney, a 17-year-old wife, crazed by jealousy, today killed her nine-months-old infant with morphine and then attempted suicide by the same means. The atemp failed, and tonight she is in jail awaiting the result of the coroner's inquest.

GOVERNOR MISSES TRIP TO ST. LOUIS

Unable to Go With Pennsylvania Commission to Look Over State Site.

MAYOR MUST HAVE REST

Doctor Says Weaver's Heart Is Affected and He Is Working Too Hard—Libe ty Bell May Stay at Home.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Public Ledger Building,
PHILADELPHIA, PA., May 13.

Governor Penny packer has decided that he will be unable to go to St. Louis Saturday with the executive committee of the St. Louis Louisiana Purchase commission. The committee will inspect the site assigned for the Pennsylvania state building, and if it is not considered satisfactory an effort will be made to secure another location.

Interest of Philadelphians in the exposition is to be stimulated by a town meeting. It was the intention of Chairman Walton of the executive committee to have this meeting held next week, but the illness of Mayor Weaver, who will issue the call, may cause a postponement. A sub-committee of the executive committee will meet the mayor next Monday and arrange for the date.

Within the next two weeks every manufacturer of importance of the state will be invited to arrange for an exhibit. Much is expected from Pittsburgh business men, and there is an assurance that the iron, steel, glass and coal industries will be represented on a proper scale.

MAYOR WEAVER MUST REST

Mayor Weaver and his family left the city at 8:20 this morning for Seaside Park, N. J. There he will rest until he feels fully recovered from the weakness which caused him to faint at the Methodist Social union's banquet Monday night. Dr. John H. Musser, his physician, states that Mr. Weavar is by no means the robust man he appears to be.

"There has been a slight weakening of Mr. Weaver's heart," said the doctor, "and a rest is the best remedy."

Mrs. Weaver gave this statement: "Mr. Weaver hopes by following the advice of his physicians and remaining in a very peaceful place like Seaside Park awhile, to be able to get back to work in a few days, but he will have to cut down the amount of work he has been doing. He had a severe attack of grip two weeks ago, and he has not recovered the strength that he lost then. And, besides, he has been under a constant strain from the press of his official duties and his semi-official obligations to attend public school affairs. I think with care he will be all right in a short time."

The statement of his physicians that the mayor has heart trouble has created much concern, especially in political circles. In the event of his death, under the provisions of the Bullitt charter, the president of select council, Henry C. Hansley, would become mayor, serving until the municipal election next February.

CARNEGIE LIBRARY DISCUSSED.

The finance committee of councils this afternoon considered a communication from Mayor Weaver, in which he stated that it would cost the city $150,000 annually to maintain the 20 branch libraries to be established under the offer of $1,500,000 recently made to this city by Andrew Carnegie. This amount, the mayor stated, represented 10 per cent of the value of the gift, and it would be required to maintain the buildings after they are built and equipped.

RULINGS IN JUVENILE COURT.

Judge Bregy in the juvenile court this morning outlined what he deemed to be the jurisdiction and proper practice of the court. He said that after such a study of the law as he had been able thus far to give he had arrived at the decision that in dealing with the dependent, incorrigible and delinquent children named in the act, the court was in no wise to try them by indictment. Dependent and incorrigible children are not to be dealt with in that way, but by petition to the court.

As to delinquent children, the act, so far as he had been able to form an opinion, provided four ways in which they could be dealt with by this court. First, whenever a child has been before a magistrate charged with a crime—and by a child he meant one under 16 years of age—he would ordinarily be tried upon indictment in the old way, and this court would have no jurisdiction; but if attached to the return of the case were a certificate from the magistrate that it was not to the best interests of the child and of the commonwealth that he should be so tried, then this court could act. Second, if the child should be returned and the district attorney should append to the return a like certificate, then the court could act. Third, if upon the child being before the court of oyer and terminer or quarter sessions for trial on indictment, and the judge of that court should certify that the best interests of the child and the commonwealth required that he should not be tried in that manner, then this court could act. Fourth, if the case is presented on a simple return and goes to indictment, then a certificate by a judge or the district attorney should be attached to it, and this court could then act, and the record of this court would be that certificate.

It would seem that a form to be used in such cases could easily be formulated; but that was a matter for future consideration. In no sense would argument be heard here in such cases on the plea of innocence or guilt, as on trial on indictment, but whether the action of the court should stand as a record of conviction of a crime is also a matter for further consideration. With respect to the commitment of children to various institutions, he said that he had been informed that, unfortunately, the word "not" had been left out of the act, but as to that he had no other knowledge. In order to receive as much light as possible as to how the final orders of the court should be made under this breach of the act he had requested counsel and officers interested in such institutions to give him the benefit of their views, and on next Monday morning they would be publicly heard.

POLICEMAN RUNS AMUCK.

A drunken policeman, in full uniform, flourishing a revolver and striking men, women and children with his club, terrorized the business people and residents of Fifteenth and South streets about 11 o'clock this morning, and was responsible for an incipient riot on Rodman street between Fifteenth and Sixteenth streets.

The policeman was George J. Devinney, attached to the police station at Fifteenth and Locust streets. He was overpowered and disarmed by the other policemen, but not without making a desperate resistance, and it is probable that if the other policemen had not arrived at the time they did, that the people living in the neighborhood would have attacked him in self-protection.

OBJECTS TO BELL'S JUNKET.

Surprise was manifested today over a story to the effect that Mayor Weaver intends to veto the ordinance of councils permitting the old liberty bell to go on another junketing trip to Boston on June 17, as the feature at the one hundred and twenty-eighth anniversary celebration of the battle of Bunker Hill. It was further stated today and the information was volunteered from a reliable source, that the mayor will send a message to councils at their special meetings tomorrow, in which he will state that he does not approve of taking the old relic of liberty from its resting place in Independence hall.

At the meeting of councils held last Thursday an ordinance was approved favoring the transportation of the old bell to Boston, in deference to a request from the mayor and councils of that city that the national relic be loaned them for the Bunker Hill celebration.

Mayor Weaver is said to have remarked that the danger to the relic is always great, and as it is a priceless heirloom and rightly belongs to this city, it should not under any circumstances be subjected to dangers always imminent in railroad transit. He is assured that if the bell should meet with any accident and be damaged, the result would cause national indignation.

It also emphasizes the fact that the mayor is opposed to junkets and intends to put his foot upon such propositions from which nothing of importance to the city, state or nation would result.

WILL BE BY ACCLAMATION.

A special from Washington to an evening paper quotes Senator Quay as follows:

"The Republican state ticket in Pennsylvania this year will be nominated by acclamation. There are four offices to be filled, and but four candidates for the nomination, one for each office. The delegates are being chosen practically without opposition and from no part of the state is there reported any discord. The convention of May 27 will be a remarkably harmonious body."

"Who will be selected for state chairman?"

"Senator Penrose. All of the party leaders seem to be well pleased with the intention of having Senator Penrose manage the campaign. There will be the usual off-year majority."

The senator expects to make his headquarters here until after the state convention at least.

CHESTER D. POTTER.

BILLS VETOED BY PENNYPACKER

Governor Kills Three Measures Endorsed by the United Mine Workers.

ONE ACT IS APPROVED

Age Limit of Children Employed Around Mines Is Raised from 14 to 16 Years—Thrust at Legislature.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
HARRISBURG, PA., May 13.

Three bills advocated by the United Mine Workers were vetoed today by Gov. Pennypacker, who also signed a bill indorsed by both the miners and the anthracite coal operators. The measures which the governor vetoed are known as the Garner eight-hour bill; the Hayes bill, making 2,240 pounds the basis from which to calculate the earnings of miners, and the Garner bill to provide for the election, instead of appointment by the courts, of mine examining boards.

These three bills applied only to the anthracite regions, and at a hearing by the governor recently counsel and officials of all the leading anthracite coal companies appeared in opposition to them. The operators claimed this legislation was inconsistent with the report of the anthracite coal strike commission and in direct conflict with the state constitution.

The measure which was approved by the governor is known as the Quail bill and raises the age limit of children employed in and around the anthracite and bituminous mines from 14 to 16 years. This measure was recommended by the strike commission, and there never was any doubt of its approval by the governor.

The mine inspection bill provides a system for the selection of inspectors of coal mines in the anthracite. Among other duties of the inspectors they are directed to make inquiry into the condition of such mine or colliery workings, machinery, ventilation, drainage, methods of lighting or using lights, and into all matters and things connected with, or relating to, as well as to make suggestions providing for the health and safety of persons employed in or about the mines.

"It thus appears," says the governor, "that the mine inspectors are charged with serious and important responsibilities, and are expected to be men possessed, not merely of good judgment, but of extensive technical information. These inspectors are to be elected by the people. The people are not given the opportunity to exercise their own judgment as to the qualifications, but they are compelled to select the mine inspectors from among those who hold certificates from the mine inspectors' examining board. This board consists of five qualified voters of each election district, two of whom shall be reputable mining engineers and three of whom shall be duly qualified miners, and the board is also to be elected by the people at a general election.

"It will, therefore, be seen that the success of the system depends upon the mine inspectors' examining board, and that this board is so constituted that the majority of it shall be 'duly qualified miners.' It becomes important, therefore, to inquire what is a duly qualified miner. Under the act of May 9, 1889, pamphlet laws, 143, all persons who were actually engaged as miners at the time of its passage were entitled to registration without examination, upon producing proof that they were then employed in an anthracite mine in this commonwealth. The only necessary qualification then for the majority of the board of examiners is that they are miners who worked in any anthracite mine in 1889. What assurance is there that they possess the qualifications and the information which would enable them to properly determine the requirements necessary for a performance of the important duties imposed upon the mine inspectors?

NO TECHNICAL KNOWLEDGE.

"Their selection is to be made by the people at an election. The majority of the people, however, have no technical knowledge of mines, and are engaged in other pursuits. The selection would be likely to be made upon other considerations than those of the technical capacity of the miners. They would, in all probability, be determined by political relations, and by all these influences which affect the ordinary voter. To state the proposition is enough in itself to show that this would not be likely to result in securing competent mine inspectors.

"No one would think of determining the selection of a physician or an engineer to run a railroad train, or the occupant of any other station requiring technical information by a popular vote at an election.

"In fact, the selection of mine inspectors would seem properly to belong to the executive department of the government. Under section five the examining board is also very much restricted. It is there provided that this board, at the examination of those asking to become mine inspectors, are not to make general inquiries covering the broad scope of the duties of the inspectors, but are to ask only such questions as a good, practical miner should be able to answer. A man may be a good, practical miner and yet be entirely incapable of deciding the important questions which must be admitted to the mine inspectors."

PLAYING CERTAIN FRANKS.

"He may know little about machinery, ventilation, drainage, the method of lighting and matters which relate to the health and safety of those employed. For these reasons the bill is not approved."

"When a governor signs a bill which has been properly passed and certified to him from the legislature, it becomes a law and it is impossible to prevent its provisions from going into effect. They go into effect of course, and at once," says the governor, in vetoing the Hayes bill.

He has no objection to the stated purpose of the bill, but he does object to the provision that it shall not go into effect until 120 days after the governor shall have signed it, which he criticises as an "attempt to play certain pranks with legislation." He points out that the signing of such a piece of legislation would leave the act of 1875, which it is intended to amend, hanging in the air. "Which, is the situation of the prior act during the interval. Is it amended, or is it not?" asks the governor.

The governor finds many objections to the Garner bill prohibiting the employment of minors in or around any anthracite mine or colliery for more than eight hours in any one day. He objects to the provision against the bill going into operation before the expiration of three years as an attempt to anticipate the work of the next legislature and as legislating for the future. He also finds that the bill discriminates in favor of children employed in or about bituminous mines, saying:

"There are a number of serious objections to this bill. It does not go into effect for three years, and would, therefore, seem to be legislation for the future rather than for the present. It is limited to the employment of children in anthracite coal mines. There is always more or less competition between the miners of anthracite and the miners of bituminous coal, and if it became a law it would appear to give to the miners of the bituminous coal an undue advantage. There is no definition of what constitutes labor around a coal mine or colliery.

THEY CAN CARRY MEALS.

"There may be some kinds of employment around a coal mine which would be in no way injurious to children and subject them to no danger; as, for instance the carrying of their meals to those employed about the mines. The bill is to be enforced by the chief of the bureau of mines and mining of this commonwealth, who, in the event of a violation of its provisions, is to bring suit against the employer of the miner.

"The act creating the bureau of mines was repealed by the act approved April 14, 1903, and there is now no chief of the bureau of mines and mining, and probably will be none when this bill is intended to go into effect.

"The bill further provides that, in the event of the chief of the bureau of mines and mining failing to institute suit against the party offending, it shall be the right of any citizen to institute a suit in the name of the commonwealth, 'provided, however, that if any citizen or citizens shall institute suit as provided for in this section, the citizen or citizens so instituting said suit shall be liable for the costs of said suit.'

"The wisdom of permitting any individual to use the name of the commonwealth in bringing suit is at least doubtful, but if he should be permitted so to sue there seems to be no propriety in imposing upon him the costs in the event that he recovers judgment."

MANY CRIMES CHARGED.

Man Arrested for Attempted Robbery Is Said to Have Committed Murder.

NEWARK, N. J., May 13.—A man calling himself Paul Adams of California is under arrest here charged with attempting to rob a safe in a jewelry store in this city. New York detectives have identified him as George Shea, who, on January 27, 1899, stole $10,000 from the Metropolitan National bank in Boston, and who served two and a half years for the robbery. He is also wanted in Chicago, the police say, for an $8,000 diamond robbery, and is under $25,000 bail for complicity in a murder committed there in April last.

CHICAGO, May 13.—Paul Adams, known to the police here as Phil Bailey, was held to the criminal court by the grand jury for the murder of W. B. Tracey in a saloon fight a month ago, and was released on bail pending his trial. Prior to the commission of that crime he was implicated with a man known as William Gilhooley in the robbery of a jewelry establishment in the Masonic temple to the extent of $8,000. In that case Adams' attorney, by restoring the stolen goods, secured a non-suit.

MAY SETTLE THE STRIKE.

Conference Will Be Held at Erie to Adjust Painters' Trouble.

An effort will be made today to settle the strike of painters at Erie, which has been on since April 1. Local 549, at Erie, came out. They were getting $2.25 and want $2.70.

Frank Smith, business agent of the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of America, left last night for Erie. He will hold a conference with the Henry Shenk Company and other firms to try to have the strike compromised. The painters at Erie has not received an advance for three years and they declare they are justly entitled to all they are asking.

Forest Fires in New York.

UTICA, N. Y., May 13.—Reports from the Adirondacks today indicate that the gravest danger exists to several large tracts, on account of forest fires. The rains reported several days ago were only effective in scattered localities. Near the upper lake several serious fires are raging. Gangs of men are doing their best to control the flames, but the woods are so dry that their efforts have little effect.

Robbed by Masked Men.

MONROE, MICH., May 13.—Three masked men battered in the door of Laurence Gregory's home, five miles northeast of here, last midnight, bound Gregory and then robbed him of $56, a certificate of deposit for $20 and a check for $240. Gregory, who is a bachelor, aged 60, lived alone in the house.

More Pay for Postmasters.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 13.—(Special.)—The following Pennsylvania postmasters' salaries have been readjusted: Latrobe, $2,200 to $2,800; Ligonier, $1,200 to $1,400; Homestead, $2,400 to $2,500; Houtzdale, $1,400 to $1,500; Jamestown, $1,100 to $1,200; Kittanning, $2,300 to $2,400; Linesville, $1,100 to $1,200.

CABLE BRIEFS.

BERLIN—About 9,000 emigrants arrived at Hamburg this week for transportation to the United States.

PARIS—French imports for the past four months increased $11,965,000 and the exports increased $2,503,000.

ROSTOFF-ON-THE-DON, RUSSIA — The Social Democrats are doing their utmost to induce the public to co-operate in starting disturbances on Labor day. The agitators are alleged to possess arms and boxes of dynamite.

HER HEART RUPTURED.

Coroner of Cleveland Finds No Carbolic Acid in Ona Mason's Stomach.

CLEVELAND, May 13.—(Special)—Instead of committing suicide, as reported, Ona Mason, aged 13, of President street, died of rupture of the heart, according to Coroner Burke's verdict.

Coroner Burke found that the heart had been ruptured in 10 different places. It was supposed that the girl drank carbolic acid. Even her parents suspected that she had done this, after a quarrel with her sister. Not a drop of poison was found in her stomach at the autopsy.

"It is one of the most peculiar cases that I have ever seen," said Dr. Burke. "Out of 3,000 autopsies there have been but 17 of a similar nature."

The coroner is of the opinion that there was an unusual strain or the girl might have been greatly excited just previous to the rupture.

NATIONAL CAPITAL NOTES.

Acting Secretary Darling instructed the cruiser Olympia, which has been ordered to Santiago, Cuba, to proceed to Port-au-Prince to report on conditions in Hayti.

The following fourth-class postmasters were appointed: Raisinger, Fayette, Z. T. Poundstone; Camden, Allegheny, O. A. Parker; Gill Hall, Allegheny, Joseph Edward Huffman; Lebo, Perry, E. L. Lightner; Moon Run, Allegheny, Martin Normile.

The treasury department has received a dispatch from Newbern, N. C., announcing the arrival there of the immigrants taken from the barkentine Vera Cruz III. The immigration officials who were sent to make the inspection have not yet reached Newbern.

The state department has informed Gov. Dockery of Missouri that it cannot secure the extradition of Elias Wainwright, a millionaire brewer of St. Louis, wanted in connection with the municipal bribery charges. The French extradition treaty does not enumerate bribery as an extraditable offense.

Harriman's Buying of Erie Stock Causes Rumors of Coming Changes in That Road.

Important changes in the management of the Erie railroad are rumored to be coming shortly. The basis for these reports seems to be mainly the large buying of Erie stock by the Harriman interests, more particularly by E. H. Harriman himself. Officers of the Erie deny, however, that Harriman's purchases mean more than an exposition of his belief in the excellence of Erie as an investment.

One of the Erie rumors that has cropped up is the removal of the freight traffic headquarters from Cleveland to Chicago. The office of S. P. McShane, freight traffic manager, will be located in the Windy City very soon, the report abroad yesterday said. Those who have watched the policy followed by the trunk lines in the location of important offices in the plan of division of systems at the border of trunk line and central territories, point out that no such road has placed its traffic headquarters in Chicago. New York being the city favored for that, or a central city like Cleveland for the Erie and Lake Shore, and Pittsburgh for the Pennsylvania and Baltimore & Ohio.

Much interest attaches to Erie plans, for under the present management of the road there has developed under two years of large earnings a policy of heavy expenditure that looks toward a much more perfect line in the near future. The enlargement and improvement of the terminal facilities in Jersey City, Buffalo, Cleveland and Chicago alone will require several million dollars, and these plans have been definitely decided upon. The elimination of grade crossings, another expensive undertaking, has been made a distinct policy of the road from now on. The big improvement to escape the tunnel under Bergen hill, near Jersey City, is being advanced, engineering parties now being engaged finding the best route around that hill. Within a year it is expected to be unnecessary to send passenger trains through the tunnel.

B. & O. Officials at the Lake Ports.

The inspection party of Baltimore & Ohio officials who are looking over the lake facilities today, went through Pittsburgh yesterday morning. In the party were President A. W. Loree, Third Vice President G. L. Potter, General Manager C. S. Sims, Chief Engineer J. M. Graham and George M. Schryver, assistant to the president. At Pittsburgh the party was joined by W. C. Loree, general superintendent of the Pittsburgh system, and Robert Finney, general agent. Division superintendents accompanied the officers over each division on the trip. From Pittsburgh the party went to Wheeling and thence over the Cleveland, Lorain & Wheeling to Cleveland. The facilities at that city, at Fairport and at Lorain will all be visited. On their return they will reach Pittsburgh Friday.

Remedy Takes Garrigan's Place.

The appointment of R. Campbell Kennedy as southeastern passenger agent of the Big Four is announced by Warren J. Lynch, general passenger and ticket agent. The position was made vacant by the death of Thomas A. Garrigan a few weeks ago. The headquarters of the position will remain at Huntington, W. Va. The new agent has been with the Big Four for about eight years, and has won a good reputation as a business getter.

MANY AT CONVENTIONS.

This is the time when railroad conventions bloom in large numbers. Several of the large ones have just been held. The one now in session at Pittsburgh is about the largest of all. At the same time St. Louis is entertaining a big meeting, the biennial gathering of the Order of Railway Telegraphers. There were about 250 delegates in place when President Perham called the meeting to order early in the week. Some important changes in the bylaws are under advisement.

The committees on arrangements for the conventions of the Master Car Builders' association and the Railway Master Mechanics' association, have decided to alter the original plans by which the conventions were to be held at Mackinac, Mich. Instead, they will be held at Saratoga, N. Y., as in previous years. The two associations always meet at the same time. The convention will open June 15.

B. & O. Would Buy State Stock.

The Baltimore & Ohio has reopened negotiations for the purchase of 5,500 shares of the stock of the Washington branch of that railroad. The stock is held by the state of Maryland, which bought it at the time the road was built, in order to further its construction. For many years 10 per cent dividends were paid. Now the company is said to be willing to pay $200 a share for all the stock in the state's control. About a year ago a similar proposition was made, when $185 was offered for the stock.

Railroad Notes.

C. M. Treat, formerly agent for the Great Northern Steamship Company here, was in the city yesterday.

W. D. Kinzie has been appointed supervisor of the Reading at Harrisburg, to succeed J. R. C. Wynnaldi, transferred.

No successor has yet been named to P. S. Rhodes as chief dispatcher of the Pittsburgh division of the Baltimore & Ohio.

The per diem committee of the American Railway association has ruled that per diem charges shall not accumulate on delivered cars, even if the way bill has not yet been received. The side-carding is adjudged enough identification.

The San Francisco & Northwestern Railway Company was incorporated Monday by Santa Fe men to build a railroad from Alton, Humboldt county, Cal., to Point Richmond, the terminus of the Santa Fe. Its capital is $15,000,000.

E. A. Chenery, for many years superintendent of telegraph at the St. Louis Union station, has been appointed to a similar position on the Missouri Pacific-Iron Mountain. He succeeds C. W. Hammond, who has been offered a trip abroad in order to secure a well-earned rest. The Goulds will pay his expenses. On his return he will re-enter the same department.

DEED WAS GIVEN FOR ONE INCH OF GROUND

Thin Slice of Property Is Donated to Woman to Connect Two Buildings.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]
UNIONTOWN, PA., May 13.—A deed for one inch of ground was signed and delivered today, Wallace Miller transferring to Mrs. Sarah Teed a tract of land with a one-inch frontage on Morgantown street and a depth of 150 feet. The ground is between the Wallace Miller building and the Teed hotel.

Mr. Miller's building was set back one inch from the line and when Mrs. Teed started to build he offered to deed her the strip of one inch if she would build up against his wall and make a firm double wall. The Miller property has a frontage of 46 feet and is valued at $40,000, so that the one inch is worth about $60.

Youth Attempted Suicide.

COAL CENTER, PA., May 13.—(Special.)—A youth of 16 years, named Alvin Dukes, of Marchandville, attempted suicide yesterday by taking laudanum. A disappointment in a love affair is given as the cause.

FLOOD FOLLOWS FIRE WITH GREAT DAMAGE

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]
JACKSONVILLE, FLA., May 13.—Scarcely recovering from the disastrous fire of two years ago, Jacksonville has just had another visitation that will cost her merchants, business houses and railroads $500,000. A flood is something new for this city, but the extraordinarily heavy rains of yesterday and last night flooded all the lower streets of the city, causing great damage.

Hogan's creek in the northern section, separating Springfield from the main city, went over its bounds and spread out for half a mile on each side, covering the new boulevard.

In the electric light plant the machinery was put out of business and tonight the city is using gas, candles and lamps. In West Bay street, approaching the station, the water was six feet deep and two feet deep in the depot.

McCoy's creek runs through the railroad yards. It was normally a good-sized creek, but in making the yards the channel was contracted, and the waters spread out for a half-mile. At 8 o'clock this morning the yard was impassable for locomotives.

No trains arrived today. Reports from the state say all railroads are in bad shape from the flooding of tracks. The storm is the worst for years. Many houses in the negro sections were washed away.

MILT COUNTRYMAN,

WORKS WEEK OUT.

John Russell Then Retires to Enjoy Fortune Left by His Father.

UPPER SANDUSKY, O., May 13.—(Special.)—John Russell, who has been employed in the oil fields near here, has just been informed that he is heir to $100,000.

When he was apprised of his good fortune he immediately told his employer that he "would work the week out."

The money comes to him from his father, Jacob I. Russell, late of Titusville, Pa., who cast his son off more than 20 years ago. The son has worked in various parts of the country since.

Russell, the elder, it appears, some years ago invented a valve from which he realized large royalties, his fortune being amassed in recent years.

Consul Boyle Is Home.

CANTON, O., May 13.—(Special.)—James Boyle, the late President McKinley's private secretary while he was governor of Ohio, now consul to Liverpool, is here for a few days visiting with his old friends. He has been in bad health for a year, during which time he has submitted to three surgical operations.

Robbers Strike Scottdale.

SCOTTDALE, PA., May 13.—(Special.)—The gang of robbers who have been operating in this vicinity struck Scottdale last night. The hardware store of Eicher & Graff was entered and $17, 15 revolvers and a large number of knives and razors stolen. The thieves also broke in to six freight cars at the station.

GREENVILLE, PA.—The barns belonging to Mrs. S. C. Dickey and W. A. Keck were destroyed by fire of mysterious origin last night. The loss is $2,000. Keck's bondsman, a fireman, was overcome by smoke and is in a serious condition.

GREENVILLE, PA.—After a spirited contest Dr. S. M. Zeigler was elected physician of the board of health.

ALTOONA, PA.—The new Real Estate Title and Trust Company, capitalized at $125,000, composed of Pittsburgh and Altoona capitalists, opens its doors here tomorrow. James H. Craig is president, George Harpham secretary and treasurer.

CANTON, O.—While Grace Keonis, aged 17, was packing her trunk for her wedding trip, officers were looking for William May, aged 21, the young groom. They found him, and he is in jail, charged with stealing $120 from an East End grocery store.

LATROBE, PA.—The large stock barn owned by Frederick Rutledge was burned to the ground, together with several carriages, a lot of grain and some valuable farming implements. The fire is thought to have been started by tramps.

LATROBE, PA.—Almost half of the coke ovens of the Monastery plant of the H. C. Frick Coal and Coke Company will be blown out this week. The temporary shutdown will result in a large number of the employes being put on half time.

INDUCTED INTO OFFICE.

Dr. H. C. King Installed as President of Oberlin College With Imposing Ceremonies.

OBERLIN, O., May 13.—The inauguration of Henry C. King, D. D., as president of Oberlin college, took place today. The inaugural procession was the most marked feature of the ceremonies. The procession consisted of about 2,000 persons, of whom nearly half were students.

The presidency was formally transferred to Mr. King by the Hon. J. G. W. Cowles of Cleveland. Addresses were delivered by Dean Bosworth, President W. G. Frost of Berea college, Kentucky; D. B. Cooper, of the senior class, and President Tucker of Dartmouth college. The inaugural address of President King followed.

INVENTION UTILIZES SEASHORE WAVES

SHARON, PA., May 13.—(Special.)—To utilize the waves that beat upon the seashore Dante Levey of South Sharon has perfected an invention for trolley lines. The apparatus which the inventor has perfected runs 500 feet into the water, the connections with the shore being made by a system of cogs and shafting.

Mutilated Two Steers.

GREENVILLE, PA., May 13.—(Special.)—Two big steers belonging to John Spontler of New Hamburg were horribly mutilated by some unknown person several nights ago. The steers were found in the field with the forelegs hacked off at the knees. The owner was compelled to shoot them. The county commissioners have been asked to offer a reward for the apprehension of the persons responsible for the act.

LIFE
GEO. W. CHIL

ALL ARE FRIENDS OF PROF. LORENZ

Still Doctors Find Much Complaint With His Methods of Surgery.

THE FAILURES ARE CITED

Deaths Occurring in St. Louis and Philadelphia Laid at Door of Viennese--Component Societies of Congress Elect Officers.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, May 13.—Fifteen of the component societies of the Congress of American Physicians and Surgeons held meetings today, some of them concluding their work.

The methods of Prof. Adolph Lorenz, the Austrian surgeon, in the treatment of congenital hip disease and club feet furnished the feature of general interest at the meetings of the American Surgical and Orthopedic associations. To the surgical association the case of Charles Willett, operated upon last November by Dr. Lorenz for club feet, was presented. Although one of excessive difficulty, the operation was pronounced a perfect success. No discussion specially condemnatory of Lorenz' methods was elicited, but some of the more conservative members of the association were adverse in their criticisms. The statement was made that the operation of Dr. Lorenz upon Lolita Armour, daughter of J. Ogden Armour of Chicago, to perform which the Austrian surgeon had come to the United States, had not proved entirely successful. It was evident from the tone of the discussion that a majority of the surgeons in attendance were supporters of the Lorenz methods.

FAILURES ARE CITED.

The storm center of the discussion of the Lorenz method was at the session of the American Orthopedic association, before which Dr. A. J. Steele of St. Louis cited the case of a boy 8 years old, afflicted with hip disease, who had been operated upon by the Austrian surgeon and subsequently had died of meningitis. He did not attribute the death directly to the operation, but warned his colleagues that the Lorenz methods ought to be employed with great care.

Dr. H. Augustus Wilson of the Jefferson hospital, Philadelphia, presented a report upon 23 cases observed in the hospital, eight of which were operated upon by Dr. Lorenz. Dr. Wilson made a defense of the Lorenz methods, and as he had assisted the Austrian surgeon in all the cases presented, his judgment carried great weight.

Dr. W. M. L. Coplin of Philadelphia reported the case of a 7-year-old girl who died after Dr. Lorenz had operated upon her, death, in view of Dr. Coplin, being due to shock.

Dr. Gwilym G. Davis of the University of Pennsylvania read a paper in which he maintained that the Lorenz methods were too severe, and that they had been accompanied by injuries, paralysis and death.

ADMIRATION FOR LORENZ.

Dr. E. H. Bradford of Boston, while he did not quite approve of the Lorenz practice, expressed a great admiration for Prof. Lorenz.

Dr. McKenzie of Toronto directed attention to the fact that Prof. Lorenz had not claimed perfection for his method. He had maintained, modestly, that 25 per cent of double dislocations and 50 per cent of single dislocations could be reduced through his operations.

The discussion was carried on in the best of temper, all of the speakers expressing sincere regard for Dr. Lorenz, personally and professionally. Upon this the society was congratulated by Sir William Kingston of Montreal, who declared that Dr. Lorenz had conferred on mankind a great service by his skillful work.

At the meetings of the affiliated societies of the Congress of American Physicians and Surgeons officers were elected as follows:

American Medico-Psychological association—President, Dr. A. B. Richardson, Washington; vice president, A. E. MacDonald, New York; secretary and treasurer, C. B. Burr, Flint, Mich.

American Neurological association—President, Dr. Frank Roy, St. Louis; first vice president, Dr. Hugh T. Patrick, Chicago; second vice president, Dr. William G. Spiller, Philadelphia; secretary and treasurer, Dr. G. M. Hammond, New York; councillors, Dr. Charles L. Dana, New York, and Dr. J. J. Putnam, Boston.

DR. HARTMAN PRESIDENT.

American Laryngological association—President, Dr. J. H. Hartman, Baltimore; first vice president, Dr. John H. Lowman, Cleveland; second vice president, Dr. W. Peyre Porcher, Charleston; secretary and treasurer, Dr. James E. Newcomb, New York; librarian, Dr. J. H. Bryan, Washington. Atlantic City was selected as the place of meeting next year.

American Association of Pathologists and Bacteriologists—President, Dr. Eugene Hodenpyl, New York; vice president, Dr. Simon Flexner, Philadelphia; secretary, Dr. Harold C. Ernst, Boston; treasurer, Dr. H. H. Williams, Buffalo.

American Association of Genito-Urinary Surgeons—President, Dr. Edwin C. Burnett, St. Louis; vice president, Dr. F. Tilden Brown, New York; secretary and treasurer, Dr. John van der Poel, New York.

American Climatological association—President, Dr. J. C. Wilson, Philadelphia; vice presidents, Dr. Thomas Darlington, Jr., Kings Bridge, N. Y., and Dr. Thomas D. Coleman, Augusta, Ga.; secretary and treasurer, Dr. Guy Hinsdale, Philadelphia.

Dermatological association—President, Dr. Joseph Zeisler, Chicago; vice president, Dr. M. B. Hartzell, Philadelphia; secretary and treasurer, Dr. C. J. White, Boston. The next place of meeting will be Niagara Falls, the last Tuesday in May, 1904.

American Therapeutic society—President, Dr. Howard H. Barker, Washington; first vice president, Dr. J. N. Hall, Denver; second vice president, Dr. Oliver T. Osborne, New Haven, Conn.; third vice president, Dr. Carl Beck, New York; secretary, Dr. N. P. Barnes, Washington; recorder, Dr. William M. Sprigg; Washington; treasurer, Dr. John S. McLain, Washington. The next meeting will be held in New York on May 9, 10, 11, 1904.

HOW CAMPBELL SAYS "GOOD NIGHT" TO YOU.

"The People's Store" Contributes in a Substantial Way to Pleasant Dreams.

A great bedroom furnishing sale is going on at Campbell's—the kind of a trade event that induces folks to make better provision for the third of life spent in bed. This is something more than just business—it's good missionary work, for nothing contributes so much to good nature, a sunny temperament and satisfaction with life, as a refreshing sleep.

If your own bed isn't all that it should be in softness, if the springs sag down in the middle, if the bedstead creaks, if the pillows are too small or too lumpy, or if you lack drawer space or mirror accommodation, or if you take boarders and they are complaining of imperfect rest and threatening to leave, or if you have a guest chamber that needs some additions, better see what Campbell's said last Tuesday. Or, better still, see the advertisement and goods at the same time, at "The People's Store."

STONEMASONS TO GIVE BATTLE

Say They Will Not Affiliate With the Bricklayers' Organization.

SECRET MEETINGS HELD

President Samuel Gompers Is Taking a Hand in Brickmakers and Clay Miners' Struggle for Recognition of Their Unions.

The trouble between the bricklayers and the stonemasons is becoming more serious. Although the bricklayers decided upon a truce to give the stonemasons a chance to surrender, the latter are maneuvering so as to give an effective battle should it be necessary, which, according to the stonemasons, will be. The stonemasons are watching every movement of the bricklayers and are also preparing for war.

Conferences were held yesterday, but all who attended were pledged to the utmost secrecy. The object of the bricklayers is to get all allied trades, other than stonemasons, into their fold, but how far in this they will succeed will not be known for a few days.

The bricklayers are now after the hoisting engineers. These men handle the material both for the bricklayers and the stonemasons. The object is to induce the hoisting engineers to refuse to handle stone for any but those affiliated with the bricklayers' organization.

It was reported that the executive officials and the officials of the hoisting engineers held a secret conference yesterday afternoon. The strike has assumed such shape that Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, is taking an active interest in the affair. According to reports all the plants of the Harbison-Walker Refractories Company are tied up.

The strikers are members of the National Association of Brick, Tile and Terra Cotta Workers and Clay Miners' union, both affiliated with the Federation. By direction of President Gompers, Thomas H. Flynn, a national organizer, left for Phillipsburg to direct the strike. During the absence of Mr. Flynn, National Organizer Joseph A. Keeler will have charge of affairs here. In speaking of the trouble yesterday Mr. Keeler said:

"There can be no doubt as to the result, as the workers are not only strongly organized, but are determined, and it will be impossible for the company to find sufficient men to take the places of the strikers."

The Harbison-Walker Refractories Company still refuses to make any statement as to the trouble.

BOYS DEMAND INCREASE.

Want Officials of Libby Bros.' Plant to Sign a Scale.

The annual strike of the boys employed in Tibby Bros.' glass bottle plant, Sharpsburg, occurred yesterday. As usual, the boys want an increase of wages. They plan their affairs with more skill than business agents of labor organizations.

They held a secret meeting on the Highland park bridge and decided they wanted the following scale signed by the bosses: Pick-up boys, now receiving 58 cents a day, 85 cents; mold holders, now getting 95 cents, $1; carrying boys, now getting 83 cents, 95 cents. They appointed a committee to convey their demands to the superintendent and then went home to wait until the scale is signed.

STUDENTS OF RIVAL ACADEMIES CLASHED

Holiday at East Liberty to Celebrate Baseball Victory and Boys Mixed Up With Shadyside Students at Recess.

Students of the East Liberty and Shadyside academies clashed in front of the latter's building, Morewood avenue and Bayard street, yesterday morning, and a lively tussle lasting about 15 minutes ensued. A number of Italians employed by Contractor James H. McQuade in paving Bayard street and the contractor himself became involved in the lively row.

The trouble originated over the baseball game played by the teams of the two academies on Tuesday afternoon, which resulted in a victory for East Liberty. The Shadyside team had the game won by a score of 12 to 9, when a row occurred in the eighth inning and Umpire Unger gave the game to East Liberty by the score of 9 to 0. Both teams left the field with chips on their shoulders.

When the students at East Liberty academy assembled yesterday morning Dr. Emil Lewey, the principal, stated that the school would be dismissed and the boys given a holiday in celebration of their baseball victory. About 100 of the boys secured drums, horns and numerous school flags and emblems and started their march on to Shadyside academy. They arrived there at 10:20 o'clock and formed a circle about the building.

Then followed the pounding of the drums, the toots of the horns, and all sorts of school yells. They jeered the Shadyside boys in a most exasperating manner. This continued until 10:30, when the Shadyside academy boys were allowed out for a 15-minute recess. Instead of indulging in their customary recess, about 250 academy boys rushed out into the street and mixed up with their rivals.

The battle consisted mainly in rushes at first, and no blows were struck. The Shadyside boys endeavored to throw some of their opponents down an embankment to the athletic field. They succeeded in tossing several down the incline, but a number of Shadyside boys went down as well. The fight was beginning to assume serious proportions when Contractor McQuade appeared on the scene with about 20 Italians laborers. They tried to stop the fracas.

Both contesting sides took the interference with bad grace, and soon they pitched into the Italians and Mr. McQuade. Small rocks used in paving the street were utilized and several were thrown, two taking effect, one hitting a Shadyside academy boy and another striking an Italian in the mouth. Mr. McQuade was badly used and his watch fell from his pocket. It was afterward found trampled and crushed almost beyond recognition.

The trouble ended at last by the expiration of the recess and the Shadyside boys had to return to the school. The East Liberty boys marched away singing, but left one of their flags tied to a telegraph pole and floating in the breeze. From their windows the Shadyside boys saw the emblem, and Dr. W. R. Crab, the president, was asked if it might not be removed. Dr. Crab gave his permission and some of the boys were allowed to go out and haul down the East Liberty flag.

After the fight several East Liberty boys' caps were strewn upon the ground. They were collected by the school janitor, and Dr. Crab telephoned Dr. Lewey of the occurrence and told him that if the owners of the hats would apply at the school they could recover their property. In all probability no day's holiday will again be given at East Liberty academy in celebration of a baseball victory.

STEAM ENGINEERS END THEIR ANNUAL MEETING

Newly Elected Officers Installed and Many Technical Papers Read.

The convention of the supreme council of the Amalgamated Association of Steam Engineers of America closed yesterday afternoon. The last business was the installation of the newly elected officers. Past Supreme Chief Franklin B. Moore was the installing officer, and he was assisted by Hiram Trout.

The sessions of yesterday were largely taken up by the reading of technical papers. "Heating and Ventilation" was the title of a paper read by John Dodge of Boston. This was followed by a paper on "Electrical Transmission of Power," by George W. Richardson of the Pencoyd iron works. The principal paper was read by C. P. Williams of Philadelphia. He handled the subject, "The Relations Between the Employers and the Employed."

The convention adjourned to meet the second Monday in May, 1904. The president is to secure a place of meeting and notify the council members four months previous to the holding of the convention.

Furnace I Blown In.

Furnace I of the Edgar Thomson group of the Carnegie Steel Company at Braddock, was blown in yesterday afternoon, after having been relined. Furnace I was the scene of one of the worst accidents in the history of the works shortly before it was torn down. Twelve men were burned, none of whom died. Furnace H will be put out this week and torn down and entirely rebuilt and remodeled. It is the only furnace at the Edgar Thomson group that has not been modernized. A new filling device and many other improvements are to be added.

Penn Township Graduates.

The commencement exercises of the Penn township public schools will be held in the Hebron United Presbyterian church Friday evening, May 15. The class is composed of the following members: Margaret Baker, Nettie Fisher, Irene Duff, Maude Stoner, Nannie Crowe, Clara Ireland, Bertha Wright, Mary McCance, Ada Landwer, Carrie Ireland, Lizzie Bauer, Charles Wilson, George Stoner, Harry Brooke and Harry Ireland.

The bond offerings of the North American Savings Company this week are principally an additional $80,000.00 of the Beaver Valley Water Company bonds, for improvements, and $160,000.00 of the Washington & Canonsburg Railway Company for extensions. Both of these companies show a net profit on the plants now in operation, considerably in excess of the interest on their bonds.

ANOTHER DELAY FOR TECH BILL

Ordinance to Be Returned to Common Council for Amendment.

DEFECT IN ORDINANCE

Director Bigelow Opposes Vacation of Joncaire Street Which Runs Through the School Site. Select Meets Today.

The technical school bill has met with another delay owing to a defect found in it yesterday by Assistant City Clerk W. C. Gearing. The ordinance in its description of the Flinn-Magee tract excepts Joncaire street, which runs through the property for 1,000 feet at a width of 50 feet. It is stated that if this exception is not stricken out in the bill Joncaire street will revert to the original owners of the property and the city will have to buy it afterward to get possession.

This afternoon in select council the purchase ordinance will be amended by striking out the words which exclude this street from the property to be purchased. The ordinance will be passed finally by select council today and sent back to common council to concur in the amendment.

Common council may meet next Monday night for this purpose, although there is a prospect that Director E. M. Bigelow will make a fight, as he predicted yesterday that the street would not be vacated. The street was laid out by councils in 1891, but was never legally opened, and is said to be only a street on paper.

Director Bigelow said yesterday that the fact that it had been used made it an open street. A street car track was laid on the street, but has been abandoned for a number of years. If Director Bigelow undertakes to oppose the amendment by select council the prospect is that the ordinance may be delayed indefinitely and another bitter fight may be inaugurated.

If the street is kept open it will divide the technical school tract, and, under the present ordinance, if in the future the property where the street is now located should be needed for the school the city would probably have to buy it from William Flinn and the Magee estate at a handsome figure.

STRAPHANGERS ARE GROWING

Organization's Increased Membership Necessitates Larger Quarters.

BIG STORES GET IN LINE

Residents of Belmar District Organize for Better Trolley Service—Rent of Summer Parks. Louisville a Lucky City.

The growing membership of the Strap-Hangers' League will compel the association to secure larger quarters. The suite of two rooms on the sixth floor of the Schmidt building, where the organization was born, has been found altogether too small and arrangements will be made to secure more commodious quarters.

If the local traction company at any time doubted the earnestness of the people in their demands for better street car accommodations the officials would certainly be impressed now by the sturdiness of the Strap-Hangers in their determination to further their cause. The membership promised to increase to such an extent and the rush of signers to the office alarmed the agent of the building, who feared that the rush would overtax his elevator service that he advised the secretary of the organization to secure more space.

One of the leading department stores in the city has given encouragement to the movement by allowing a representative of the league to distribute literature among its employes. More than 1,000 circulars have been distributed, and yesterday the membership was materially augmented by subscriptions from the ranks of the salespeople. The women employes of the department stores have been compelled to suffer many indignities as a result of the overcrowding of cars.

Other firms are ready to grant the same permission, and the employes are on the alert to pin on the button which in a few short weeks has become a familiar badge of protest against the management of the trolley combine.

The Belmar Residents' association will take steps to get better accommodations. A committee was appointed recently to confer with similar committees in other parts of the two cities to call upon the officials of the Pittsburgh Railways Company and ask for improvements which are urgently needed.

A reader of The Gazette in a communication calls attention to the fact that the railways company has increased the rental of Southern and Oakwood parks to $25 for three hours during the evening, whereas the charge was only $15 last year. This season the company reserves the check room and the refreshment privileges and taxes the tenants $2 an evening for the use of the piano. The same writer states that visitors are kept in the park until after the night cars are put on, thus charging a double fare to the city.

Pittsburgh trolley patrons who are petitioning for a universal transfer system in this city will be interested in learning that the Louisville Railways Company, in Louisville, Ky., recently changed its transfer system, giving over 100 exchange points in comparatively small territory. Passengers can ride to any part of the city for a 5-cent fare.

WEALTH LEFT BY WALSH WAS OVERESTIMATED

Inventory of Estate Filed With His Will Appraises Property at $13,000.

The will of John E. Walsh, the Squirrel Hill contractor who was shot last Saturday night by W. P. Kountz, was filed for probate yesterday, developing that the murdered man's estate had been largely overestimated. By the inventory is is shown that Walsh had personal property valued at $3,000 and real estate worth $10,000, represented in his residence in Northumberland street. After the shooting was variously estimated at from $250,000 to $500,000. The will was signed by Walsh when he was dying and is stained by his life's blood. It is as follows:

"I hereby leave everything I have to my two children, John Walsh and James Walsh, to be equally divided between them."

The decedent's brother, Alderman William F. Walsh, is appointed executor of the will, to serve without bond. Several large contracts left uncompleted will be carried on by Walsh's foreman, John Seibert. A few days before his death Walsh had begun negotiations for a $25,000 policy of life insurance, but the policy had not been issued. The date for the inquest has not been fixed.

Mrs. Margaret E. Kountz, the surviving victim of the tragedy, is improving and within a few days she will be operated upon for the removal of the bullet in her breast. Her recovery is looked upon in a favorable light.

Royalty Entertains American Doctors.

NEW YORK, March 13.—Among the passengers who arrived today on the steamer Princess Irene from Genoa were a number of American physicians who attended the recent international medical congress at Madrid. The delegates were received at a private audience by the king and the ladies who accompanied the delegates were entertained at the Royal gardens. The Spanish delegates took a very active interest in the proceedings of the congress and the people generally accorded the most cordial hospitality.

Fire Victim Dead.

BUFFALO, May 13.—Fire Lieutenant William Clark, who was injured at the Diamond mills fire last night, died today. The loss is estimated today at $200,000, partially insured.

WEIGH YOURSELF BEFORE USING.

Schilling Bros. Co. Will Refund Money if Mi-o-na Does Not Increase Flesh.

Druggist Schilling Bros. Co., Penn and Frankstown avenues, are thinking strongly of placing a "penny-in-the-slot" weighing machine in their store to record the weight of their customers when they commence using Mi-o-na, the great flesh-forming food. The wonderful sale they have had on this preparation since they first introduced it in Pittsburgh, and the remarkable results following its use, have made them such enthusiastic believers in the great value of Mi-o-na that they give their personal guarantee to refund the money if Mi-o-na does not make thin people fat, cure digestion and restore health.

This is a strong guarantee, but Druggist Schilling Bros. Co. have seen so many of their customers, who a few weeks ago looked like walking skeletons, become plump and well, solely through the use of Mi-o-na that they feel they cannot do too much to induce people to try it. If you are not at your proper weight, you should use Mi-o-na. Weigh yourself before you commence this treatment and you will notice a steady gain.

This marvelous flesh-forming food is assimilated as soon as it is taken into the stomach, makes good, rich blood, tones up the weakened digestive organs, helps the food to digest, and makes permanent cures in the worst cases of indigestion.

Schilling Bros. Co. can tell you of scores of people who a short time ago could not eat a hearty meal without suffering from indigestion, who today can eat what they want, solely because of Mi-o-na.

NEWS OF THE HOME AND THE SOCIETY WORLD

SOCIETY · WOMEN'S CORNER · WOMEN'S CLUBS

THE annual Episcopal church Home fair will enlist the interest of society this afternoon and evening at the grounds, Fortieth street and Penn avenue. The committees have been busy for weeks arranging for the entertainment, which will be conducted on an elaborate scale. Tents will be erected about the grounds, amusements will be provided during the afternoon for the little people, while in the evening there will be dancing for the young people in the pavilion, a drill by the Boys' brigade of the Church of the Ascension under the direction of Col. Bope. Mrs. Jarley's waxworks will be presented both afternoon and evening, Mrs. George A. Gorly impersonating Mrs. Jarley. The afternoon show will commence at 4 o'clock and the parts of the various historical and other characters will be taken by a number of the children in well-known families in the East End, Allegheny and Sewickley. In the evening at 8 o'clock the characters will be assumed by children in the church home. The young people who will appear in the afternoon are Miss Laura Wurts, Miss Estelle King, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson King of Birmingham, England, Miss Eleanor Muzzy, Miss Sarah Rose, Miss Marie Cole, J. Bernd Rose, Miss Elizabeth Cole, Tomlinson Burgwin, Donald Scully, Pierce Butler Burgwin, Miss Janet Scully, Alexander McKaig, William Nimick and little Miss Mary McKaig.

Though all preparations have been made to hold the annual fete out-of-doors rain will not cause a postponement, as the booths and supper tables will be erected within the home if the weather be inclement. There will be music afternoon and evening. In the home are now 14 old ladies and 70 children. A recent addition to the work of the institution in educating and training the children is the introduction of manual training. A class of 17 boys is now becoming familiar with the use of carpenter's tools under the direction of Mr. Fitzgerald.

In Honor of a Bride-Elect.

Miss Helen Walter, who is to serve as a bridesmaid at the wedding of Miss Edith Viola Coffin and William Wallace Ford on Tuesday evening next, in the East Liberty Presbyterian church, gave a dinner for the members of the bridal party last evening at her home in South Negley avenue, East End. The guests included Miss Coffin, Mrs. James I. M. Wilson, Miss Annie D. Kearns, Miss Laura C. Pratt, Miss Marsh Rees, Miss Eliza Munhall, Miss Florence Bartley and Miss Mary E. Wilson of Stamford, Conn.; William W. Ford, James M. Dalbey, Charles L. Taylor, Charles Farren, William Pearsall, Pier Dannals, Arthur Over, David Ramsbottom, Laurence McHenry and Thomas T. Coffin, of Uniontown, a cousin of the bride-elect. Green and white predominated in the dining room decorations, which were simple and graceful. The centerpiece was formed of an effective arrangement of white sweet peas and their foliage. The place cards were embossed in gold, with the monogram of the young hostess.

Staying at Markleton.

Among the Pittsburgh people who are now at Markleton are Mrs. A. G. Harms, Miss Harriet Hazzard, Mr. and Mrs. George Alten, James F. Scott, Miss Margaret Allen, H. M. Small, James Howard, Miss R. Wallace, Miss Margaret Wallace, J. W. Deer, Mrs. Celia J. Teegarden, H. H. Williams, Toney Manesman, H. H. Williams, Peter Tour, William T. Coan, E. S. Willson, William J. Jones, Miss Marie Briers, Miss E. A. Halliday, J. F. Kennedy, C. S. James, Mrs. C. S. James, Mrs. John W. Aviratt, Miss McKelvey, Miss L. Henricks, Misss Elizabeth Wilkinson, Miss Celia McGuire, R. Eugene Byers, R. S. Heslep, R. Wilmerding, J. E. Long, W. A. Clementson, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Buck, E. J. Allison, Mrs. Robert G. Furst, Mrs. Francis McGuire and children, Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. K. King, Miss Jane Irwin, Mrs. Max Lasday, Miss Hutchinson, Miss Annie Brinkley, B. R. Jones, D. McDiffett and E. B. Palmer Jones.

Carnation Club's Evening.

The Carnation club of Observatory hill, Allegheny, met last evening at the home of Oscar Glee in Lithgow avenue. Games and dancing were the amusements of the evening, following by the serving of refreshments. Ping and purple, the club colors, were worn by those present. Among the guests were Miss M. Graham, Miss J. Stratton, Miss M. Harris, Miss A. Wentel, Miss B. Fielding, Miss M. Wilson, Miss J. Boggs, Miss Maller, Miss J. Wyatt, Miss B. Koffman, Miss T. Mentel, Miss J. Donaldson, Miss M. Barkley, O. Giles, W. Wildemuth, B. Holmes, W. Wilson, R. Cramer, W. Giles, W. Watson, B. Grier, A. Carlin, H. Hing, E. Kohl, C. Mentel, G. Mentel, H. Giles and Rieck.

An Allegheny Card Party.

Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery Kintner of Allegheny, entertained at cards last evening in honor of Mrs. Joseph Beatty Hamilton, Miss Ethel Adams and Miss Edith Kumler of Shelbyville, Ind., and Miss Theodosia Otte, formerly of that place, but now living at Pittsburgh, whose wedding to Harry Gibson Shaler will be on Wednesday, May 20.

Mr. and Mrs. John Taylor will give a theater party this evening for the same guests.

In Washington on Wedding Trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace R. Moorhead, who were married last week, are in Washington on their wedding trip. They are the guests of Mrs. George Westinghouse and at her usual Monday reception in her home, the former Blaine mansion, Mrs. Westinghouse was assisted by Mrs. Moorhead, Miss Rachel Aiken and Miss Margaret McConway, who are all house guests of Mrs. Westinghouse.

Tea for Miss McGinley.

Miss Laura McGinley is in Chicago visiting Miss Adelaide Hamilton in Michigan avenue. Yesterday afternoon Miss Catherine Eddy gave a tea in honor of Miss McGinley, which was a pretty and enjoyable affair. Miss Eddy is a sister of Spencer Eddy, secretary of the United States legation in Constantinople.

Travelers in the West.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Frederick and their two daughters of Uniontown left last night for the Pacific coast, where they will remain five weeks.

A June Wedding.

Frederic S. Hoffer of this city will be married June 2 to Miss Maud Yergason of Hartford, Conn. The wedding will take place in Hartford.

Gone to Atlantic City.

Mrs. Thomas Power May of St. James street, Shadyside, and her sister, Miss Julia M. Day, of Lehigh avenue, East End, left last night for a several weeks' trip to New York and Atlantic City.

Pale gray voile over taffeta, transparent net yoke striped with turquoise velvet ribbon, appliques of heavy lace. A chiffon toque embroidered with spangles.

THE New Era club is planning a large garden party to be held early in June to raise money for the different departments of civic work in which its members are engaged. The president, Mrs. Franklin P. Iams, appointed the entire club a committee of arrangements, with Miss Lillian Schuette chairman. A few of the most active members are Mrs. W. C. Butterfield, Mrs. John Clark Wallace, Mrs. D. O. Hutchinson, Mrs. Levi Bird Duff, Mrs. William D. Grimes, Miss Helen Grimes, Miss Emma Normecutt, Mrs. Mattie Patterson, Mrs. Robert Coard, Mrs. Robert J. Cleland, Mrs. James R. Kibler, Miss Suzanne Beatty, Miss Eva Bard, Mrs. E. E. Crocker, Mrs. William J. Askin, Miss Nannie G. Barclay, Mrs. Clarence Brenneman, Mrs. Charles M. Fairman, Miss Grace Henderson, Mrs. William M. Leatherman and Miss Blanche Walters.

The last meeting of the club preceding the annual meeting was held yesterday afternoon in the assembly room of the Central Young Women's Christian association. The department of philanthropy was in charge of the program, Miss Emma Normecutt being the chairman. "The Humane Society and Henry Bergh" was the subject of a paper presented by Miss Elizabeth McKenna. Miss McKenna spoke of the causes leading to the organization of the Humane society, which was founded by Henry Bergh of New York. The Humane society of Pittsburgh was represented at the invitation of the club by Mrs. Carrier and Miss Sara O. Eaton, both of whom spoke informally, telling of some of the features of the work of the society in this city. Miss Eaton is the daughter of the late Leonard Eaton, the founder of the Pittsburgh society and a friend of Henry Bergh. Miss Millicent Markland read a paper on "The Life-Saving Service and Dr. William Nowell," which was followed by five-minute talks on "Camera Hunting," by Mrs. William H. McManus and "Jane Addams, and the Work of Hull House in Chicago," by Mrs. Charles Authamer. In the business meeting which preceded the literary program the New Era club voted to appropriate $50 to the summer playground and vacation schools and $25 to the work among the factory girls carried on by the Central Young Women's Christian association.

A resolution was also passed expressive of the good wishes of the club members to the three brides of the past few weeks in the New Era circle. The brides, all of whom are now on their wedding journeys with their respective bridegrooms, were Dr. Margaret Forcee, Dr. Rachel Robbins and Mrs. Kent Barger before their marriage.

A Children's Musicale.

A children's musicale will be given on Friday evening, May 22, in Carnegie Music hall, under the auspices of the Sterilized Milk association. The entertainment is to be conducted for the benefit of the work which is carried on throughout the summer months by the association among the poor people of the city, providing proper food for the infants at a minimum cost and free in deserving cases.

The officers of the association include the following: President, J. C. Haymaker; third vice president, Miss Yetta Baumgarten; fourth vice president, H. L. Christy; fifth vice president, Dr. Laura G. Shrom; treasurer, Mrs. Marie Bishop; secretary, Mrs. F. R. Wade; medical director, Dr. Amelia A. Dranga. Advisory board—Rt. Rev. Bishop Whitehead, Rev. Dr. J. Leonard Levy. Patrons—W. B. Hays, mayor of Pittsburgh; J. G. Wyman, mayor of Allegheny.

Pittsburgh Day at the Club.

Scrosis observed Pittsburgh Day at the Schenley yesterday afternoon and the program for the meeting related entirely to phases of Pittsburgh life. The meeting opened with quotations from the writings and addresses of Andrew Carnegie. Mrs. W. H. Crump was the leader for the day. Miss Alice Wells read a comprehensive paper on "Pittsburgh's Literary Men and Women," enumerating some of the writers who have become well-known through their literary work. It was followed by five-minute talks on "Artists of Pittsburgh," a discussion opened by Mrs. Robert Garland, "Philanthropists," Mrs. J. J. Covert, and "Musicians of Pittsburgh," by Mrs. Alfred Clark. So full was the program and so animated were the discussions dealing with the growth of the literary, artistic and musical life of the city that the hour of adjournment arrived and the treatment of "Current Events" by Mrs. D. M. Clemson was postponed. The musical program was exceptionally enjoyable and consisted of songs written and sung by Mrs. Franklin W. Bearl, Miss Gertrude Martin being her accompanist. Miss Jennie Mackintosh also sang, Mrs. Bearl being her accompanist.

President at the Banquet.

The third annual dinner of the Cornell club of Western Pennsylvania will be given this evening at 8 o'clock at the Hotel Schenley. President Jacob Gould Schurman, who was formerly a member of the Philippine commission, will be the guest of the club and make the principal address of the evening.

Exhibition This Evening.

The students of the domestic art and gymnasium departments of the South Side branch of the Central Young Women's Christian association will give an exhibition of sewing, millinery and gymnasium work from 3:30 this afternoon until 9 o'clock this evening at the rooms, No. 1703 Carson street. The members of the second course cooking class will give a luncheon on Saturday.

Death Was Accidental.

CHICAGO, May 13.—According to a coroner's jury, which returned a verdict today, the death of Edward M. Simonds, the wealthy New York broker, resulted from an accident.

The fancies in millinery grow apace, always prettier and more varied. Appliques of muslin, colored straws of all kinds, which show up these muslin appliques, in contrast to brilliant poppies, white lilacs, violets, and wistaria, May blossom berries, and dandelions, and field flowers, all these figure in millinery, and some of them constitute the entire headdress. A rose toque is always charming. The turban shape is coming in, and in our rage for white we have even turned a kindly eye to swansdown. It makes a good background to ostrich feathers. Skeleton spangles—indeed, any that are scintillating, are not only put on to the foundation of the toques and hats, but are introduced on to the flowers, and for the tiny frills. We have come to mother-of-pearl sequins, and even pearl made of the same fabric as imitation pearls. Bridesmaids are wearing the most gossamer toques of tulle and lisse, or loosely-woven straw, and the fancy braids are a great addition on many of the brims. The colored straws are generally trimmed with flowers of the same, and, of course, green straws match the foliage of any flower. Russian shaped toques are fashionable, and both gardenias and camelias mingle with violets. A good deal of Tuscan is employed.

Millinery Fancies.

* * *

It is easy enough to be cheerful and happy when the world is using you well. When the sun shines, and the children are healthy and the grocer's bills are not too large and your new gown fits perfectly it would be a strange sort of woman who was not amiable and sweet-tempered to the verge of sugar. But it is on rainy days and epidemics of measles that it is hard to keep the smile going. When the strain of the week has been more than you could bear, and with unexpected company, servant's impudence, and general friction in the household, then comes the burst of irritation and the hasty words. We all have such times. Some of us have more than others. There is no use getting angry or to worry about it. You know very well that you can never live more than one day at a time, and I dare say you are very glad you cannot. If you will take five minutes of absolute rest out of each hour, company or anything else notwithstanding, you will preserve your strength wonderfully. Remember that you owe yourself something, and if you cannot explain your determination to rest in any other way, simply carry it off as a joke, and if our guests are offended they are not the people whom you wish to keep as friends. Rest goes far to sweeten the temper, and a good rule in running the household is to remember that oil is more effective than vinegar in relieving friction, and a pleasant word will go farther to keep friction out of the household machinery than a sharp one.

The Dark Days.

SALLIE CARROLL.

When you ask the price of one of those hand-embroidered linen robes and the clerk rattles off a figure that makes your hair stand up, don't be surprised.

That robe took more than a day to make.

Picture in your mind a convent, near Paris, perhaps. Imagine a demurely clad nun and her pupils bending over the same robe, sending deft embroidery needles swiftly in and out of its texture, and maybe wondering just a little who is going to wear the beautiful work of their hands.

The Hand-Embroidered Linens.

They do this between the hours of devotion and study. Sometimes six months are spent on a single costume.

The idea first came from Ireland, but nearly all these robes are made in France and in this manner.

So, it's not surprising that they cost something, is it?

* * *

A correspondent has been kind enough to call the attention of this department to the evils of teaching children to walk too soon, and has asked that an article be written on the subject. It is indeed a serious subject and one that should be spoken of to all mothers. A child's bones are very elastic and easily bent. Also, many children are chubby little creatures with some real weight about them, as one who has carried them will know. Very often a child, even when quite young, will manifest a desire to pull himself up by chairs, and then the parents, proud of the achievement, will try to teach the little one to walk alone, and the consequence is the deformity of bowed legs, of which he can never be cured and which will be a mortification and chagrin to him all his life. Do not let a small child stand up in your lap. Do not let him support even a small part of his weight on the floor. If he seems disinclined to walk or even to creep, do not worry about it. Far better that a baby should not walk until it is two years old than that it should be permanently deformed. You would not deliberately pull and pinch a baby's nose until it became unnaturally long, and why, why in the name of common sense let him become bow-legged through your carelessness.

GIFTS FOR THE PLAYERS.

Eva Taylor and Alice Gale Remembered by Their Friends at the Grand.

Last night at the Grand opera house Miss Eva Taylor and Miss Alice Gale held their personal receptions before a crowded house. Miss Taylor and Miss Gale made speeches and were the recipients of loads of floral offerings and many gifts. Miss Taylor, among other costly gifts, received a beautiful diamond ring of bowknot design, with a sapphire in the center, which was passed to her over the footlights at the close of the play, together with a huge basket of American Beauty roses. Miss Taylor made a neat speech following which she received a perfect ovation, the curtain being raised again and again, in response to the enthusiastic applause.

Miss Gale, who is one of the most popular members of the stock company, was also the recipient of a great quantity of flowers and many pretty gifts, among them a diamond and opal ring. Miss Gale made a very witty speech which kept the audience laughing and she was called out again and again, midst the heartiest of hand clapping and shouts of "bravo."

NOTES OF THE THEATERS.

Only Four Theaters Remain Open—Interesting Programs in These—The Circus.

Mabelle Gilman, the pretty actress who made such a complete conquest of the crown prince of Siam, and the only footlight favorite who has diamond-studded finger nails, will appear at the Alvin theater next week in the year's success, "The Mocking Bird." It has been styled "the daintiest opera in years," and Miss Gilman as Yvette has scored one of the greatest personal successes of any artiste of recent date, and the opera itself has been received with the same enthusiasm and acclaim in every city which it has visited, that it won in New York.

"Sis Hopkins" comes to the Bijou next week, commencing with Monday matinee, when Miss Rose Melville, by all odds the most accomplished and most gifted of American character actresses, will be seen. This is the fourth season that Miss Melville has been playing this part, and each year it has grown in popularity until now it begins to look as if it might become one of the few ever-welcome plays that live on year after year, while the wrecks of less true plays strew the shores of the theatrical sea. The part of Sis Hopkins is one which appeals to the heart interests of human nature and does it simply.

At the performance of "As You Like It" this afternoon and tonight, Charles Abbe, William Martin and Dennie Harris will hold their receptions, with souvenir photographs of the three players distributed to the ladies in attendance at the matinee. Tomorrow will mark the reception and souvenirs of Miss Lisle Leigh, Miss Engel Sumner, Mr. Greenleaf and Mr. Underwood. Saturday night, at the farewell performance, each member of the company will make a speech, while with the final fall of the curtain the entire company will sing "Auld Lang Syne."

The season at the Avenue will not close until May 30, and Manager Davis intends that the closing weeks shall be marked by the presentation of exceptionally strong attractions. The bill for next week will be a notable one. Among the celebrated performers engaged may be mentioned Tom Nawn, the famous Irish comedian, supported by a clever company; Haines and Vidocq, two clever fun-makers; the marvelous Merrills, Pete Baker, the ever-popular German comedian and singer; Grant and Grant, rag-time singers and dancers; Unthan, the armless wonder, and others.

Bob Manchester's Crackerjacks, that come to the Academy next week, compose one of the best burlesque shows on the road. Bob Van Osten, who is at the head of the company, is one of the really clever comedians. His every move causes laughter. The show has a clever olio and the two burlettas are said to be above the average.

Carl Hagenbeck, whose show is enjoying a second big week at the Empire theater, has been variously called "the man with the charmed life," and "the wizard of the animal kingdom." After seeing his marvelous performance one is willing to concede that he must be both to secure such results. Matinee every day during this engagement, which closes the Empire's season.

William Faversham did not appear at the matinee or evening performance at the Alvin yesterday. He was ill, but the doctor said that he would be all right for today. He will appear at this evening's performance.

"Romeo and Juliet."

The "all-star" cast brough together by Liebler & Co. for an elaborate revival of "Romeo and Juliet" will be seen at the Alvin theater next Tuesday afternoon for one matinee performance only. The cast, the appointments and every detail of the production make it the most important Shakespearean production in years.

"Held By the Enemy."

The sale of seats for the benefit of the Eighteenth regiment, N. G. P., at the Alvin theater week of May 25, when William Gillette's war play, "Held by the Enemy," will be given, will open at the box office of the theater one week from today. A special feature will be the appearance of Miss Sarah Truax in the leading role, supported by the popular Pittsburgh favorite, Miss Marion Halton, and a company of nearly all professionals. Special scenery will mark the play, and it will in many ways be the best performance of "Held By the Enemy" ever given in Pittsburgh.

FROM MISSION TO CHURCH.

Charter Asked for Lincoln Avenue United Presbyterian Congregation

The new Lincoln Avenue United Presbyterian church, organized six years ago as a Sunday school mission, has applied to the courts for a charter, the church having outgrown the mission period, and on Sunday, May 24, that portion of the handsome new edifice which is completed will be dedicated free from debt. The lot and building at Larimer and Orphan avenues, represents a cost of $20,500, and of this amount but $1,000 remains yet unpaid.

The Lincoln avenue church grew out of the Sixth church, Pittsburgh. On November 6, 1902, the mission was organized into a church. At that time 168 members were attached to the congregation, which now numbers over 200. The Rev. W. A. Phillips has had charge of the mission during the past four years. On the Monday evening following the dedication he will be formally installed as the pastor of church.

GALLIPOLIS KEEPS MARINE HOSPITAL

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 13.—(Special.)—An effort was made during the last congress to have the marine hospital at Gallipolis, O., moved to Point Pleasant, W. Va. But the people of Gallipolis raised a protest against this action and Surgeon General Wyman of the marine hospital service, detailed Surgeon Kerr to make an investigation. Mr. Kerr has reported advising against moving the hospital and it will remain at Gallipolis.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S ASSISTANT IS WOMAN

WASHINGTON, May 13.—The war department has received mail advices from Manila that Miss Floy Gilmore has been appointed assistant attorney general for the government in the Philippines. She is the first woman appointed to such an important legal position. She went to the Philippines as a stenographer, and gained her present position by good work in the office of the attorney general.

Jonathan Frantz Ill.

Jonathan Frantz, for many years a well-known hotel proprietor in the Monongahela valley, is reported to be critically ill at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Louis H. B. Brackenmeyer, in Swissvale. Mr. Frantz, who is over 70 years old, is suffering from paralysis. For 35 years he conducted a hotel in Halket avenue, Braddock.

The Breakfast Food Idea.

Since the advent of the breakfast food idea hundreds of brands have been put upon the market, so that a family who does not use some kind of a breakfast food can rarely be found. Because of the many kinds the housewife finds it difficult to make a selection. Wheat Meat has been on the market for a number of years and is today the best of all prepared foods. That is why doctors recommend it and its sale has increased to such an extent that Wheat Meat is now the staple breakfast dish in millions of homes. One trial convinces. It is not only different from any other food but is better. Comes ready cooked. 15 cents at grocers.

IT IS LIKELY JOHN DANIELS

Man Found Drowned in the Monongahela Thought to Be a Coachman.

NOT A CASE OF MURDER

Small Boy Killed While Riding on a Wagon That Was Struck by an Allegheny Car—Other Coroner's Cases.

A man found drowned in the Monongahela river, at the foot of Short street, below Ferry, early yesterday morning, is supposed to be John Daniels, formerly employed as a coachman by Louis H. Dalzell at No. 1010 Lincoln avenue, Allegheny. Daniels worked for the family until two years ago. He had a cancerous growth on his lower lip and left his employer to undergo an operation. The entire lower lip was removed, and since that time Daniels had been working in livery and sales stables. The dead man's identity was learned from Mrs. Dalzell at her residence last night. She said that she had not seen Daniels for two years, when he left their place to go to a hospital. Daniels was single. He was about 55 years old and was a thorough horseman. There is no foundation for the theory of murder. Daniels is supposed to have fallen into the river while walking on a boat.

COULD NOT STOP CAR IN TIME.

Running rapidly down the grade just west of the Fort Wayne bridge in Western avenue yesterday afternoon shortly before 6 o'clock car No. 8182 of the Western avenue line, in charge of Motorman J. A. Rook, ran into the rear of a wagon driven by Simone Bova. The latter was thrown out and badly injured, and August Klein, aged 15 years, living in the rear of No. 206 Anderson street, was instantly killed.

According to the story told by Bova, an Italian fruit dealer, who is in the Allegheny General hospital, he was driving to his store at No. 1215 Pennsylvania avenue when the accident occurred. At Federal street five small boys jumped into the rear of the wagon and were riding there when the car, which Bova says he did not see, crashed into them. Four of the boys, who ran away when the accident happened, jumped when they saw the collision was inevitable, and young Klein fell directly under the wheels, which passed over his head. Bova was rendered unconscious and was taken to the Allegheny General hospital. He has several bad scalp wounds and an injured back. The dead boy was removed from under the car and taken to the morgue. He is the son of Frank Klein of McIntosh's court, rear of Anderson street.

Motorman Rook says Bova drove on the track just when the car was upon him and that he was unable to stop in time to avert an accident.

BRAKEMAN WAS KILLED.

D. G. Switzer, a Pennsylvania railroad brakeman, was killed by a train yesterday at Pitcairn.

The body of the man killed by a traction car at River avenue and Anderson street, Allegheny, Tuesday night was yesterday identified as that of Frank Fullerton, a resident of the North Side.

The body of Nelson Naylor, 40 years old, of Espien, who was drowned by falling from a showboat on the Ohio river about three weeks ago, was recovered at the mouth of Chartiers creek yesterday.

The remains of the unknown man killed at Port Perry early last Friday morning in a freight wreck on which he was riding were yesterday buried at Braddock by the county.

The coroner's jury at the inquest into the death of Patrick Nee of Said street, Allegheny, who died May 4 after being found unconscious in the cellar of a saloon in Beaver avenue, Allegheny, returned a verdict yesterday that Nee died from injuries received by falling downstairs.

UNKNOWN MAN WAS KILLED.

An unknown man, apparently about 45 years old, was found dead on the tracks of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad at West Homestead last night at 10:30. The body was badly cut up and judging from the contents of the pockets he was a tramp.

A colored man killed on the Ft. Wayne railroad at Edgeworth on Tuesday night and supposed to have been Isaac Smith of No. 71 Fulton street, was identified at the morgue last night at Charles Mays, a hostler, whose home in in Brooklyn. He was identified by Jacob Rolls of 71 Fulton street, where Mays had boarded for some months.

Peter Osatto died at the county home at Woodville at 3:30 yesterday afternoon from injuries received on May 1 by falling out of a window at his home in Heidelberg, near Carnegie. He was a married man, 32 years old.

Richard Adams of Thompson station was killed at 5 o'clock last evening at that place by being crushed between two cars on the Pittsburgh, Virginia & Charleston railroad. He was 65 years old.

Arthur Johnston of Elliott borough died at the Homeopathic hospital at 8 o'clock last night. He was a foreman of a gang of men working at Steuben and Carson streets and yesterday afternoon a falling gas pipe struck him on the head. He was taken to the hospital in an unconscious condition and died about five hours later. He was a married man, 27 years old.

FOUND DEAD IN A CHAIR.

Philadelphia Man Was the Victim of Acute Indigestion.

James D. Godfrey of No. 549 South Forty-eighth street, Philadelphia, was found dead in his room at the Hotel Henry last night shortly after 7 o'clock. Godfrey was an agent for N. W. Ayers & Sons, publishers, and came here Monday on business. He was taken ill Tuesday with acute indigestion and was attended by Dr. A. Pettit. Yesterday morning he went to his room and was not seen until he was found by a porter sitting in a chair dead.

There was a telegram sent to Godfrey last night which was sent to his room. When the porter opened the door he found the man sitting in the chair unconscious.

CALLED A MEETING.

Dr. Littell's Resignation to Be Acted Upon by Congregation.

An informal meeting of the session of the Second United Presbyterian church, North Negley and Stanton avenues, was held after prayer meeting at the church last night, and a congregational meeting was called for the evening of May 25 to act upon the resignation of the pastor, the Rev. David S. Littell. The meeting of the session was presided over by David Blair, the chairman of the session, and Joseph Brown acted as secretary. The meeting will be held at 7:45 o'clock in the church.

In the meantime Dr. Littell will continue to occupy the pulpit until the organ is installed. The instrument has not been ordered and probably will not be until after Dr. Littell's resignation is acted upon. There is a possibility that the congregation may reverse their former action and vote to retain Dr. Littell and not have the organ.

SUIT TO ANNUL MARRIAGE OF WOMAN AFTER HER DEATH

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, May 13.—What is regarded as a most unusual suit—the first of its kind to be tried in the courts of this country—is that which is now before Judge McCall in the supreme court. The suit is brought in the name of Sarah Duncan, who seeks to have annulled the marriage of her cousin, Sarah Kelly, who is dead, to Daniel Somers.

The controversy arises out of the disposition of the estate of Mrs. Somers, who died intestate, leaving personal property valued at $15,000 and some real estate.

Miss Duncan, as heir-at-law and next of kin, wants to establish her claim to the estate and sues to have her deceased cousin's marriage annulled on the ground that Sarah Kelly was insane at the time the marriage was performed.

SUBWAY TIE-UP IS COMPLICATED

Excavators Will Not Go to Work If They Must Contribute to Strikers.

ARBITRATION IS UPSET

Italians Refuse to Contribute 50 Cents of Their $1.50 a Day for the Benefit of Men Who Are Now Idle.

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, May 13.

Prospect of an immediate settlement of the subway tie-up was complicated today when the striking Italians, members of the newly organized excavators' union, met and decided not to go back to work.

They were ordered back to work pending an arbitration of their demand for $2 a day and eight hours, and their leaders appealed to them to return to work and avert the importation of outside workingmen, but the strikers refused when they learned they would have to give up part of their wages to the support of striking brethren.

The order issued to the striking Italians was that they should go back to work on the subway at their old wages until June 4, and that excavators and rock men employed on outside constracts should remain on strike. The proposition would have been accepted, but a rider was added. The subway men were told they would have to contribute 50 cents a day out of their wages to support the strikers on outside contracts.

After a meeting of the sub-contractors in the office of John B. McDonald this afternoon, Mr. McDonald made the following statement:

"I have heard the laborers, at the meetings of their own held today, have voted not to return to work. In taking this action they reject the proposition for arbitration as indorsed by the Central Federated union. The arbitration question, therefore, ceases to be an issue. Work has been resumed on the Rapid Transit railroad today and it will be only a few days before the places of men now on strike are filled by others willing to work under the conditions that prevailed before the strike."

CHICAGO, May 13.—(Special.)—A movement has been begun by the managements of Chicago railroads to compel labor organizations to agree to submit differences to arbitration whenever negotiations between roads and employes fail to end in agreements.

The lead in the movement is apparently being taken by the Rock Island, the Burlington and one or two other strong western lines.

It was pointed out today that the demands of labor had become so general and continuous that it was no longer possible for the operating officials to spend weeks in doubtful conference. The arbitration clause is therefore being proposed with a view of insuring results and increasing the probability of both sides beginning negotiations with a case which they are not afraid to submit to the public.

Four hundred blacksmiths and their helpers, employed in the shops of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railroad, and about the same number in the shops of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad, struck today after being refused an advance in wages.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., May 13.—(Special.)—Freight was carried in baby carriages, push carts, buggies and even in scavenger carts, today because of the tie-up caused by the striking teamsters. Large consumers of coal and firms whose freight is perishable have been forced into makeshifts to keep business going. If the strike continues factories may have to close because of non-delivery of supplies. The bakers' union voted today to strike. A bread famine is imminent.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 13.—The 600 employers of labor in this city have banded together to fight the members of labor unions who use the boycott to gain their ends, and have organized "The Employers' association." The association today decided to refuse to deliver goods to those places where non-union men or non-union made goods are discriminated against.

OMAHA, NEB., May 123.—Quiet prevailed in Omaha today and business was resumed by some proprietors whose places have been closed by the strike. The injunction issued by Judge Dickinson last night against the employers has caused excitement among business men. The restraining order is acknowledged to be a precedent in the matter of injunctions, and has put an entirely new factor into the strike situation.

DENVER, May 13.—Two hundred cooks, 600 waiters, 500 butchers and 160 bakers were called out on strike this morning by the pure foods council. Nearly all the restaurants in the city are closed.

EVANS IS IN HURRY.

Asks the Wisconsin Be Sent Him at Once, Even Minus Her Repairs.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—Telegraphic orders to the Wisconsin yesterday to proceed immediately to the Asiatic station were the result of a cablegram from Rear Admiral Evans, commander-in-chief of the station, requesting that the departure of the Wisconsin be delayed no longer, even if her repairs could not be completed.

It is the intention of the department to order the Kentucky home next winter for a thorough overhauling. That vessel has been on the Asiatic station for several years, and it is desired she be repaired in a home yard. The Wisconsin will then become the flagship of the Asiatic station.

The Ohio is expected to be ready for commission about December, and will at once be sent to the Asiatic station.

Orders are to be issued soon to the Panther, now in the Caribbean, to come north. A ship will replace the Panther, as the department has determined to keep the Caribbean sea squadron well organized.

BAD GRANT EVANS CAUGHT BY POSSE

With a Confederate He Held Up and Attacked a Man With a Hatchet.

VICTIM SERIOUSLY HURT

Chase of Miles Ended by Capturing One Highwayman in a Church Building—West End Citizens Join in the Pursuit.

Grant Evans, the leader of a gang of robbers who tortured and robbed an aged couple in Coraopolis several years ago, and who has just been released from the Western penitentiary, last night was recaptured by a posse of West End citizens after an exciting chase. Evans and another foodpad attacked James Woodall, a steel worker, in Woodville avenue, Shalerville, and when they were not given the amount of money they expected struck down their victim with a hatchet, fracturing his skull. Woodall is at the Homeopathic hospital. His condition is serious.

Evans was locked up in police station No. 8 in the West End and was placed in the "sweatbox" by Superintendent Thomas McQuaide of the bureau of detectives. The man is said to have been the phrenologist in the gang that extorted money from an old farmer and his wife near Coraopolis by applying burning irons to their feet. Evans was convicted and sentenced to serve a term of twelve and one-half years in the Western penitentiary, and had recently been released after getting the benefit of a shortened term for good behavior.

CHASED FOR TWO MILES.

The robber was chased for more than two miles by an angry mob of people who had sworn revenge. When the fugitive was finally caught he was exhausted and unable to make any resistance. The police immediately took him from the hands of the posse and thus saved the prisoner from summary justice. Evans' confederate escaped.

Woodall was walking along the boardwalk in Woodville avenue shortly after dark last night, and when he had reached a spot where the houses were few, he noticed a man following him with rapid, cautious steps. At the corner of Shaler street the boardwalk is elevated somewhat above the street, and when Woodall reached this point a man suddenly emerged from beneath the walk and sprang to his feet, demanding money. At this juncture the stranger who had been following seized Woodall and repeated the demand with an oath.

Woodall offered no resistance. Reaching into his pocket he drew forth some change and said:

"Here's 50 cents. It's all I have, and you can take it."

NOT ENOUGH MONEY.

This did not satisfy the highwaymen. Woodall assured them that it was all the money in his pocket. They threw the money away in contempt, one of the men raised a hatchet and as it fell upon the defenseless man's head Woodall cried loudly for help. The first blow brought him to the ground and the two men stood over him and struck him again and again.

Woodall's cries for help brought two men down the boardwalk from a neighboring brickyard. Howard Watkins of Woodville avenue and a companion came face to face with the bandits and themselves narrowly escaped being included in the assault. Dealing Woodall a final blow, the robbers fled.

Watkins and two other men who had witnessed the assault started in pursuit. Others joined at every turn and chased Evans and his partner into the hollow above Temperanceville. The alarm was given and 50 men soon had joined in the pursuit. Evans in desperation dashed into Sawmill run and forded the stream at every opportunity in order to elude his pursuers.

EVANS WAS CAPTURED.

With his shoes worn out and his feet blistered and his clothing saturated with water, the robber finally crept into a small building in the rear of the Protestant Episcopal church in Independence street, where he was captured by John Carlton of Warden street and Harry Moore of Independence street.

The prisoner was given over to Policeman John H. Sparver and quickly locked up in the station house. During the chase Policeman Richards, who was mistaken for one of the fugitives, was struck on the right arm by a stone. Evans admitted that he had served time in the penitentiary for complicity in the famous Coraopolis burglary, and when confronted by the detectives was learned to be a man with a bad criminal record.

At the hospital it was stated that Woodall's skull had been fractured in two places. The wounds had been made with the blade of a hatchet. It is thought that he will recover.

PERSUASIVE POLICEMAN.

Louis Beiler Coaxes Offenders Back Into His Territory and Arrests Them.

Policeman Louis Beiler is a spellbinder in the true sense of the word. Early yesterday morning he chased George and Allis Millabaum and Anton Grail over the city line into lower St. Clair township. The policeman logged them to come back within the city limits and they agreed to do so and quietly talk the matter over. Thereupon Beiler, with the assistance of another officer, placed the men under arrest.

The Millabaums and Grail, it is said, laid in wait near the head of South Twenty-second street and attacked Michael West and Frank Bredel, who were arrested later. All of the men are badly used up as a result of the melee.

The two Millabaums boarded a car on the South Twenty-Second street incline and made tracks for the city line, with Officer Beiter at their heels. When they got into the township they laughed at the policeman, but his persuasive voice brought them back. The prisoners were all fined.

Dilo Had a Revolver.

John Dilo was arrested at the Baltimore & Ohio shops at Glenwood yesterday afternoon. It is said the man was loafing around the shops and when John Gray, of Flowers avenue, ordered him away, he drew a revolver and threatened to shoot him. When taken to the station house a revolver was found in his pocket.

OFFICERS MAY GET INCREASE

Raise in Salaries and Bigger Insurance Reserve Discussed by Conductors.

CONVENTION GETS BUSY

Trip to Charleroi, Business Session and Allegheny Entertainment Make Day a Varied One for Members of Convention.

Insurance was the subject that yesterday engrossed the attention of the delegates to the convention of the Order of Railway Conductors in session here. The proposition is up to make the reserve fund unlimited. The present regulations limit it to $500,000. As there is $50,000,000 of insurance in force, this is thought unwise and unsafe. This propositon and several others along the same line reached second reading yesterday, and will be up again today.

The salaries of Grand Conductor Clark and other grand officers are likely to be increased at this meeting. The plan was discussed yesterday, and the general belief is that the salary of the grand conductor will be increased from $5,000 to $8,000. The reports of the trustees and grand officers were adopted yesterday.

It was settled yesterday to retain the headquarters of the order at Cedar Rapids, Ia. The vote was almost unanimous in favor of this.

An invitation was extended the convention for members to make such use of the rooms of the East End board of trade in Shady avenue as they may wish.

PORTLAND ENTERS CONTEST.

J. W. Crocker appeared at the convention yesterday armed with a large supply of buttons boosting Portland, Ore., for the 1905 convention, the year of the Lewis and Clark centennial expositon. The fight for the convention is warming up briskly. Buffalo still is making the strongest showing.

The plant of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company at Charlerol was visited by a large contingent of conductors yesterday, a special train being run over the Monongahela division of the Pennsylvania for their accommodation. The feature of this trip was the fact that about 100 of the conductors missed the train on account of confusion in the time. Conductor E. P. Cooper of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie requested Supt. G. B. Obey to take care of those left, and a special train was furnished them at once by the Lake Erie, enabling them to make the visit.

Last night the delegates and visitors were tendered a reception by Allegheny division No. 314 in Waldorf hall, Sandusky street, Allegheny. About 3,000 were present and a delightful evening was spent. Refreshments were served about midnight.

TRIP ON THE RIVERS TODAY.

Today the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen will entertain the delegates and visitors with a boat excursion on the Monongahela river. The steamer Mayflower will leave on its first trip at 8:30 o'clock and return at about 5 o'clock this afternoon. It will make a second trip at 8 o'clock this evening and return at midnight.

The delegates and visitors will make a trip to the Homer Laughlin potteries at East Liverpool, O. A special train will leave Union station over the Cleveland & Pittsburgh railroad at 8 o'clock this morning, stopping at the Allegheny depot and will return at 6:15 p. m. Souvenirs will be given each visitor at the potteries and a luncheon will be served by Wellsville division No. 289. The business men of East Liverpool have made great preparations for the reception of the conductors and their wives, and will show them a fine time.

Tomorrow night the Elks of Pittsburgh will entertain their brother Elks, members of the conductors' order, at their club, Fifth avenue and Jumonville street.

Buried Far from Home.

COSHOCTON, O., May 13.—(Special.)—Eva Pierson, the Chicago woman who died on a train here March 27, was buried today at New Comerstown. Word was received from relatives in Copenhagen, Denmark, that they were too poor to send for the body.

Four Years in Prison.

WASHINGTON, PA., May 13.—(Special.)—Wilbur Sharp, the negro who, with Cornelius Wilkens, held up a ferry boat near Courtney and robbed the passengers, shooting one of them, was this evening sentenced to the Western penitentiary for four years. His pal has not been captured.

Pierced by a Board.

James Casey, 25 years old, employed by the Homestead Lumber Company, was walking on top of a lumber pile and fell yesterday afternoon, a large piece of board piercing his side. He was taken to the Mercy hospital, where a large splinter was found to be imbedded in the flesh. His condition is serious.

DIED.

BACHMAN—On Wednesday, May 13, 1903, at 7:55 a.m., at the family home, No. 823 Grant avenue, Allegheny, HELMA J., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sol Bachman.

Notice of funeral hereafter.

CLAIMED BROKEN ARM AND GAVE UP THE FIGHT

Marvin Hart Quit in Twelfth Round—Action Was Rapid While It Lasted.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

AUDITORIUM, LOUISVILLE, KY., May 13.—George Gardner was given the decision over Marvin Hart at the end of the twelfth round in their fight before the Southern Athletic club tonight. Hart at the end of the 12th claimed that his right hand had been broken and gave up the fight. The combat was like that of young bulls in spring time. Hart was strong and vigorous, but Gardner was much faster and landed oftener. Both were very weak at the finish. The fight was to have gone twenty rounds at catch weights, with Tim Hurst as referee.

The men stepped into the ring at 10 o'clock, Hart weighing 170 pounds and Gardner 164. They got to work immediately, Gardner leading with hard right swings, which were cleverly ducked by Hart. In a clinch, Gardner landed a hard upper cut to the chin, but the return from Hart was hot. Time after time in the rounds that followed, the men swung vicious hooks for the head each working for a speedy finish. Gardner invariably made fine play at Hart's wind with short arm jolts during the clinches. Hart was putting up a long range fight, but his wicked swings generally went wild or were blocked cleverly by Gardner.

In the third round there was a hot exchange of rights to the head, followed by a hail of blows to wind and jaw from Hart, which made Gardner see stars, but the gong ended it.

In the fourth, Gardner by a series of short right and left hooks to the head weakened Hart, but he was unable to finish it. Both men were tired, but Hart soon rallied in wonderful fashion. The terrific pace was maintained in the next three rounds. Gardner looked weak and Hart was bloody. The end of the tenth round found Gardner coming strong. A series of right hooks made Hart groggy. It was still anybody's fight in the twelfth, in spite of the fact that Gardner was the cleverer. He hit Hart as often as he desired, but his blows lacked steam. Hart surprised the crowd by claiming a broken right hand and his seconds threw up the sponge.

Hart was badly battered up about the face, while Gardner was unmarked.

FATHER AND SON DIED ON THE VERY SAME DAY

Double Funeral to Be Held in Home of Thomas Lloyd of Braddock.

Death claimed two victims from the home of Thomas Lloyd in Braddock yesterday. At 7:30 o'clock in the morning Clarence, the 15-months-old son, died and was followed just 12 hours later by Thomas Lloyd, his father. Both succumbed to attacks of bronchitis.

When the child's death occurred the funeral arrangements were fixed for this afternoon, but this plan was soon altered. The father did not recover from the shock caused by the death of his little son and suffered a sudden relapse. He had been ill nearly two months, and in his weakened state the physicians were unable to rally their patient, and he died at nightfall.

A double funeral will be held tomorrow. The services will be conducted tonight by the Rev. George T. Street of the First Baptist church, and the Rev. William G. Teaglue of the First Presbyterian church, Braddock.

Mr. Lloyd was 28 years of age and was born in Houtzdale, Pa., and since coming to Braddock had been associated with his father, Isaac Lloyd, in the hotel business. He was a member of the First Baptist church and was prominently identified with the local lodge of the Knights of Pythias.

PERSONALS

A. Solvay and S. Solvay, accompanied by E. Hulin of Brussels, Belgium, arrived in the city last night on an inspection of the American plants of the Selmet Solvay Company. This company manufactures a by-product of coke, principally sodas, which is used in the manufacture of glass, paper and several other articles. The firm controls works all over the world. The American works are located at Syracuse and Detroit. The party registered at the Duquesne and will leave this morning for New York, from where they will sail for Europe.

Dr. J. H. Chandler of Centerville, Del., and Dr. Charles Green of Greenville, Del., were passengers on the Pittsburgh limited last night. They are on a tour of the Pacific coast.

James K. Houston, general manager of the American Bridge Company, left last night for Chicago on a business trip. Before leaving he said the works at Ambridge are progressing rapidly.

Paul Wolfer of Philadelphia, chief engineer of the American Bridge Company, gave a dinner to a number of officials of the company at the Lincoln last night. It was an informal affair.

A party of district officials of the United States Steel Corporation will pass through the city this morning on a trip of inspection of the Donora plant. They spent yesterday at Cleveland.

TAKES AUTO RIDE.

Miss Roosevelt Is Rapidly Recovering from Her Recent Nervous State.

WASHINGTON, May 13. (Special.)—Miss Alice Roosevelt has so far recovered from the nervous state she was in that she is now able to go out. She drove in an open carriage yesterday, and today, feeling stronger, ordered an automobile. Her courage was great, for the machine in which she left the White House was large and startling in appearance.

She sat in the driver's seat with the intention of handling the machine herself, but her chauffeur guided it out of the grounds for her. Miss Roosevelt is a good sportswoman, and even the largest of automobiles has no terrors for her.

Mrs. Roosevelt, with a party of friends, today had a brisk canter on horseback over the roads in the suburbs, which are now so great an attraction to the first lady in the land, who is very fond of nature in all its phases.

PRESBYTERIANS GO TO THE COAST

John M. Converse, President of Baldwin Locomotive Works, Among Them.

MAYBE NEXT MODERATOR

Two Special Trains Passed Through the City Last Night and Three More Are Scheduled for This Morning.

John H. Converse, president of the Baldwin locomotive works, passed through the city last night on his way to Los Angeles, Cal. He will attend the Presbyterian general assembly. His headquarters are in Philadelphia and he came to the city early in the evening to meet friends who will accompany him to the coast.

Mr. Converse is chairman of the evangelical board of the Presbyterian church of North America, of which J. Wilbur Chapman is secretary. He goes to Los Angeles principally to make a report of the board's operation for the past year. It was organized two years ago at the general assembly held in Philadelphia.

Speaking of the board Mr. Converse said: "Great work has been done since this board was established. I am greatly in favor of holding services in tents during the summer months, when the warm weather makes indoor services miserable. Good work has been done in Pittsburgh. There is much for the board to do, but it has to cut the garment according to the cloth."

CANDIDATE FOR MODERATOR.

Mr. Converse is a candidate for moderator of the general assembly. He refused to speak of his candidacy last night other than admit that he is an applicant for the position. He has the unanimous indorsement of the evangelical board and is being supported by several other branches of the assembly. Should he be the choice of the assembly for moderator he will be the first person in the history of the denomination, not an ordained minister, that has filled the position.

For several years Mr. Converse has been connected with the Baldwin locomotive works, which has plants at Philadelphia and Lewistown. At the Lewistown plant all the tires, wheels and castings for the machines are manufactured, while at the Philadelphia works the machines are put together and finished. He said regarding the manufacture of locomotives: "The demand for engines has not abated. Orders are pouring in faster than ever and it is simply impossible to supply the demand. At the Lewistown plants, where the first parts of the engines are manufactured, the orders were never so far behind. Contracts have been placed which call for a very late delivery. We give the Pennsylvania railroad seve locomotives a week and some are delivered to the lines west."

Two extra sections were run last night to Los Angeles. They are called the Assembly tour, with two routes. One calls for the passengers going to the coast and return in a body, while the other section gives the passengers privilege of returning when and over what line they please, so that they arrive home by July 15.

PITTSBURGHERS GO TO COAST

Among the passengers who boarded the train in Pittsburgh were the Rev. E. P. Cowan, Miss Emilie A. Cowan, Miss Kate H. Murphy, Miss Mary C. Murphy, Pittsburgh; H. T. Reed, Reedsville; Daniel Small, Apollo, on the first section, which was in charge of Tourist Agent O. R. Hartel, Chaperon Miss R. J. Caldwell, Stenographer Miss Emma L. Weeks and Babbage Agent F. G. McLaughlin.

On the second section were Mrs. Sarah Bell, Bellwood; William A. Brodie and wife, Pittsburgh; A. M. Buchanan and wife, Morgantown; Mrs. J. M. Dawson, Uniontown; J. P. Diffenbacher and wife, Coudersport; O. H. Dilg and wife, Morgantown; Edward Gress and wife, Pittcairn; A. Hess and wife, Altoona; E. G. Hettrimer and wife, Pittsburgh, and Judge Appleton and wife, Morgantown. This section was in charge of Tourist Agent Ernest C. Schmidt, Chaperon Miss May H. Henderson, Stenographer N. S. Longacre and Baggagemaster A. Cole.

There are several passengers on the trains who are not directly interested in the general assembly. The tour is considered a cheap one. The Assembly tour tickets were sold for $120, including transportation, Pullman berth and all meals in dining car. The same tour, returning independently, were sold for $90. The Yellowstone park tour, covering all accommodations, were sold for $244. The Home Mission tour, which will pass through the city this morning, were sold for $144. The same tour, returning independently, for $130.

The Death Roll.

Selma J. Bachman.

Miss Selma J. Bachman died last evening, after three days' illness, at the residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Solomon Bachman, No. 823 Grant avenue, Allegheny. For about eight years she had been employed as stenographer in the main offices of the Carnegie Steel Company, and was widely and favorably known. She was educated in the schools of the North Side and was an active member of the Columbian Council of Jewish Women. Miss Bachman was 23 years old, and passed her entire life in Allegheny. She belonged to the Rodeph Shalom congregation in Eighth street, of which Dr. J. Leonard Levy is rabbi. Besides her parents, deceased is survived by one brother, Sidney Bachman, and one sister, Miss Violet Bachman.

Mrs. Anna M. Noonan Buried.

Mrs. Anna M. Noonan, for many years a resident of North Braddock, was buried with solemn requiem high mass yesterday morning at St. Thomas' Roman Catholic church, Braddock, of which she was a chapter member. The Very Rev. Father John Hickey, the pastor, was celebrant; the Rev. Father P. T. May, deacon, and the Rev. Father Joseph Burgoon, sub-deacon. The Very Rev. Father Hickey, for the first time for some years, performed the services at the grave in Monongahela cemetery.

Mrs. Rhoda Anderson.

Mrs. Rhoda Anderson, one of the oldest residents of Washington county, Pa., died Tuesday night at her home near West Alexander, at the age of 69 years. Mrs. Anderson was born Aug. 11, 1833, on her father's farm, near Thomas station, in Washington county, and resided in that county all her life. She is survived by five children, as follows: Rev. James Anderson, of Gowanda, county, N. Y.; Mrs. Mary A. Boggs, Chicago; Rhoda Anderson, at home; Jennie Anderson of Pittsburgh and A. T. Anderson of Washington.

DAVIS DISAPPROVES.

Says Lieut. Lee Exceeded Authority in Ordering Escaping Prisoners Shot.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—Gen. Davis, commanding the Philippines, has disapproved the findings in the court-martial case which acquitted Lieut. Joel R. Lee, Tenth infantry, tried for manslaughter.

Lee had charge of a number of prisoners in Mindanao, and handing his revolver to a corporal charged that soldier to shoot any prisoners who attempted to escape. Two natives were killed and on trial Lee was justified by the court.

Gen. Davis, in reviewing the case, says that Lee exceeded his authority in ordering the prisoners shot.

H. C. FRICK GETS CATHEDRAL TODAY

Formal Transfer of the Property Will Be Made at Midnight.

INTERIOR DISMANTLED

Keys Will Be Turned Over to New Owner Without Ceremony This Afternoon—Lyceum Festival Closes.

This midnight old St. Paul's Roman Catholic cathedral, at Fifth avenue and Grant street, will forever pass out of the possession of the Pittsburgh diocese of the Roman Catholic church. During today the few remaining articles of value in the building will be removed to the new Church of the Epiphany at Washington and Franklin streets. When the doors of the historic edifice and those of the episcopal residence adjoining the cathedral are bolted and barred this afternoon it will mark the end of the property's usefulness for religious purposes.

Some time this afternoon the keys of the cathedral and other buildings on the site will be turned over to H. C. Frick, the new owner of the property, and after this midnight the cathedral authorities will no longer be responsible for the property. There will be no special ceremony in ab

HOMEWOOD HOUSE SOLD FOR $35,000

William McConway Buys the Gillespie Residence in Lexington Street.

FIFTH AVENUE BARGAINS

Collins Avenue Property Sold. Big Farm Deal Pending—New Company Finances Large Building Projects.

T. A. Gillespie has sold his residence, at No. 220 Lexington avenue, for $35,000 to William McConway of the McConway & Torley Company, who has occupied it three years. The property is a choice one situated only three doors from Penn avenue, in the heart of the Homewood district. The lot faces 50 feet on the west side of the street and runs back 154 feet to the property of H. C. Frick. A 13-room center hall residence and a brick stable stand on the plot. Near by are the properties of Thomas Carnegie, Thomas Armstrong and James P. Sterrett, besides the extensive holdings of Mr. Frick.

GOT A BARGAIN.

What is generally considered a bargain in Fifth avenue real estate, was announced yesterday by George C. Norris of the Consolidated Real Estate Company, who sold for Charles Feldstein to Jacob Kleinmann the property at No. 1404, for $26,000. The lot is 20x112 feet to an alley, so that the rate of sale was only $1,300 a front foot. The property is situated on the south side of the avenue, near Stevenson street, and has erected on it a three-story building, the best in the square. Directly across the street is the Fifth Avenue National bank and two doors away is the building of the Merchants Savings and Trust Company. The building covers the entire lot and is a choice location for a store. The annual rental is $2,000.

J. W. Sherrer of the same company has sold for the David R. Kuhn estate to a local investor the old Kuhn homestead in Collins avenue, opposite the Empire theater, East End, for $15,000. The lot is 46x129 feet, so that the price paid was over $300 a front foot. The double brick house on the lot will be torn down to give place to a modern store and office building, to cost $40,000. This sale and the improvements contemplated afford still further evidence of the way the East End business district is spreading out and the higher prices that are being obtained for property. Only a few months ago the Mellons sold the northeast corner of Collins avenue and Broad street to the Pittsburgh Upholstering Company for a site for a big warehouse, which is now building, and the northwest corner of the same streets to J. Mercer for a hotel site. Inquiries for property in this immediate neighborhood indicate that other similar projects are now contemplated.

DOES NOT PAY TO HESITATE.

The 20-year lease on the Hamilton building for $840,000, made through the W. H. Skivington Company and detailed in another column, should be a good lesson to the procrastinating investor. When Frank McClunn bought the building a few months ago for $450,000, or $15,000 a front foot for the Fifth avenue frontage, there were many who predicted that it was a fancy figure on which a paying revenue could not be realized. The lease just closed will give the owner over 8 per cent, after spending $50,000 for improvements. Moreover the Hamilton building could not be bought today, were the lease not made, for less than $900,000, according to the statements of brokers who have recently submitted offers. The sale of the Paulsen property at No. 441 Wood street for $140,000, noted yesterday in this column, is another example of the same kind. Three buyers were in the field but hesitated at the price and lost their chance to get the property for probably less than $150,000. The Hotel Boyer, which has been on the market for months at the price paid Tuesday, $175,000, was offered to a number of well-known investors, but they demurred. Yesterday it was the general opinion of the street that at the price paid it was a bargain, for as a warehouse site it has exceptional advantages and has always been a good site for a hotel.

NEW LOT PLAN COMING.

The East Pittsburgh Improvement Company is about to close negotiations, it is reported, for the Kline farm of 250 acres on the south side of the Pennsylvania railroad in North Versailles township. The farm adjoins Turtle Creek borough and is valued at $200,000. The Wilmerding and Braddock division of the Pittsburgh Railways Company runs near it, making it accessible to the towns in the valley. It will be plotted and put on the market this summer.

Through the agency of Clark & Johns M. Rosenshine has sold to Peter Robin of the Robin Drug Company 20x96 feet, at the southeast corner of Center avenue and Crawford street, Eleventh ward, for $12,000. The lot is improved with a large brick house, which the owner will remodel and occupy with a drug store.

Thomas McCaffrey has sold for A. W. Mellon to Louis Gratch No. 2709 Penn avenue for $12,000. The lot is 24x100 feet and is improved with three small brick houses. The same broker sold for the Margaret Gruber estate to Anton Gruber Nos. 2912-14 Smallman street, five brick houses on lot 24x120 feet, for $6,500.

BUILDING MANY HOUSES.

The Commercial Building Company, which was organized less than a year ago to finance the building of houses and flats, has already built or started 250 houses since January 1. In the Elliott allotment in Elliott borough the company has just finished 62 frame houses which cost from $1,800 to $2,400 each. Another bunch of 50 similar houses will be built there by the same company at once and it will be started June 1 by other owners. In Edgewood the company has just finished six houses, costing $6,000 each, and six dwellings are being built in Watson boulevard, Allegheny, that will cost together $27,000.

Architect Charles Bickel is taking bids on a brick and stone residence for Richard Hartje in Dunmoyle street, Squirrel hill. The house will cost about $50,000. The same architect has revised plans and taken bids on the warehouse of the Equitable Motor Company, which was held up a few weeks ago because of too high prices. The contract will be awarded in a few days.

Architect T. H. Scott is taking bids on a $15,000 brick and stone residence for Miss Mary A. Barnes in Negley avenue.

DRAWING MANY BUYERS.

Wilkins place: The Commonwealth Real Estate and Trust Company sold to Clara J. Henning of Braddock lot No. 48 in Wilkins place, at the corner of La Clair and Charles avenues for $2,750. The lot is 50x120 feet and will be improved at once with a fine residence.

J. Edward Salzner has awarded the contract for a $10,000 residence at the southeast corner of Milton and Saunders streets in the same plan, and eight other house are no wonder way in adjacent streets. This makes a total of 35 houses that have been started in Wilkins place the past year, showing that it is fast becoming a coveted residence district.

Belmar place: E. M. Butz sold to George B. McKee No. 7213 Monticello street, a 10-room reception hall brick house on lot 30x96 feet for $7,000. This is one of the five houses that Mr. Butz has just completed in the same street.

Mt. Lebanon: The Mt. Lebanon Land and Trust Company sold to E. H. Clatty three lots 60x135 feet each in Washington avenue, Clearview plan, for $4,500.

South Side: Joseph P. Rankin & Co. sold for William H. Emmert four lots, 20x100 feet each, in the C. H. Love plan in Ossipe street, South Side, to Mrs. Margaret Humble for $1,500; for Frank E. Schlumpf a lot 22x135 feet in Maple avenue, Ambridge, for $1,100; for George W. Sparks to an East End man a six-room frame house, lot 50x125 feet, in Grapeville, Westmoreland county, for $2,500.

Avalon: A. Z. Byers sold for W. H. Hastings to H. F. McCurdy a vacant lot 74x97 feet in Charles street, Avalon, for $750.

Samuel W. Black & Co. sold for Harry Hastie the four-room dwelling, No. 5016 Chaplin street, Twenty-third ward, for $1,500. The purchaser will occupy as a home.

Building permits were issued yesterday to Elizabeth Leonard for a three-story store and dwelling on South Eighteenth street extension, Twenty-seventh ward, to cost $2,000; August Nawowski, three-story frame dwelling on Ridge street, Thirteenth ward, to cost $2,400; John Enright, two-story frame store and dwelling on Mathilda street, Nineteenth ward, to cost $900; Margaret A. Joyce, two-story frame dwelling on Breedshill street, Nineteenth ward, to cost $1,400; W. H. Barker, two two-story frame dwellings on North Allegheny street, Twenty-third ward, to cost $3,000.

GROWING PRODUCE NEEDS MOISTURE

Strawberry Supply Is Light. Florida Tomatoes Lower. New Peas Advance.

Now that the weather has become warmer, growers of produce are longing for rain, as more moisture is needed to bring along growing crops. Until there is rain there is little prospect of lower prices ruling for home products, for of any increase in the number of varieties coming to market. The supply of strawberries on Saturday was limited to two cars, one coming from Tennessee and the other from Virginia and Maryland. Of berries from the latter state there were very few. Prices held very firm, and all offerings were quickly sold. Florida tomatoes, which have held firm for a long time, weakened yesterday with the arrival of larger supplies, and lower prices prevailed. Peas were scarce, and quotations were stronger, an advance in prices being made. Otherwise fruits and produce are unchanged, with demand steady.

Receipts of hay and grain were light, and the market was firm, except for low grade hay, which is very weak. Buyers are anxious for corn, and offerings of top figures were made to secure supplies. Oats are steady, at the quoted range. Wheat is a little lower.

No change was made in the list of grocery prices, and the market as far as could be ascertained is fairly steady. Flour is still being sold at concessions from the list for attractive orders. Beans have not been advanced in the local market, although there is a strong feeling at shipping points. Sugar is feeble, unchanged, though some refiners have made a 3-point advance. Coffee is quiet.

Butter is steady at the advance Monday, and receipts are moving out with a fair degree of activity. Cheese is easy, and dealers are expecting lower prices this week. Fresh eggs were slightly firmer yesterday, but no change was made in selling figures. Supplies are moderate, and market east and west showed a steady tendency.

Supplies of poultry continue just about adequate to the demand, and prices are unchanged. Demand keeps up to a fair amount, and arrivals are not allowed to accumulate.

SOME WEAK SPOTS IN EASTERN STOCKS

Pennsylvania Railroad and U. S. Steel Declined. Westinghouse Electric Broke to 104—Call Money Rates Easier.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

There were numerous cross currents in the eastern stock market yesterday, some specialties ruling strong and others weak. During the early part of the day the general tendency was downward. The dominating influence was the continued heaviness of Pennsylvania railroad and the reports of a sharp reaction in the iron and steel market. So far as the latter is concerned, it was officially denied by the chief producers of steel that any break had occurred in prices, and reasons were given why there should be no serious change at this time. It is true that no open quotations, such as mentioned, have been made, but at the same time, buyers of billets contend that concessions have been made from recent quotations, and there is a disposition on the part of these buyers to wait and see if even better terms cannot be obtained. This feeling, it might be remarked, is not confined to the iron market—it is most strikingly manifested in the stock market. In the present instance, the waiting policy on the part of consumers of iron and steel is strengthened by the increase in labor troubles, which are interrupting the prompt delivery of material, particularly that required in structural work. These troubles affect such stocks in our local market as Harbison-Walker and National Fire Proofing. There is a feeling, however, that with a settlement of strikes and resumption of work, the consumptive demand that has been held in check will make itself felt in still greater activity in the iron market.

Professional traders, whose operations constitute the great bulk of the business on the stock exchange, seized upon the moment when sentiment was favorable for the purposes, and attacked the market in the early dealings. U. S. Steel common sold off at 33¾, the lowest price of the year, and the preferred declined to 82¾. The former closed near the lowest, while the latter recovered most of its loss. While this movement was in progress, Colorado Fuel and Iron was active and strong, opening higher at 69¼ and advancing to 70, the close being near the highest of the day. Tennessee Coal & Iron was also firmer. In the railroad list there was considerable pressure against Pennsylvania, and the stock steadily declined to 128⅝, the lowest of the year. Late in the day it recovered to 129¾. New York Central, Atchison, Union Pacific and Baltimore & Ohio were also under considerable pressure during the early part of the day and declined. Baltimore & Ohio, however, was strengthened by the publication of its report of April earnings, showing an increase of $316,303 in operating expenses, and an increase of $435,000 in net earnings. The net earnings of the road from July 1 to April 30 increased more than $2,000,000. The stock rallied to 92½ and closed at 92¼. The report of the New York Central for the March quarter also made a favorable showing as to gross earnings, which increased $3,259,945, but the net income increased only $643,454. In the traction list Metropolitan Securities was a weak feature, selling down close to 90, as compared with 104 just a week ago. In the latter part of the day trading became dull, but there was a steady improvement in the tone, and closing prices showed considerable recoveries from the lowest. London was a buyer on balance. The total transactions reached 513,500 shares.

Call money rates were quite easy, declining to 2 per cent, the lowest of the year. Sterling exchange remained firm, and while there were no further engagements of gold for export, it is not improbable that shipments will be made next week. The speculation in cotton, which again carried the price to the highest of the year, is looked upon as a menace. Reference was made in this column yesterday to the effect which the high price is having upon our export trade. The detailed figures of the treasury department show that the total amount exported during April was 120,000,000 pounds, being a decrease of 27,000,000 pounds, as compared with February the decrease was 241,000,000 pounds. Fortunately our exports of corn continue large and help to offset the reduction in cotton and wheat.

⊙ ⊙ ⊙

On the local stock exchange yesterday the steel stocks became active, in sympathy with the movement in the east. More than 2,100 shares U. S. Steel changed hands, the price declining to 33⅞ and closing at 34, a net decline for the day of ½ per cent. The preferred stock sold down to 83, a net decline of 1 per cent. Crucible Steel common, sold all day at 18, but at the close was offered at 17½. The preferred stock sold within a range of 82¾ to 82⅜, closing at the lowest. National Fire Proofing common declined to 27 and the preferred to 36, the lowest prices of the year. The weakest of the industrials, however, was Westinghouse Electric, which opened at 106½@106¾ and broke to 104 on the announcement of the terms for the allotment of new stock. Holders of record May 23 will have the right to prescribe for the new stock in proportion to one of the latter for four shares now held at the rate of $80 a share. Traders were disappointed in the action of the directors in fixing so high a price for the new stock, although this action is significant of the high credit of the company which is able to sell its security at a premium of $30 a share, or 60 per cent. This premium will be added to the book value of the stock, and is really a bullish argument from the standpoint of the investor, although speculative purchasers will not be able to reap the expected profits that were predicted upon a subscription price variously estimated at $60 to $70 a share. The local stocks held their own well, Pittsburgh Coal common showing a decline of only ⅛ per cent for the day and the preferred a decline of ¼ per cent. River Coal was unchanged.

In the banking group the only active stock was Iron City Trust, which advanced to 168 and the latter reacted at 166. Mortgage Banking advanced to 186½, a new high record, but later reacted to 185. Real Estate Trust declined to 315. Small lots of Colonial Trust sold at 635 and 630, the latter being a net decline of 16 per cent from the last previous sale last week. American Trust was unchanged at 515. A small lot of Second National Bank sold at 825, a decline of 25 points from the last previous sale last March. There were no transactions in bonds and prices remained unchanged.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

Some disappointment was expressed by stockholders of Westinghouse Electric yesterday over the action of the directors in fixing the price at $80 a share for subscriptions to the $4,500,000 treasury stock offered for sale. Stockholders of record of May 24 will have the right to subscribe, provided their subscriptions are made before June 8 next. On the exchanges the stock had been selling at 106½@106¾, but on the announcement of the terms of subscription was made the price declined to 104, recovering to 105 at the close. Taking as a basis $105 a share, the rights on the stock would be worth about $5 a share. There has been large speculative buying of the stock during the past six or eight months on the theory that there would be an issue of new stock at something between $60 and $70 a share, and that later a stock dividend would be declared. These buyers are the disappointed ones, because the subscription price of $80 for stock having a market value of $105 represents $400 a share to the holder of ten shares in allotment. Even if the dividend rate is advanced to a 10 per cent basis in July, which is regarded as almost certain, the return on the investment would be only 8 per cent, which is low by comparison with many stocks now in the market. It was suggested in this department some time ago that the financial credit of the Westinghouse companies was now very high, and that the action in subscriptions indicated that the management of the Westinghouse companies generally fully appreciated the value of their securities, that there was a necessity for offering extra inducements to sell new stock. The Westinghouse people are following the recent example of bankers in offering their stock at a high premium, and it is to be inferred that the Electric issue is underwritten at $80 a share, just as the issue made in April, 1901, was underwritten at $35 a share. On the latter occasion the stock had increased to 67, and the subscription rights sold at $1 25 to $2 20. In May the market reacted to 60, but from that point there was a steady upward movement until in September, 1902, it touched the record price of 116½. The premium of 60 per cent on the $4,500,000 stock now offered for subscription amounts to $2,700,000, which, added to the principal, would mean $7,200,000 cash placed at the disposal of the company for the purpose of carrying out its plans. The growth of the company's business is shown by its consolidated net sales for the past year, which were $12,793,705; in 1901 they were $15,853,481; in 1902, $19,973,958, and in the last fiscal year ended March 31, they aggregated $18,890,000. Net earnings for the same years were $4,850,000 in round figures. These are taken after liberal deductions for depreciation and other purposes, and after payment of dividends that exceed 20 per cent in cash on the outstanding stock. Stockholders of record of May 23 will have the right to subscribe for one share of new stock for every four shares of their present holdings. Holders of both stocks will have the right to subscribe in the same proportion. Subscriptions, accompanied by check for $30 for each share subscribed, must be in the hands of the company not later than June 8. The remainder is to be paid for in two payments of $25 and $25 on September 1 and October 14. Holders of the new stock will participate in the dividend for the quarter ending in September.

For probably the first time this year, every local industrial stock which showed any price changes yesterday closed at net declines. In the banking group only two stocks showed gains, and six others showed net declines of 25 cents to $25 a share.

Pittsburgh Oil and Gas closed at 90 bid, and Manufacturers Light and Heat new stock was quoted at 41¾@42.

Cosmopolitan National bank closed at 109 bid; Merchants' Savings and Trust, 75½ bid; Colonial Trust, 630 bid.

The formal inspection of the Clairton Steel plant by the Crucible Steel officials was highly satisfactory, but the report of the same did not have any effect upon the market for the Crucible shares.

Mortgage Banking made a new high record by advancing to 188½, but it later reacted to 185.

Payment has been called of 50 per cent of subscriptions to Industrial National bank stock, payable tomorrow. This and other subscriptions of the same class, together with the subscriptions that will be made to the Westinghouse Electric stock, and the subscriptions that have already been made for Pennsylvania railroad stock here, will tend to keep the local money market decidedly active.

There were sales in New York yesterday for Pittsburgh account of rights to subscribe for 10,000 shares of United States Steel at prices ranging from 20 to 10 cents each. In many instances holders of such rights, which expire tomorrow, did not attempt to realize anything upon them. Nevertheless some local dealers have been figuring on these new bonds and have arrived at the conclusion, both from a speculative and an investment standpoint, that they are a purchase around 85½. The price at which they were quoted yesterday. It is estimated that these bonds—for at least a very considerable proportion of the entire issue of $250,000,000—will remain the underwriting syndicate about 88, and that in order to dispose of them at a profit they will have to put the market in the neighborhood of 93. So much for the speculative possibilities. From the investment point of view, it is figured that the profits of the corporation could suffer a shrinkage of at least $30,000,000 a year before interest on these new bonds would be jeopardized. When the conversion has been completed there will be $810,000,000 preferred stock outstanding, representing dividend requirements of $21,700,000, and $510,000,000 common stock, which at 4 per cent will require $20,400,000, a total of $42,100,000 which must be passed before interest is defaulted on the new bonds. In addition to this the corporation is starting about $200,000,000 a year in excess of all charges, which sum added to the present dividend requirements, would exceed $60,000,000, which might be counted as the margin of safety for the bond interest.

An incident of the market yesterday was the advance to 97⅜ bid for International Marine 4½ per cent bonds. On Tuesday these bonds were quoted on the New York curb at 75.

Norfolk & Western declared the regular semi-annual dividend of 1½ per cent.

Comment was made on the fact that Steel common was nearly selling on a basis of 33 per cent. That is to say, the purchaser of the stock on margin would not only be able to pay 6 per cent interest to his broker for carrying, but would receive another 6 per cent in addition.

A stock in which there was marked selling was Rock Island. One house alone sold some 20,000 shares and apparently the insiders were disposing of their holdings in this security. The traders who have recently been bulling Missouri Pacific also threw their holdings over and here again the insiders seemed to be satisfied to let the stock severely alone.

The average percentage of reserve held by the Philadelphia banks is 28.9 per cent.

Denver dispatches say that it is possible that control of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company will pass to Rockefeller interests. It is said that representatives of George J. Gould and John D. Rockefeller have been inspecting the plant of the company, and this is the basis for the story of control. That control has passed from the present interests is denied on the ground that Gould and the fact that Edwin Hawley and E. W. Harriman are large stockholders is pointed out as working against any Gould-Rockefeller alliance securing absolute control.

In his presidential address before the Iron and Steel Institute in London Andrew Carnegie said that the United States was a dangerous rival. He pointed out that the majority of the large iron and steel concerns in the United States have at one time or another been in the hands of receivers, reorganized, foreclosed or sold by the sheriff. Commenting upon this the Wall Street Journal makes the following interesting remarks:

"What bearing has this on the future? Does it indicate that there will be similar embarrassments of existing concerns in future dull periods? Assume for argument that it does; then which and how many concerns will be embarrassed? What proportion is likely to suffer? Statistics covering the whole history of the American steel industry show that the proportion is small. From 1867, when our steel production was 10,848 tons, to 1902, when it exceeded 15,000,000 tons, there were but three years of the whole 36 in which the production did not break previous records. These nine years were: 1883-4-5, 1886, 1891, 1895-6, 1899 and 1900. Examining them in detail, we find that they were not serious; the average production of 1883-4-5 exceeded by 8 per cent the average of the three preceding years, all record-breakers; 1886 fell below 1885, but broke all previous records; and the average of 1891-2 broke all previous records, including 1890; 1895 made a small gain over 1894, and 1896 a little more than 1895; 1899 and 1900 show a gain of three and two years less than 9 per cent than the average of the two best previous years, 1890 and 1892, while bringing in the exceptional year 1893 with a record almost equal to 1892 and much above any preceding year; 1896 fell below 1895, but excelled all other years as well as the average of 1894-5; 1900 was less than 2 per cent and exceeded by 4 per cent the average of 1898-9, both record-breakers. The largest decline ever seen in the trade so far could be taken care of by eliminating from the reporting two of the most important producers outside the Steel Corporation, or the corporation could, if it desired, but it certainly will not, take the whole of the decline itself. Since it made two-thirds of the steel in the country last year, a decline of 10 per cent in the country at large would, if the corporation took it all, mean a decline of only 15 per cent in its product. If her orders took all the decline it would mean 30 per cent to them. Even this is not necessary, last year we imported several hundred thousand tons of pig iron and 'finished steel.' If her orders took all the decline it would mean 30 per cent to them. Even this is not necessary, last year we imported several hundred thousand tons of pig iron and 'finished steel.' It would be very easy to turn the tables and export enough steel to make up a larger decline in domestic consumption than has ever occurred in the history of the American steel trade.

FEATURES OF THE DAY

IN PITTSBURGH.

FINISHED STEEL IS VERY ACTIVE

Specifications Heavy on Pig Iron Contracts With New Business Slower.

SUPPLY OF CARS IS FAIR

Billets Firm at Unchanged Prices. Presistent Rumors of Coming Advance in Black and Galvanized Sheets.

An active market prevails in all lines of finished material, many departments showing an increase of business as compared with last week. As stated by one large producer, facilities are so much improved for handling a large volume of orders that the immense amount of business now being done is hardly appreciated, as what would have formerly crowded the capacity of mills is taken care of without apparent difficulty, whereas, under old conditions present transactions would have swamped the average plant.

There is a slight lull in the buying of pig iron, although specifications on old contracts are heavy, and consumers are asking to have shipments anticipated on orders placed for delivery in June, July, August and September. A short time ago it was impossible to get prompt deliveries and purchasers offered premiums in order to secure enough stock to cover immediate wants, as a number of furnaces were far behind with their orders. Latterly there has been freer delivery of coke, and better car service, and furnaces running full, and there is not the necessity for inducements in order to get supplies, and consumers are receiving shipments on old contracts. As a result there is not so much placing of new business, and prices are perhaps a little easier, though the average for Bessemer pig is still $20 25, Pittsburgh delivery, with higher figures prevailing in some instances, an order having been taken a day or two ago for 5,000 tons at $20 50. Pig iron and billets are relatively high, as compared with the cost of finished material, and an adjustment to a lower basis it is asserted could be made without injury to anyone, and would bring all prices comparatively nearer together.

BILLETS STILL SCARCE.

Billets are still very strong, however, there not being enough to cover all demands, and it is emphatically denied by the Jones & Laughlin people that they have made sales below the market. The necessity for such action does not exist as all billets there are to offer can be placed at ruling quotations.

Importations of raw material continue, but they are on contracts made some time ago, and lower prices in this country will have a tendency to check the purchase of foreign iron.

Persistent rumors are afloat regarding probable advances in black and galvanized sheets, but so far they are but rumors. Mills are running to capacity, however, and higher prices would not be surprising, although producers have not as yet signified any intention of advancing. Fairly prompt deliveries are being made, and new business is being accepted. The plate, however, is sold up to August, and no shipments on new contracts will be promised before that time.

Spring weather has arrived and a consequent increase of business is noticeable in the pipe market, orders being more numerous and larger. Specifications are coming in freely, and consumers are hurrying producers to make quick shipments. Now that work in this line is well under way, after being retarded by a late spring, there is anxiety to rush matters as rapidly as possible.

While the transportations situation is greatly improved over conditions prevailing a few weeks ago, a normal condition does not yet exist, and shippers are not getting more than 75 per cent of the service asked for, having to content themselves with a portion of the cars ordered from the railroad companies. Coke producers notice this particularly, and there is some banking of stock which would not be done were it possible to ship all that is made.

Prices generally show no change from figures which prevailed a week ago and conditions are as close to satisfactory as can be expected. Production of finished material in iron and steel is limited only to capacities of plants and these, as stated, are largely increased over those of a year ago.

HARDWARE TRADE SATISFACTORY.

The hardware business goes along in very good shape, orders being received in great numbers for large quantities. The trade has apparently come to the view that a large amount of goods is going to be sold this year, and orders are being placed to insure the keeping of stocks in good condition. There is a large movement in nails and wire, and it is assumed that as the weather is favorable the volume will continue to move that has been going. Mills are having some difficulty in keeping up with orders. Builders' hardware continues to move freely. From the character of the building being done, and the quantity of it, a largely increased trade is expected. Bicycles and bicycle sundries are moving in large volume, riders and dealers calling for large quantities of supplies.

Window glass movement continues steady, the trade apparently buying freely for their wants, feeling that they are now purchasing at lower prices than will prevail later on. Masury goods are moving in increasing quantities, dealers having a larger demand than they expected. Prices in all lines are firm, and seem likely to continue so. Manufacturers are having more than they can do, and are reporting themselves as considerably in arrears with shipments. The prospects seem favorable for the largest spring business there has ever been.

PRODUCTION GOES ON AT TREMENDOUS RATE

Blast Furnace Statistics for Month Are Particularly Interesting.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, May 13.—The Iron Age will tomorrow say:

Our monthly blast furnace statistics are particularly interesting because they show that production is going on at a tremendous rate, the output in April having been very close to 1,350,000 tons. Even that record output promises to fall behind the tonnage of this month, which we entered with a capacity of 383,897 tons per week, as compared with 376,576 tons on April 1. On the basis of these figures, the May production should reach 1,700,000 gross tons.

The surprising and most significant fact, however, is that the stocks reported, which do not include the steel works using their own pig, show a decline from 170,767 tons on April 1 to 162,742 tons on May 1.

It may be interesting to note that of the total production in April of 1,608,531 tons of anthracite and coke iron 945,235 tons was produced by the steel works, which include the plants of the United States Steel Corporation, the Bethlehem, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Lackawanna, Cambria, Jones & Laughlin, Colorado and Republic.

These figures are eloquent proof of the fact that consumption of pig iron is taking not alone our own enormous production, but also the current importations. Statistically the situation is therefore thoroughly sound.

Yet consumers are holding off, particularly in the foundry trade, and their attitude seems justified to some extent. Prices, however, have gone to an unnatural figure, from which they have been and are still receding. Last year the leading interests in the south made a frantic effort to hold down the market on the basis of $12 50 for No. 2 foundry iron, Birmingham, and yet the market went as high as $20. At the time they openly proclaimed that $12 50 was sufficient, now some of them are struggling to hold at $17 50 when outside interests are selling down to $15 50. At the former figure there is still a chance for importations and we are not safe even at $15 50.

Another element is that a large part of the new capacity which has entered the market is that of the steel companies, which will cut down their outside purchases. This puts pressure on the Bessemer furnaces of the central west who may be expected to turn to the foundry trade for relief.

There are elements in the favor of the buyers. On the other hand the sellers may point with confidence to the tremendous consumption on the part of the foundries and to the fact that in some of the large contracts for castings the founders have not covered. A rush is bound to come. It remains to be seen at what price the dead lock will be broken.

Some ridiculous reports have been circulated in Wall street concerning a sudden break in billets in Pittsburgh. There is no truth in them. There is still scarcity of steel in that market. As a matter of fact, the steel market in Pittsburgh has become a very restricted and unimportant affair. The great mills either roll their own steel or have sliding scale contracts with the great steel works, which gives them the metal at much lower prices than those quoted in the market. The latter is restricted to the relatively small quantities which the smaller outside mills must purchase from time to time. The eastern market, with its larger number of independent rolling mills which must buy steel, is more important. These are supplied by the domestic steel works or by importers of foreign steel who are still receiving inquiries. The price in the tidewater market has been $28 to $28 50 for both foreign and domestic for some weeks, with a fair amount of tonnage being placed.

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, May 13.—The market for coffee futures opened steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 5 points under rather higher European quotations, and after a period of dull action turned rather easier under offerings by importing interests losing part of the opening gains, but closing steady, unchanged to 5 points higher; sales, 27,500 bags, including July at 3.85@3.90c; July, 4.05c; September, 4.20@4.25c; October, 4.30c; December, 4.70@4.75c; March, 4.95c; spot quiet. Sugar, raw firm; refined firm.

CORN A SHADE HIGHER IN THE CHICAGO PIT

Wheat and Oats Closed Lower With Provisions in Good Demand.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, May 13.—There was only a small trade in wheat and the greater part of it was for local account. Opening prices were steady on firm cables and small receipts, July being a shade higher, at 72¼@72¾. The market held firm early in the day, July advancing to 72⅝@72¾, but the extreme dullness and a little commission house selling caused a reaction, July selling down to 71⅝@72c. An improvement in the cash demand, together with rather bullish crop advices, caused a firmer tone late in the day, the close being steady, with July ¼c lower, at 72@72¼c. Primary receipts were 215,000 bushels, against 248,100 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis and Duluth reported receipts of 61 cars, which, with local receipts of 29 cars, none of contract grade, made total receipts for the three points of 90 cars, against 119 cars last week and 140 cars a year ago.

Corn ruled firm with the backwardness of the planting season the principal bull factor. Offerings were light with the exception of late in the day, when some early buyers took profits, causing a slight decline in prices. Prominent provision interests supported the market and they had plenty of followers. July closed a shade lower, at 45⅝@45¾c, after selling between 45⅝@45⅝c. Local receipts were 178 cars, 11 of contract grade.

Oats were fairly active and strong, with September in especially good demand. Unfavorable crop reports, a fair cash demand, together with small receipts, contributed to the bullish sentiment. Some of the early strength was lost on selling by longs, the close being about steady, with July off ⅛c, at 32¼c, after ranging between 32⅝@32¼c. Local receipts were 178 cars, 11 of contract grade.

Provisions were in good demand early in the day, both by brokers and shorts, with good buying of lard by English houses. The strength in the hog market had a strengthening influence at the start, but the market weakened later on realizing and the close was steady, September pork closed unchanged at $16.67½; September lard was off 2½c at $8.97½, and ribs up 2½c at $9 22½.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 85 cars; corn, 235 cars; oats, 125 cars; hogs, 21,000 head.

LONDICK USED BLANK IN PISTOL

Denies Accidental Killing of a Baby During Fourth of July Celebration.

MANY PLEADED GUILTY

Prisoners Save the Time of the Court and Receive Their Sentences—Testimony Concluded in Pressed Steel Car Suit.

In criminal court before Judge S. A. McClung, Frank Londick was tried on a charge of involuntary manslaughter, for the death of William Gerber, a 3-year-old son of Richard Gerber, of 41 Knox avenue, South Side.

The prosecution contended the boy's death was caused by a stray bullet from a revolver the defendant was firing on July 4th, last. The defense denied the accusation and set up that Londick was using blank cartridges and pointed the weapon in a different direction than towards the boy. The case was concluded with the exception of the court's charge to the jury which will be made this morning.

A number pleaded guilty to charges as follows: George Suria, felonious assault and battery, shot John Czyewski with a revolver, sentenced to the penitentiary for two years and three months; E. B. Winegarden, fraudulently making a written instrument, etc., raised two checks drawn by A. G. Mitchell on the South Side Trust Co., from $7 to $70, and $8 to $80, sent to the workhouse for one year and fined $50; James Hyland, entering a building with intent to commit a felony, nine months to workhouse; Dan Creely, assault and battery, 30 days to the workhouse; James Fish, assault and battery, 30 days to the workhouse; John Fahyen, attempt to commit false pretence, three months to the workhouse; Peter Hospedia, carrying concealed weapons, 60 days to the workhouse; C. Michele, larceny, three months to the workhouse; Claud Matthson, misdemeanor, usual sentence; John McCafferty, horse stealing, one year and six months to the workhouse; James Strorbers, carrying concealed weapons and assault and battery, 60 days to the workhouse; Albert Wilson, assault and battery, 30 days to the workhouse; I. W. Robinson and Frank Aull, separate charges of embezzlement, sentence deferred.

LARGE ESTATE DEVISED.

The will of the late Harris Buchanan, was filed. The decedent was a lawyer and business man and the estate is said to be large.

The decedent first bequeathed his entire estate to his widow, Katherine Hallman Buchanan, having received her promise, it is stated, that she will use it for her own maintenance and the maintenance and education of the decedent's son, Isaac Victor, and their son, George Pefer, without distinction, and at her death leave such provision that the estate shall be divided into equal shares between the two boys or their survivors. This provision, it is stated, includes a settlement of $15,000 by the decedent's brother, James I. Buchanan, a writing dated April 1, 1901, upon which interest was paid to July 1, 1902. The will then continues:

"As I have more confidence in the good judgment, humanity and disinterested motives of my wife, Katherine Hallman Buchanan, than in those of any other person, I appoint her sole executor and trustee of this, my last will (without bond), and guardian (without bond), of the estate and persons of my two boys during their minority, and I request the said guardian and my two boys to be mutually forbearing and kind to each other, and I trust I believe that neither of my boys will so far be the victim of self-deception as to become the volunteer executioner of God's judgment upon the other or upon any fellow being.

TO RECOVER HEIRLOOMS.

"I direct my said executrix and trustee to obtain possession of such of the family heirlooms as may be still in existence, of whose custody as representative of my father's estate I have been deprived, if such be so recovered, to hold the same in trust for my eldest son until he attains his majority."

The will of Sophia Knopf is as follows: "Dear George: As you, my son, are appointed to administer our estate after our death, I turn over to you the inclosed notes, which after your brother's business trouble should have been renewed, but it has not been done. It will not be necessary, if—and I pray to God to keep him in good health—he lives until a division is made. You shall deduct the principal and 3½ per cent interest from date from his share, if, with God's help he is so conditioned that he will not suffer want without it. But if you have knowledge that he is in need of it, you shall remit him the interest. I pray you, my dear children, from my heart, always to hold together in peace and love.

"Your Mother."

STEEL CAR CASE.

The taking of the testimony in the case of the Pressed Steel Car Company against the Standard Steel Car Company, J. M. Hansen and others, was completed in common pleas court No. 3 yesterday, Judge Macfarlane of common pleas No. 1 sitting on the case. The action grows out of a claim that the defendants appropriated certain blue prints of value to the car manufacturing business, to which charge the defendants set up an answer of denial.

C. S. Culverhouse, one of the employes of the Standard company, and formerly chief clerk for Mr. Hansen, when the latter was with the Pressed Steel Car Company, testified that he had made complete copies of bills of material and had them in possession at his lodgings. By order of court the witness produced about 300 blueprints and stated that he had destroyed a large number of others. These blueprints were placed in the custody of the prothonotary pending a decision in the case.

Other witnesses testified that E. G. Caughey, assistant general manager of the works of the Standard company, had a large number of blueprints delivered to his residence prior to his leaving the service of the Pressed Steel Car Company, and afterward, while still in the employ of the Pressed Steel Car Company, removed them from his residence and had delivered a number of these blueprints to the office of the Standard company.

It was claimed, in behalf of the defendants, that the blueprints were not the exclusive property of the Pressed Steel Car Company, but had been taken by others and were the common property of any person who chose to copy them. Attorneys W. L. Scott and Clarence Burleigh represent the Standard and Reed, Smith, Shaw & Beal the Pressed Steel Car Company.

Grand Jury Returns.

The grand jury yesterday made the following returns:

True bills—Entering a building with intent to commit a felony, Henry Obeheiman (2); felonious assault, George Mersola; conspiracy, Lone Delela, Mary Delela; larceny, H. M. Duncan, S. V. Thompson, Joseph Hereperger, Laurie McGraw et al., John Smith, Henry Foyce, Valentine Vishing; pointing firearms, Samuel Everett; assault and battery, Mike Fritz, William Robinson; misdemeanor, James Haney, Austin W. Rush; felonious assault and battery, William J. McGovern, Joseph O'Brien; seduction, Clyde Rush.

Ignored bills—Gear Johnston, charged with assault and battery; John Freeman, charged with larceny; David Scrorgins, charged with larceny by bailee.

COUPLE TO REMARRY.

Secured Divorce in Baltimore, But Decided to Wed Again in Pittsburgh.

Among the marriage licenses issued yesterday was one to George C. Campbell of No. 2305 Fifth avenue and Bertha M. Campbell, who had decided to remarry.

In June, 1901, the couple were divorced in Baltimore, Md., and each given the custody of a child. About three weeks ago the husband, who is 31 years old, applied for a license, but as records were necessary from Baltimore he was compelled to make two other trips to the marriage license office before the license could be granted. His former wife joined him in Pittsburgh during the delay and when the proper copy of records was received and the license issued, both seemed happy. The wife is 26 years old and both are natives of Maryland.

LEGAL BRIEFS.

A suit for divorce was entered by Lydia Machesney against George Machesney, charging desertion.

D. L. S. McDonald filed a bill in equity in common pleas court No. 2 asking for a receiver for the Disk Aerated Water Company.

By the will of Christian Othausen, late of Knoxville, an estate, the value of which is not given, is left to the decedent's widow and children.

Annie M. Jamison of Wilkinsburg took out letters of administration on the estate of Etta D. Patterson. Attorney Alfred M. Lee represents the estate.

In the United States district court the trial of George B. White, charged with banking irregularities, was concluded and given to the jury, which retired last night.

Mary J. Platt took out letters of administration on the $1,500 estate of Henry E. Platt. Like letters were issued to Charles H. Gillespie on the $1,650 estate of his mother.

In common pleas court No. 3 decrees in divorce were entered as follows: Ellen Anderson against John Anderson; Carrie Taylor against Roy E. Taylor. Samuel Barr against Gabrella Barr.

A jury awarded Samuel Hamilton, county superintendent of schools, $5,350 in his suit against the Great Eastern Casualty and Indemnity Company of New York for damages for the loss of both feet by an accident.

In the United States circuit court the jury in the suit of Nelli Ollis vs. the Preferred Accident Insurance Company returned a verdict for $5,000 for the plaintiff, the amount she claimed to be due on a policy for her husband's death.

A bill of particulars for the defendant was filed in the case of A. T. Schmidt against the Homewood cemetery, a corporation, and David Woods, J. C. Baird and Martin Reynolds, an action to recover damages for alleged false arrest. It is stated the plaintiff had been notified before his arrest that he had been a trespasser. It is claimed Schmidt had been acting in a disorderly manner.

The case of Mrs. J. H. Schmidt against the Penn avenue milliner, against Daniel J. Brady was tried in common pleas court No. 2 and a verdict returned for the defendant. The plaintiff took a trip to Ireland during 1900 and rented her house at Ben Avon to the defendant. She contended that during his occupancy household effects and the interior and exterior of the house were damaged by him and his wife.

GEN. WINT RESUMES HIS OLD COMMAND

WASHINGTON, May 13.—By direction of the president, General Theodore J. Wint has been placed in command of the department of Visayas in the Philippines, relieving Gen. J. M. Lee, who will be given another assignment. Gen. Wint formerly was in command of this department and has just returned from a visit to British India, where he was sent to investigate the methods employed for the treatment and prevention of surra, a disease which has proved very disastrous to the horses in the Philippines.

NEW VOLUME SHOWS WHERE MONEY GOES

Clerks of Senate and House of Congress Review Last Session's Appropriations.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, May 13.—The volume relating to appropriations made and new offices created during the last session of congress has been completed by Thomas P. Cleaves and James C. Courts, chief clerks respectively of the senate and house appropriation committees. A summary of the appropriations shows a grand total of $753,058,506.

In addition to the specific appropriations made, contracts are authorized to be entered into for certain public works requiring future appropriations by congress in the aggregate of $36,985,850, the principal item of which is $20,426,000 for additions to the navy.

The new offices and employments specifically authorized number 11,316, at an annual compensation of $7,927,639; those abolished or omitted number 1,815, at an annual compensation of $941,481, a net increase of 9,501 in number and $6,986,158 in amount.

The largest increases are 5,616 for the naval establishment, including 3,000 seamen and 1,468 midshipmen, and 3,854 for the postal service, including 143 assistant postmasters, 2,289 clerks in postoffices and 806 railway postal clerks.

The number of salaries increased is 341, at an annual cost of $205,202, and the number reduced is 60, in the sum of $600.

A comparison of the total appropriations of the second session of the fifty-seventh congress for 1904 with those of the first session for 1903 shows a reduction of $47,595,990. The principal items of decrease are, for river and harbor improvements $12,307,049, for the isthmian canal $50,130,000, and for the military establishment $13,841,383. Among the increases are, for the naval establishment $3,020,428, for the postal service $15,094,951, for legislative, executive and judicial expenses $2,200,000, including $500,000 for the enforcement of the anti-trust laws and $770,000 for the agricultural department.

The total appropriations made by the fifty-seventh congress amount to $1,553,683,002, an increase over the fifty-sixth congress of $113,193,567. This is accounted for in part by increases in the appropriations for the postal service of $64,000,000, for the naval service $17,500,000, for rivers and harbors $25,500,000, for the isthmian canal $50,000,000, for the agricultural department $2,500,000, for legislative, executive and judicial expenses $4,200,000, for public buildings $10,000,000 and for the Philippine islands $3,000,000. Reductions are made in the appropriations for the military establishment of $60,000,000 and for pensions $10,000,000.

Looking Two Days Backward

Perhaps you were in New York or some other place out of town this week Tuesday and didn't see either the "Chronicle" or "Press."

Probably this accounts for the fact that you haven't come in yet to get some of the splendid specials in Bedding and Bedroom Furniture on sale this week.

It isn't too late yet, for the sale lasts until Saturday night. We are offering —A $125 Chamber Suite, provided with springs, mattress, bolster and pillows, for $99.75.

—A $45 Bedroom Suite for $35; and a $30 Suite for $22.50.
—$15 Iron and Brass Beds for $9.75, and $6.50 Metal Beds for $4.98.
—$8.00 Chiffoniers for $5.98.
—Bedroom Chairs for 89c.
—Bedroom Stands for $1.49.
—$12.50 Electric Felt Mattresses for $10.00.
—$4 Combination Mattresses for $2.75.
—$4 "Luxury Springs" for $2.75.
—$3.75 Springs for Iron Beds for $2.75.

Besides these there are odd dressers, elegant wardrobes, feather pillows and other chamber furnishings at prices that will cause more than a flutter of excitement.
